POSTAL FORCE HITS NEW BILL ON PENSIONING

Lehlbach Act Designated as "Hazardous" at Hearings.

OTHER U. S. WORKERS BACK PROPOSED PLAN

Employes Are Shown to Be Widely Split on Merits of Project.

NEW MEASURE HELD INSPIRED BY HOOVER

Protesting Workers Urge That Dale Bill Be Enacted.

Revealed as a child of the Hoover administration, the new Lehlbach retirement bill was both denounced and praised at yesterday's hearing on Capitol Hill.

Representatives of 200,000 of Uncle Sam's postal employes declared that the Lehlbach bill was "hazardous" and "dangerous," and urged the House civil service committee to report out the Dale bill, which already has passed the Senate.

Representatives of thousands of employes in other branches of the Federal service hailed the Lehlbach bill as a liberal and comprehensive measure, much to be preferred to the "stop-gap" offered by the Dale bill.

Inspired Its Writing, Claim.

From the guarded statements of Chairman Lehlbach yesterday, it was gathered that not only does President Hoover prefer the new bill, but that he actually inspired the writing of it.

Chairman Lehlbach also made it quite clear that the House leaders will prefer the new bill, and what these leaders want they usually get.

This morning the hearing will enter the third and what probably will be the last day. It will be held in the office of the ways and means committee at 10:30 o'clock.

Widely Split on Measure.

The testimony yesterday showed quite clearly how widely split the Government workers are on the new bill. When the session was over, it also was quite clear that the members of the committee also were widely apart on the bill.

The parade of opposition witnesses began with the calling of Robert H. Alcorn, chairman of the joint conference on retirement. When he walked up to the witness table a number of persons broke into applause.

Chairman Lehlbach warned that the next time this happened, whether the applause was by opponents or proponents of the bill, he was going to clear the room.

Reserves Own Testimony.

Reserving his own testimony until today, Mr. Alcorn called Edward J. Gainor, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, which has 56,846 members. After him came M. T. Finnan, secretary of the organization.

Having assured Chairman Lehlbach that they held him in high esteem, these two proceeded to lambast his bill in vigorous terms.

Whatever benefits the bill provides for extremely low-paid employes or high-paid employes, they said, it offers nothing to the letter carriers.

Mr. Gainor outlined one situation in which, if a retired letter carrier died within a year after retirement, his retirements savings would be lost to the widow.

Urges Dale Bill Passage.

Mr. Finnan warned the committee that unless the Dale bill is passed Congress "will be hearing" from the employes. He said the letter carriers were satisfied with that provision in the Dale bill which sets the maximum annuity at $1,200.

"I wonder what the taxpayers are going to say," Mr. Finnan declared, "when they hear that a retired man is getting $3,000 a year. You can explain until you are black in the face, but I don't think that the taxpayers will understand you. They won't be able to understand that his own contributions bought all of that $3,000 except the $900 guaranteed by the Government."

Mr. Finnan said he was more confused by the Lehlbach bill now than he was when he first read it.

Sees 15-Year Delay.

Thomas F. Flaherty, president of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks, an organization with 45,000 members, declared that the rank and file of the clerks wouldn't get the increased annuities promised in the Lehlbach bill for fifteen years.

The tontine provision, he said, not only complicates matters, but contains great potential dangers. He said he didn't think it was fair to withhold the tontine money from those who leave the service before the retirement age.

W. M. Collins, president of the Railway Mail Association, composed

Irene Bordoni Seeks Protection of Court

Complains Former Mate Threatened He Would Maim Her.

IRENE BORDONI.

New York, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Irene Bordoni's former husband and his lawyer today were ordered to show cause why they should not be restrained from maiming the musical comedy star, ruining her voice, her career, or harassing her or vexing her in any manner.

The order was signed by Supreme Court Justice Nathan Bijur against E. Ray Goetz, producer, whom Miss Bordoni divorced in Chicago, and his attorney, George H. Eichelberger. She charged they were threatening her with physical harm in an attempt to force her to destroy certain papers, which, she alleged, show that Mr. Goetz is financially indebted to her.

The order also directs Mr. Goetz to show cause why he should not be restrained from prosecuting by service of a summons a marital action he started February 4 last, and from bringing any new legal action for divorce, separation or annulment.

Miss Bordoni complained that Mr. Goetz "threatened me with maiming my good looks, ruining my stage career, using threats against my person, inasmuch as he has repeatedly said to me that as long as I live he will hound me."

She added that he was trying to compel her "to destroy certain papers by which Goetz acknowledged his indebtedness to me, arising out of certain moneys which I had advanced and which, although he has repeatedly promised to pay, he has failed to do so."

BROOKHART ASKS SENATE RUM QUIZ

Demand of Iowan Follows Second Arrest in Two Days Near Solon's Office.

JONES FAVORS PROBE

The arrest of the second alleged bootlegger in two days in the shadow of the Senate Office Building yesterday drew a demand from Senator Brookhart (Republican), of Iowa, for an investigation to determine what senators, if any, are being supplied with liquor, with a view to seeking the expulsion of such legislators.

William David Goldberg was arraigned yesterday in Police Court only a short while after George L. Cassidy, reputed congressional bootlegger and better known as "the man in the green hat," had been arrested again near the Capitol.

Senator Brookhart suggested that the judiciary committe, now hearing testimony from antiprohibitionists, make the inquiry of the senators a part of its general dry law investigation proposed in the Wheeler-Norris resolution. He indicated, however, that a special inquiry which would either clear the name of the Senate or punish the guilty might do as well or better.

The Iowa senator commented that the alleged bootleggers might have been serving some employes rather than senators.

"I don't know but one or two senators who drink in their offices," he said.

Senator Jones (Republican), of Washington, author of the "five and ten" law, said he also favored an investigation to identify the rum customers, if any.

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), of Montana, who is urging an investigation of prohibition enforcement, used the Cassidy arrest as "another argument in behalf of my resolution to inquire into how prohibition is being enforced."

Goldberg, like Cassidy, was caught near the office building while transferring a package of liquor from an automobile. He pleaded not guilty, waived arraignment and was ordered held for action of the District of Columbia grand jury on charges of transportation and possession of a gill of whisky.

A woman companion of Goldberg, who the agents said was arrested with

ARLINGTON COUNTY CITY BILL PASSED

Delegate Reed's Measure to Allow Incorporation Is Approved.

BOXING PROJECT KILLED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 19.—Delegate Hugh Rend's bill which would allow Arlington County to vote on whether or ot it would incorporate itself into a city of the first class on call of 15 per cent of the registered voters of the county was passed today by the House of Delegates, while in the Senate the privileges and elections committee killed the Warren bill, which, by providing that a judge of a court of record could not run for office, would have affected the congressional race in the eighth district, where Judge Howard W. Smith and Senator Frank L. Ball are opposing each other for the Democratic nomination to succeed R. Walton Moore, a fact that was overlooked when the Portsmouth senator introduced the bill.

Meanwhile the House killed the Norfolk boxing bill, 55 to 39, after J. Fred Birrell, of Alexandria, had denounced the "political preachers and professional reformers," whose lobby was blamed for opposition to the measure, and after Deacon E. A. Snead, delegate from Clifton Forge, had urged passage of the measure, saying that there was nothing in the Baptist doctrine making it wrong for a deacon, which post he has held more than 30 years, to go to a prize fight.

Another bill, which would allow boxing only in Norfolk, Portsmouth and Princess Anne County, will be dropped into the hopper tomorrow, and the delegates from Tidewater will attempt to have it passed purely as a local measure.

An agreement was reached today, it was reported, whereby the free textbook bill, introduced by Delegate Wilbur C. Hall, of Loudoun, will be allowed to die this year, on promise that it will be included in the next budget two years hence. A resolution to this effect is being drawn for presentation to the General Assembly.

The House roads committee killed the Lesner State-wide automobile drivers' permit bills, which were passed by the Senate, and reported

Sculptor Seeks Accounting In Calhoun Art Project

W. Clark Noble, Indicted on Conspiracy to Blackmail in Connection With Alliance Work, Says He Lost $100,000 in Deal; Charges Denied.

Capt. and Mrs. Clarence C. Calhoun, the Universal Alliance, formerly the Woman's Universal Alliance, and the Mothers Memorial Foundation were named defendants in a suit for injunction, accounting and discovery, filed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court by W. Clark Noble, internationally noted sculptor, who, with his wife, Mrs. Emelie Noble, and three others are under indictment on a charge of conspiracy to blackmail the Calhouns in connection with the work of the alliance.

Noble alleges that 25 years ago he conceived the idea of erecting a memorial to the "Mothers of men, not only as a fitting tribute to his own mother, but as a lasting tribute to all those great women of the past, present and future, who have sacrificed so much for the welfare of their countries."

He declared that in furtherance of his idea he prepared drawings, models and designs for use in construction and erection of his idea and had all of these registered in the copyright office. At the same time, he alleges, he decided the Capital of the United States was the proper place for such a memorial and immediately afterward established a studio here.

In February, 1923, Noble alleges, Capt. and Mrs. Calhoun incorporated in the District of Columbia the Woman's Universal Alliance, the object of which was the advancement and education of women. The name, however, was changed to the Universal Alliance last May, he alleges.

In May, 1924, Noble asserts that Mrs. Calhoun, the principal officer of the alliance, learned of his efforts to erect a memorial to motherhood, and calling at his studio, inspected the things he had conceived. At that time, he alleges, she asked him to permit the executive committee

DRY LAW LAID TO LABORS OF CHURCH LOBBY

Protestant Council and Antisaloon League Are Linked at Hearing.

RACKETEERS CALLED PROHIBITION PRODUCT

Ten Years Under Statute Deplored at House's Investigation.

LOCAL-OPTION PLEA MADE BY WITNESSES

Many Wets Yet to Testify Before Proponents of Measure Can Talk.

(Associated Press.)

Prohibition was denounced and and conditions under it were depicted as deplorable by opponents of the eighteenth amendment who renewed their arguments for its repeal yesterday before the House judiciary committee.

Resuming sessions after a week of recess, the committee heard five witnesses argue against the dry amendment and for regulation of the liquor traffic by States. Many wets remain to be heard and Chairman Graham of the committee indicated they will have an opportunity to present their views before a time is set for the prohibitionists to appear.

Henry B. Joy, a Detroit automobile manufacturer, made the direct charge that the "Protestant church lobby" had forced not only prohibition upon the Nation but also a war in an era of peace. He said the Antisaloon League and the Federal Council of Churches in America had interlocking relations, and that the latter was a powerful organization which reached into every village and to almost every home through ministers.

Wickersham Called Lobbyist.

Declaring that George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Law Enforcement Commission, had been one of the ardent workers in the "Protestant church lobby" before he resigned to head the commission, Mr. Joy said President Hoover must have known that the chairman had a long alliance with the organization.

The Detroiter appeared as one of the principal members of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. He was preceded by William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of directors of that association, who urged repeal of the eighteenth amendment and restoration to States of the right of local option. He would leave the power of governing exportations, importations and interstate transportation through taxation, with the Federal Government.

Grayson M. P. Murphy, a New York financier, testified that he did not know a leading banker, manufacturer or industrialist who did not break

RADICAL ASKED TO FORM NEW PARIS CABINET

Head of Left Groups That Upset Old Order May Be Successor.

NAMING CHAUTEMPS TERMED TENTATIVE

Difficulty Is Foreseen in Finding Support for New Leader.

TARDIEU IS OFFERED POSITION ONCE MORE

Briand or Poincare Are Held as Possibilities if Socialist Fails.

Paris, Feb. 19 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Camille Chautemps, deputy from Tours, president of the Radical Socialist party and successor to former Premier Edouard Herroit as leader of the Left groups in the Chamber of Deputies which upset the Tardieu government Monday, was tentatively selected by President Gaston Doumergue today to make the first effort to form a new cabinet.

Chautemps was not invited to the Elysee Palace this evening so that he might have time to find out whether other members of the Radical Socialist party in the chamber, notably Edouard Daladieer, leader of its more radical wing, would consent to support a radical, moderate and moderately conservative coalition. He said he could not know tonight whether such support was obtainable so Doumergue delayed officially inviting him to the Elysee until morning.

The president of the French republic did not formally state that Chautemps would be asked to form a government, but he did announce that the man to be entrusted with the task would be invited to visit him at 9:30 tomorrow morning.

Tardieu Sought by Many.

Andre Tardieu, it is understood, was asked by Doumergue during a visit the fallen premier made at the Elysee today despite his influenza whether he was willing to succeed himself. It had been urged on Doumergue by most of the political leaders who have visited him in the last two days that this would be constitutional as Tardieu was absent from the chamber when he fell.

There is precedent for a premier succeeding himself, Raymond Poincare in the spring of 1924 having formed a new cabinet when his first one fell over a tax problem advanced by Finance Minister de Lasteyrier. It was a trivial item in Finance Minister Henri Cheron's finance law that brought about the fall of the Tardieu ministry.

Tardieu, however, is reported to have declined to undertake immediately formation of a new government. It is presumed that he pre-

Ohio Man Confesses Killing of Horst Boy

Year-Old Mystery Ends When 32 Hours of Grilling Breaks Charles Hannah's Reserve and He Admits Guilt.

Wooster, Ohio, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The year-old mystery of the disappearance of Melvin Horst was cracked tonight when Charles Hannah confessed to killing the 4-year-old boy at Orrville, Ohio, December 27, 1928.

The confession was announced about 9 o'clock by Special Investigator Ora Slater, of Cincinnati. Hannah had been under a steady fire of question and cross-examination for 32 hours before he gave way.

Just before, Mrs. Hannah and their son, Junior, were called to the little room at the top of the Wayne County Courthouse, where Hannah was grimly sticking to his assertion that Earl Conald, not he, was the slayer.

Slater, after making his simple statement, "Hannah has confessed to the slaying," said that he could give no further information now. It was learned from other officials, however, that no search for the body was planned tonight. The implication was made by officials that though Hannah has admitted his guilt, he has not yet told where the body could be found. Officers must have it, for they doubt if they can file murder charges without the corpus delicti.

For days Hannah has told investigators that his former friend, Earl Conald, killed Melvin at the private garage of Frank Frey in Orrville. Hannah had contended that he was with Conald at the time of the killing, but took no part in the actual slaying. He said that Conald buried the body in the Hannah back yard. Later he declared Conald had disinterred the body and buried it on a bank of Sugar Creek, a few miles from Orrville.

Conald at first accused Hannah of the slaying and signed a statement to that effect. The two statements agreed except as to the naming of the slayer. Conald later retracted his statement and then last night accused Hannah again, saying Hannah and another Orrville man were responsible for the boy's disappearance.

Officials tonight lent, by their attitude, substantiation to the theory that still another arrest will be made in the case.

South Carolina Kills Drastic Dry Statute

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—A bill to make prison sentences compulsory for persons who violate the prohibition laws the first time was killed today in the South Carolina House of Representatives when it was "continued." Under the rules of the House, the bill can not be brought up again this session. A new Legislature is elected next fall.

The bill was continued after differences of opinion had developed over an amendment permitting judges to use discretion in suspending sentences "for humane reasons." The author of the bill insisted the reading be made "for humane reasons only."

ARMS PARLEY VOTES WEEK ADJOURNMENT DUE TO PARIS CRISIS

Text of Italian Resume Of Naval Needs Is Issued

London, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The statement of Italian naval policy, delivered in London today by Dino Grandi, follows:

The Italian delegation confirm their previous statement. They consider that armaments should be exclusively defensive and should therefore be reduced to the lowest possible level.

If the conference should not lead to agreements determining ratios of strength of the several navies and lowering the level of naval armaments it will fail in its purpose, and the hopes it has raised will be disappointed. Armament levels and ratios are the basis of the Washington treaty and were the object of negotiations preceding and preparatory to the present conference.

From the outset the Italian delegation has called the attention of the other delegations to these two points, which they consider not only essential to the ends of the conference, but which are also intimately connected with determination of the methods of limitation to be adopted.

Policy Is Restated.

With reference thereto the Italian delegation wish to restate that Italy is prepared "a prior" to accept as a limit for her armaments any figure, no matter how low, provided it be not exceeded by any other continental European power.

Italy's geographical situation is particularly unfavorable. She has not the advantage of an ocean frontier, she is dependent for her very existence on supplies three-fourths of which are conveyed from overseas along vulnerable trade routes dominated at short distance by naval bases of various powers.

Moreover, Italy possesses no extra-Mediterranean naval bases, a fact which renders the task of protecting her merchant shipping on the high seas particularly arduous. Italy's problem is that of insuring her existence and, not only that, of safeguarding distant territories subject to her sovereignty or influence. Moreover, Italy, as a signatory of the treaty of Locarno, has incurred, together with Great Britain, special international commitments to guaranty the peace of continental Europe.

Special Defense Needs.

Notwithstanding her greater and special defense needs, Italy is prepared to accept the self-limitation of her right to arm and to reduce her armament to any figure, however low, provided it be not exceeded by any European continental power.

She strongly advocates reduction of naval armaments, because as a member of the League of Nations as one of the signatories of the Kellogg-Briand pact, Italy considers such reduction as the natural outcome of those treaties. It is by reduction of armaments that nations can show the value they attach to the aforesaid treaties and prove their loyalty with the pledge they have given. The idea of an armed conflict with any power, whether represented or not at the London conference, is totally foreign to the established naval power of Italy.

The Italian delegation outlined below the application of the principles above set forth to the stage now reached in our negotiations, dealing first with vessels covered by the Washington treaty and subsequently with the others, the suggestions that follow are naturally subject to the stipulation of a general agreement.

Figures Are Compared.

(a) Vessels covered by the Washington treaty:

(1) Capital ships. The Washington treaty fixes the following ratios and total tonnages for capital ships: America, ratio 5; tonnage, 525,000; British Empire, ratio, 5; tonnage, 525,000; Japan, ratio 3; tonnage 315,000; France, ratio 1.67; tonnage, 175,000;

BIG SUIT LAYS PLOT TO FARM BOARD MAN

$2,000,000 Action Brought Against Teague, Growers' Exchange, and Others.

RUIN SOUGHT, IS CLAIM

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Suit for $2,000,000 damages charging conspiracy to ruin him financially was filed in Superior Court today by Llewellyn A. Banks, orange grower of Riverside, Calif., against the California Fruit Growers Exchange, C. C. Teague (president of the exchange), the Union Pacific Railroad, the Bank of America Corporation, Henry M. Robinson (president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles), and other banks.

Mr. Teague last year was appointed by President Hoover as a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board. He also is a large citrus-fruit grower and shipper, owning orchards at Santa Paula, Calif.

In the complaint Mr. Banks asked for $1,000,000 actual damages and a like amount in punitive damages. Mr Banks owns a large southern California citrus grove. He also ships large quantities of pears and apples from

NAVY ADJOURNMENT SURPRISE TO HOOVER

Plenty of Work for London Conference Seen Despite Absence of French.

WARNING BY ROBINSON

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The adjournment of the London Naval Conference for a week came as a surprise to President Hoover and the State Department, according to indications here yesterday. Shortly before the decision to adjourn had been flashed by cable, Acting Secretary of State Cotton discounted rumors to that effect by stating that the delegations would find plenty of work to do despite the absence of the French.

Meanwhile, the suspension of official activities at the conference found the State Department here engaged in making public a statement by Senator Robinson, one of the American delegates, understood to have been made to American newspaper correspondents at London. It is understood that this statement would not have been issued if it had been known in advance that the conference was to adjourn.

Senator Robinson's statement con-

First Lady and Diva Divide Roses Given to Ponselle

Concert Soloist Offers Bouquet to Mrs. Hoover and Then Accepts One Flower as Audience Applauds; Singer Scores Fresh Triumph.

A pretty bit of by-play between Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, and Rosa Ponselle, prima donna, took place yesterday during the brilliant concert of the diva held at Poli's Theater.

At the close of her singing of the "Cavatina" from "Il Trovatore," by Verdi, Miss Ponselle walked over to Mrs. Hoover's box and presented her with a huge bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Hoover broke one rose from the bouquet and tried to persuade Miss Ponselle to keep the remainder of the American beauties. Miss Ponselle laughingly checked the First Lady's efforts and took the single rose herself, leaving Mrs. Hoover holding the bouquet. The audience applauded vigorously.

The afternoon was a glorious triumph for this favorite prima donna whose vocal graces have placed her in the front rank of living divas. Miss Ponselle sang with verve and brilliancy and was most generous with encores.

The assisting artist of the afternoon was Stuart Ross, pianist, who, in addition to accompanying the prima donna gave several piano solos which won him an ovation.

Miss Ponselle's vocal powers are well known to every lover of grand opera through her Metropolitan Opera experience; but her radiant personality, her emotional and dramatic abilities, are particularly appropriate for the concert stage as well.

She scored in the aria from "La Vestale," by Spontini, which opened her program. This was followed by a group of ballads in Italian, French and German in which the singer's impeccable diction was an added joy.

The English group included Alexander MacFayden's "Homage to Spring" and "The Virgin's Slumber Song," into which Miss Ponselle read new beauties of melody.

ROBINSON OUTLINES U. S. VIEWS IN TALK

Delegates Recess Until New French Envoys Are Named.

RESPITE WELCOMED BY ALL DEPUTATIONS

Relief From Strain Seen in Holiday Move at London.

Senator Thinks Americans Do Not Care to Share in European Pacts.

London, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The London Naval Conference, its hands tied by the cabinet crisis which caused the absence of the chief French delegates, today adjourned until next Wednesday.

Since France is the key power in the present disarmament negotiations and no progress is possible until a new premier is named and her delegation returns, Col. Henry L. Stimson, of the United States, early this morning began the move for a conference holiday.

The British, Japanese and Italian delegates readily agreed. A British spokesman described the adjournment as an "act of courtesy" toward France. The delegates believe that a week of respite from the strain of the conference will benefit all and may speed developments when the chief delegates meet again.

Robinson Talks to Press.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, as guest of the American newspaper correspondents in London, today made a speech that gave a senatorial "foot down" to talk of probable American participation in European security pacts, which have been unofficially discussed in London as perhaps the only means of guaranteeing material success of the present conference.

Such proposals have not been made to the American delegation but the French memorandum of policy hinted that an added guarantee of political security was the only thing that could bring about reduction of French fleet proposals.

Senator Robinson said that his understanding was that the American people "do not encourage their delegates to this conference to join in guarantees of security representing areas remote from territory or possessions of the United States."

Views of U. S. Stated.

The other prominent figures of the American delegation were also guests of the newspapermen, but the Arkansas senator was the lone speaker on the subject. "What the United States Expects of the London Conference."

"We've all been under a strain," began the senator. "Delegates and newspapermen alike have become tense. There is danger of getting into a belligerent mood and converting this peace conference into a conflict."

After outlining the divergent viewpoints of various groups of the American public on disarmament, Senator Robinson declared that the majority had a well-defined impression of the range of possible achievements in London. He believed the general trend of American opinion was for limitations of ships in all categories and the humanizing of submarine warfare and aerial bombing.

Italian Position Restated.

Just before the official communique on conference adjournment was issued, Dino Grandi, Italy's chief delegate, met the newspapermen at St. James' Palace and restated the Italian naval policy, which he emphasized "contained nothing new."

With adjournment a reality, the various delegations immediately planned their activities for the week. During the recess conference experts will complete their discussion of the tonnage of special ships, but will not tackle the other tasks assigned them—the question of restriction of submarine warfare. This will await reconstruction of French delegation.

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States

Appears on Pages 5 and 22, Today

Stimson Plans Tour.

Mr. Stimson will go to his place at Stanmore tomorrow and make a long week-end tour in southern England. Prime Minister MacDonald will have his hands full of parliamentary and Labor party problems. Signor Grandi and Admiral Sirianne planned to go to Rome tomorrow for at least the week-end, probably returning to London Monday. The Japanese will spend tomorrow and Friday studying their national election results.

There was great interest here today in reports that Andre Tardieu, defeated French premier, had declined to form a new cabinet or even return to London as a delegate. The one comment in conference circles was that Tardieu had nailed his flag to the mast, and apparently some one else must lower it.

Reports from Paris tonight that President Doumergue tomorrow would name a man to head the government were received here as justification of the belief that the French political situation would be steadied within a week, and the conference would be ready to proceed.

NAVY PARLEY DELAY SURPRISES HOOVER

tained several features which attracted immediate attention.

Sees Little Reduction.

He virtually gave the country advance warning against expecting substantial reduction at the present conference when he said:

"American public opinion strongly supports a policy of reducing naval armament and they will be slow to accept any arrangement which does not have this end in view. They will realize, however, that by the limitation now of the categories left unregulated in the Washington treaty and by further reduction of capital ships below the number in that treaty we may point the way to further conferences when it has been demonstrated that security is more likely to be found in reduced rather than in unlimited programs for naval armament."

This statement is interpreted to mean that the reduction program, as originally announced by President Hoover, will not be followed by the powers until some future conference, presumably a conference in 1935. The Washington conference of 1921-22 effectively ended competition in battleships and negotiated a plan for humanizing submarine warfare which was signed but not ratified by France because of a provision in that pact concerning noxious gases, which the French objected to. Postponing battleship replacements and rewriting the humanizing treaty of the Washington conference will probably be results achieved at London, but will be more directly linked with the Washington conference than the present conference.

Against Political Pact.

Senator Robinson nipped in the bud the reported efforts to persuade the American delegation to enter into a European political pact as a means of persuading France to lower her tonnage figures.

"My understanding is," said Senator Robinson, "that the people of the United States quite generally adhere to the traditional policy of our government to avoid if possible involvement in European politics. They would repudiate emphatically any treaty expressly or impliedly obligating our government to employ the Army or the Navy for the enforcement of obligations assumed by other nations."

In reply to questions, Acting Secretary Cotton yesterday said that the United States would be adverse to entering into any kind of political pact. This means, it was clearly indicated, that the American delegation would not sign any sort of a political pact whether based on the idea of conferring under the Kellogg pact or based on some other expedient. Unless the State Department is misinformed no sort of political commitment or gesture or promise to confer or consult with the European powers in the event of threatened war will be accepted by the American delegation.

Admiralty Parries Commons Queries

Efforts to Find Out How Far It Sees With Government on Navy Fail.

London, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Efforts by questioners in the House of Commons to find out how far the government sees eye to eye with the admiralty on naval reductions were frustrated today by the refusal of A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, to enter into details.

He answered affirmatively the question whether the government had consulted the naval experts before cutting the 1929 construction program. Asked whether the naval advice had been unanimous, the first lord gave a blunt refusal to answer "a question like that." Another questioner tried a new avenue of approach, asking whether the government decisions were in general accord with the advice tendered by its advisers.

"We take the responsibility of the decision," Mr. Alexander replied. "I have nothing to add."

Indiana Miners Spurn Lewis Ouster Project

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Spurning the invitation of Illinois mine workers to join in a movement to oust John L. Lewis as international president of the United Mine Workers of America, and hold an insurgent convention in this city March 10, the executive board of the Indiana miners met last night at Vincennes and asked the rank and file to ignore the Springfield convention.

An official copy of the Indiana order, signed by all Indiana mine workers officials and members of the executive board, was received today.

Cuban Sugar Crop Forecast.

Havana, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The total sugar production of Cuba during the present grinding season of 1929-30 will not exceed 4,300,000 long tons, it is forecast by Department of Agriculture statistics.

Italians Issue Statement As to Naval Requirements

Italy, ratio 1.67, tonnage, 175,000. Under the treaty Italy was entitled to retain the ten capital ships she had in 1922. She has voluntarily scrapped six without replacing them, remaining with four capital ships.

Moreover in October, 1928, she suggested the signatory powers should postpone until 1936 building the capital ships which each of them is entitled to lay down during the period 1931-36. The Italian government—without prejudice to the agreements reached in Washington—maintain this suggestion, by which Italy would not lay down, for an agreed period, 105,000 out of the 175,000 tons assigned her, subject, of course, to the condition that the other signatory powers accept the obligations resulting to each of them from the above suggestion.

Moreover, should the other powers concur, Italy is prepared to examine favorably the abolition of capital ships.

Aircraft Carriers Outlined.

(2) Aircraft carriers. America, ratio 5, tonnage 135,000; British Empire, ratio 5, tonnage 135,000; Japan, ratio 3, tonnage 81,000; France, ratio 2.22, tonnage 60,000; Italy, ratio 2.2, tonnage 60,000. Under the Washington treaty Italy is entitled here and now to build up to the above figure of 60,000 tons. The Italian delegation are, however, prepared to undertake not to exceed the aircraft carrier tonnage actually possessed at any given time by the strongest continental power of Europe.

(B) Vessels not covered by the Washington treaty:

The Italian delegation are prepared to undertake not to exceed the global tonnage of war vessels not covered by the Washington treaty actually possessed at any given time by the strongest European continental power. They are likewise prepared to agree not to exceed the total tonnage of submarines actually possessed at any given time by such a power.

The above undertakings exclude the possibility that Italy should at any time exceed the armaments of the strongest European continental power. Moreover they afford the best guarantee that Italy, far from standing in the way of the further reduction of armament, will on the contrary be instrumental thereto.

Further Limitation Seen.

The Italian delegation do not exclude the possibility that they might consent to more extensive methods of limitation should the conference agree to an actual reduction based on agreed ratios of strength. In the meantime they maintain the suggestion made at Geneva in April, 1927, to the effect that Italy is prepared to notify, six months at least before laying down a keel, the principal dimensions of each hull and characteristics of the main armament of each ship to be built, provided the other powers are willing to give a like undertaking.

With special reference to submarines the Italian delegation recall their statement to the effect that Italy has no objection to their abolition if a substantial reduction of naval armaments be secured covering the abolition of capital ships. The Italian delegation trust that in any case submarine tonnage will be reduced.

The following table shows the present naval strength of the three European powers in vessels not covered by the Washington treaty. This table gives the figures of all vessels laid down or completed, not exceeding the agreed age limits of twenty years for cruisers, sixteen for destroyers and thirteen for submarines.

PARLEY AIDS HURRY TO RESORT PLACES

Week's Recess News Causes Americans to Seek Rest and Play.

ADMIRAL JONES BETTER

London, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—A frantic survey of time tables to the European continent and the seashore resorts of England by members and attaches of the American delegation greeted today's official announcement of the recess of one week in the work of the five-power naval conference.

From early morning, when it was first announced Secretary Stimson favored a let-up in the strain under which his advisers and helpers have been laboring for months, the corridors of the Hotel Ritz resembled those of a school dormitory just before the start of a summer vacation.

It has been known that the head of the delegation has been disturbed for some time over the possibility that the strain of steady mental and physical work might rob him of some of his most trusted intimate advisers or possibly cause a breakdown of some one of the highest members of the delegation. Col. Stimson and his colleagues have been particularly anxious about the health of Admiral Jones, who is again confined to his room with a recurrence of the stomach trouble which started shortly after the party sailed from the United States.

Admiral Jones was kept in bed after arriving in London and now, with other members of the delegation intent on enjoying a week off, he is again kept there under orders of Dr. M. E. Higgins, the Navy physician who is official guardian of the health of the entire delegation. Dr. Higgins, however, expects that his patient will be well enough to leave the Mayfair Hotel by the end of the week.

Wholly oblivious to the great questions of the moment in conference circles, nine stenographers and a similar number of marines and clerks today visited Stanmore, Secretary Stimson's rural retreat in England. They enjoyed there a typically American meal of ham and eggs, cold chicken, mashed potatoes and ice cream.

The fact that Col. Stimson remained in London to confer with Prime Minister MacDonald regarding adjournment of the conference, prevented him from acting as host at Stanmore. His place in this respect was taken by Capt. Eugene A. Regnier, his military aid.

FARM ITEM RATES RAISED BY SENATE

Eastern Democrats Vainly Protest Against Increases.

SPICE SEEDS NOW FREE

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday went through the agricultural tariffs from cheese to chickory, and boosted rates on more than a dozen farm products. Eastern Democrats continued to protest that the consumer's interest was not being served, but as on Tuesday they got nowhere.

Senators of three factions—Republican regulars, Republican independents, and Democrats—joined in the amendment offering and all succeeded with ease. Not a single increase was defeated and only one amendment swept away existing protection. The latter affected some minor products not produced in this country.

The day's work served only to raise still higher an agricultural schedule that already had been increased to the highest level in history. Many rates approved exceeded the increases previously voted when committee amendments were under consideration.

Among the commodities on which rates were raised were cheese and cheese substitutes, pineapples, dates in packages, dried beans, green peas, frozen halibut, sauerkraut and raw chicory.

In addition, canned oysters, alligator pears and mangos were transferred from the free to the dutiable list.

On motion of Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, present rates on spice seeds known as anise, caraway and cardamon, and all unground spices, were taken off and these articles placed on the free list. Senator Wagner said the duties were placed merely for revenue purposes and none of the articles was produced in the United States.

During the argument for higher cheese tariffs Senator Blaine (Republican independent), Wisconsin, denounced what he termed "so-called farm organizations and their representatives." He said they were "caverting down here with the packers and processors" and that he did not trust them.

Sanitary Officers End Sewer Survey

Improved Facilities Will Be Recommended for Nearby Sections.

Improvement of sewerage facilities in nearby Maryland and Virginia is expected to be recommended in a report to be submitted to the National Park and Planning Commission tomorrow. The report has been compiled by a committee of sanitary officers of the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia.

The report will cover drainage and sewerage surveys in nearby counties and will represent the consolidated opinion of the committee. Compiling of the report was recommended by the National Park and Planning Commission for the purpose of determining what joint steps should be taken to keep sewerage facilities in Maryland and Virginia abreast of the rapid growth of the metropolitan area of Washington.

Plans for improvement in sewerage facilities is based on the belief that the sewerage system in the District will be entirely outgrown within a few years. Sanitary engineers are of the opinion that the sewerage systems of Maryland and Virginia should be improved in proportion with that of the District through cooperative planning.

FIGURES IN LOBBY QUIZ

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was represented yesterday before the Senate lobby committee as having attempted while Secretary of Commerce to bring chemical and power interests into agreement regarding disposition of the power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals.

This was contained in a letter from J. W. Worthington, chairman of the executive committee of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, to Claudius H. Huston, new chairman of the Republican national committee, and former president of the association. The document was placed in the record while the committee was questioning W. G. Waldo, consulting engineer of the association.

Dated July 25, 1927, and purporting to relate a conversation Worthington had with John H. Bankhead, now a candidate for the United States Senate from Alabama, the letter said:

Contents of Letter.

"Perhaps I had better explain a little more in detail to you that I told Mr. John H. Bankhead that you and I in the fall of 1925 did our utmost to bring the power and chemical groups together and we made a dismal failure.

"And I further explained to him that you, along with Mr. Hoover, attempted to do so later and that Mr. Hoover even undertook to bring these interests together through Mr. Owen D. Young and failed.

"With the advantage of Mr. Bell's absence, I hope to get John H. Bankhead to really find out from the Alabama Power Co. what they will, under pressure, finally agree to. In other words, we will disclose through the Bankhead connection every possible phase of the case as far as the power companies will show their hands."

Black Quizzes Waldo.

Questioned about the letter, Waldo said he did not know that conferences were being held with power companies in an effort to reach an agreement. The Tennessee River Improvement Association has opposed Government operation of Muscle Shoals and advocates the proposal of the American Cyanamid Co. to lease the power and nitrate project which is embodied in legislation now before Congress.

"You do know as a matter of fact that they did reach an agreement?" asked Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama.

"I do not," Waldo replied.

"And that the Alabama Power Co. stopped fighting this bill?"

"All I know is what you said about it. The papers have been full of that," the witness replied.

Joint Interests Cited.

Mention of the name of Huston in correspondence relating to Aurora Dam in Kentucky, which is being promoted by Waldo, drew a denial from the witness that neither Huston nor Worthington was financially interested.

"Don't you know," Black asked, "that there are numerous matters in the files which show that they were jointly interested in the development of a power proposition and were going constantly to New York, holding conferences with big power people in an effort to get them interested?"

"Trying to bring capital into the South; trying to build up industries and pay rolls and do things for our section," Waldo replied. "Yes, I hope they were trying to do that."

Black asked Waldo if he knew that Worthington had held conferences with Harvey Couch, president of the Arkansas Light & Power Co., and with Sidney Mitchell, president of the Electric Bond & Share Co., but the witness said he did not know.

Warehouse Razed, Town Is Threatened by Blaze

Portsmouth, Va., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Fire this afternoon destroyed the five-story galvanized iron storage warehouse of the Seaboard Airline Railway, spread to and slightly damaged the Norfolk County Jail, and threatened a general conflagration in the downtown business section of Portsmouth.

It finally was confined to the two buildings, the warehouse being totally razed.

UNDER FIRE

FRANK E. BONNER.

POWER BOARD STAFF RAPPED BY WILBUR

Secretary Avers Conditions Are "Unsatisfactory and Inharmonious."

AID FACES QUIZ TODAY

(Associated Press.)

With the Federal Power Commission under fire before the Senate interstate commerce committee, Secretary Wilbur, an ex-officio member of that group, said yesterday that an "unsatisfactory and inharmonious condition" existed in the staff of that agency.

Chairman Couzens, of the Senate committee, a while earlier had declared that the delays and irregularities in the work of the commission were "the rottenest exhibition of government I ever heard of."

F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the commission, who has been attacked throughout an investigation of the commission by Mr. Couzens' committee, will face that group today. He has been charged with lax enforcement of rules.

Power Lobby Hinted.

He will testify concerning a confidential memorandum revealed yesterday, showing large sums allegedly misrepresented in reports by power companies seeking permission to develop projects.

With the memorandum already in the record, the committee will ask Mr. Bonner if and why certain portions, making specific accusations against large utilities corporations, were deleted from it before a second copy was submitted to a House committee.

Introduction of the document was the high point in testimony yesterday by William V. King, chief accountant of the commission, who made serious charges against Mr. Bonner. He said efforts of the power companies to evade rules of regulation had been "largely successful," since 1921.

Secret Session Held.

The Power Commission met yesterday behind closed doors, in conformity with a custom that has come in for criticism by the senators investigating it. Secretary Wilbur said later that the affairs under discussion on Capitol Hill had not been discussed, but that a question of jurisdiction regarding an application had been threshed out. He declined to comment on alleged maladministration involved with the internal strife. The other ex-officio members are Secretaries Hurley and Hyde.

King was questioned closely by the committee when he asserted that power companies included in investment costs and construction costs sums actually spent in an effort to influence national legislation. He explained that his objection was not to legitimate attorney's fees, but to lobbying activities.

Pressed for more specific information, Mr. King told the committee that the Northern Connecticut Power Syndicate included an item of $2,050,000 in one investment account, and that when the Internal Revenue Bureau later attempted to tax this sum, the company admitted it represented only its own estimate of the vested right given by the Government to water rights. The company, King asserted, refused to pay the tax.

Man Seeks Annulment, Charging Trickery

Asserting that his wife, Dorothy Stark Van Dalsum, had tricked him into matrimony on the representations that she was single, Frank C. A. Van Dalsum, of California street northwest near Seventeenth street, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant him an annulment.

The man states that he married the woman on October 24, 1925, and did not learn of her previous marriage until after she deserted him on August 25, 1927. Then, he states, he learned that she had been divorced by her former husband on June 1, 1926. He also alleges misconduct between his wife and several men since she deserted him. Attorneys Raymond Neudecker and William C. Ashford appear for the petitioner.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 5 to 11 today.

Increased tariff rates on more than a dozen farm products.

Majority Leader Watson said that Muscle Shoals legislation will be taken up after the tariff bill is disposed of.

Adopted the Wagner resolution calling on the Secretary of War to report whether military prisoners are being used to displace civilian workers.

Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, charged that Secretary Mellon has never really tried to enforce prohibition, and that no President has been interested in enforcing it except for political reasons.

A letter was read before the lobby committee which declared that President Hoover, while Secretary of Commerce, attempted to bring the chemical and power interests together regarding disposition of the power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals.

F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Federal Water Power Commission, was summoned to appear before the interstate commerce committee today.

Confirmed these nominations:

Sardies M. Brewster, to be district attorney for Kansas; David T. Ham, marshal for eastern Washington; Donald H. MacIvor, marshal for Kansas; James N. Tittemore, marshal for eastern Wisconsin, and Gus Schuldt, judge of the local Police Court.

Action on the nomination of Hugh M. Tate, of Tennessee, as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, again was blocked.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 3:30, to noon today.

Appearing before the judiciary committee, Henry B. Joy, Detroit motor magnate, blamed the "Protestant Church lobby" for prohibition.

Grayson M. P. Murphy, New York business man, told the committee that he did not know a leading financier or manufacturer who did not break the dry laws.

Passed and sent to the Senate the McFadden resolution to authorize the erection of a Federal Reserve bank branch in Pittsburgh.

House civil service committee continued hearing on the new Lehlbach retirement bill, which was described as an administrative measure.

U.S. URGED TO SCORE SOVIET PERSECUTION

One Protest Believed to Have Come From Lutheran Church of America.

NO ACTION IS FORESEEN

(Associated Press.)

Efforts to bring American governmental pressude upon the Soviet campaign of closing churches and suppressing religious activities developed yesterday both at the State Department and in Congress.

State Department officials had before them about fifteen appeals for intervention of some sort in the Russian situation, while in the House Representative Fish (Republican), New York, introduced a resolution to declare recognition of Soviet Russia "incompatible with the traditions of the people of the United States until religious persecution in that country shall have ceased."

Although the State Department declined to make public the appeals received, it was learned that one came from the Lutheran Church of America. This group urged the issuance of a manifesto decrying religious persecution and asked declaration of a nonrecognition policy such as suggested by Fish.

Although no policy has been formulated in regard to the matter, it was indicated authoritatively that the State Department would not do anything at this time about the requests, on account of the absence of diplomatic relations between the two governments and also because apparently no American interests are involved directly.

RADICAL SELECTED TO SUCCEED TARDIEU

ferred to watch opposition leaders try in vain to get a parliamentary majority as they did last after the fall of Briand's twelfth cabinet.

Chautemps Is Good Politician.

Should Chautemps fail to get together a cabinet capable of securing a majority in the chamber, the French president might call upon either Aristide Briand, veteran leader of the moderate center, or upon Poincare, "savior of the franc." Whether either of these former premiers would undertake the task is not certain.

Chautemps is a good politician and may be able to get together a coalition where Daladier failed last fall, giving Tardieu the opportunity which he took promptly and used vigorously. Chautemps' father was a famous senator, and his family has been closely identified with the conflict between church and state in this country. It is reported that Camille Chautemps would accept the premiership only on condition of acceptance of a lay program, especially in the schools, stronger than any in force for several years.

The chances of Tardieu eventually forming a coalition with the Radical Socialists are generally considered poor. If he and Andre Maginot, representing the moderate conservative groups, would enter a coalition formed by the Radical Socialists the chances of such a government having a majority would be better.

Briand Seems Safe.

But it is uncertain whether they could consent to enter a coalition headed by chautemps, and in that case it will be difficult for the latter to get a workable majority in the chamber.

Some more outstanding radical, such as Jules Steef, former governor general of Morocco; Senator Etienne Clementel or Albert Sarraut might get Tardieu's collaboration, especially if Tardieu were offered the ministry of finance.

In any cabinet formed Briand is expected to keep the portfolio of foreign affairs, so it is almost a foregone conclusion that he will return to the London naval conference.

Minister of Marine George Leygues, another member of the French digation at London, who has survivd every cabinet turnover for four years, thereby establishing a record in French politics, will also survive, as he is regarded as the "father of the French navy," and is supporting a policy the radicals themselves drew up.

Tardieu, whether he becomes premier a second time or joins in a cabinet headed by another, is likely to be minister of finance, and in that event would have his hands full putting through the budget. If Premier again he could, after the budget passed, return to London with increased prestige, and that is presumed to be hi sobjective, which will not be realied, however, if the radicals can get together a government which can stand on its feet.

BILL FOR ARLINGTON CITY MOVE IS PASSED

a substitute which provided for no permits. The committee at the same time reported a bill that would raise the speed limit in Virginia from 35 to 45 miles an hour.

The House passed, 65 to 24, the Hall bill that would make it a misdemeanor for any city or county treasurer to fail to return as delinquest any person who had not actually paid his tax.

Small Loan Bill Killed.

The Coleman-Folkes small loan bill, which would have cut rates from 42 to 30 per cent a year also was killed. The Senate passed the bill that would continue the Halsey Commission, instructing it to select some site more than 30 miles from Charlottesville for the establishment of a coordinate college for women.

The House general laws committee acted favorably on the Buchanan bill which would allow localities to exempt from taxation manufacturing establishments and works of internal improvement, in order that industry may be attracted to the State.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, would make it optional with the counties or cities whether or not they would grant the exemptions.

AVIATOR IS DROWNED IN GRAVEL-PIT CRASH

Lieut. W. R. Whitmore Falls on Maxwell Field Soon After Take-Off.

RESCUE EFFORTS FOILED

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Lieut. Willard R. Whitmore, 24, reserve officer, was drowned today when the plane he was piloting dived into a gravel pit 3 miles from Maxwell Field Army air station, shortly after he took off from the post for a formation flight.

The aviator's body was recovered more than two hours after the accident. The plane was demolished and the wreckage tonight was resting under 20 feet of water.

The officer had completed formation flying with planes piloted by Lieuts. Albert Shepherd and Harold Mace, and was doing routine flying with Lieut. Shepherd when the accident occurred.

They were flying over the gravel pit, which is about half a mile wide, when Lieut. Whitmore's plane dived toward the water. After circling the pit Lieut. Shepherd saw Lieut. Whitmore emerge from the cockpit, and he turned back to the flying field to summon aid. A Negro living near the pit said he saw the plane plunge into the pit and saw Lieut. Whitmore struggling in the water for about twenty minutes. He said the officer went down and did not reappear on the surface after the wings of the ship sank.

A boat manned by two Negroes started toward the sinking plane to rescue the officer, but it sprank a leak and they put back to shore. When other boats reached the scene rescue parties were organized under the direction of Capt. Donald Muse, flight officer at Maxwell Field.

The body was located about 20 feet from the tail of the plane. The officer's parachute was still strapped to his body.

Lieut. Whitmore was a native of Wichita, Kans., and came to Maxwell Field November 1, 1929, after completing the training course at Kelly Field, Tex. He was on a year's duty here preparatory to taking examinations to a commission in the Regular Army.

The accident was the first to result in the death of a pilot since the post was established here several years ago. The body was at a Montgomery undertaking establishment tonight pending advice from relatives. Lieut. Whitmore was unmarried.

Three Bank Bills Passed by House

McFadden Charges an Attempt to Control Federal Reserve Policies.

(Associated Press.)

Three measures affecting banking were passed yesterday by the House in a session which brought from Chairman McFadden, of its banking committee, a charge that groups engaged in branch and chain banking were threatening to gain control of the policies of the Federal Reserve System.

The legislation passed included a bill by McFadden to permit cancellation of Federal Reserve Bank stock held by a national bank which has discontinued its banking operations, but has not undergone liquidation. Along with this the House passed and sent to the Senate another bill by Mr. McFadden to permit State banks or trust companies to withdraw from membership in the Federal Reserve System without giving the six months' notice now required.

The third measure was a Senate bill to authorize receivers of national bank associations to compromise shareholders' liability. The bill, which is designed to expedite the settlement of the affairs of failed banks, now goes to the President.

O. H. P. Shelley, former Republican national committeeman for Montana, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican senatorial nomination in that State.

ORDER OUSTS CHAOS AT GAS-BLAST QUIZ

Grand Jury to Be Told of Source of Standard Oil Plant's Fatal Fumes.

MANY OF HURT BLINDED

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Chaos and confusion gave way today to the orderly process of investigation into the cause of the explosion at the Bayway refinery of the Standard Oil Co. that sent sheets of flame shooting among more than 60 workmen, taking the lives of 11 and injuring 50.

Many of the injured will be maimed and blinded for life. Doctors at St. Elizabeth and Elizabeth General Hospitals, where most of the victims lay, were unwilling to venture an estimate tonight as to how many would succumb within the next two days. Those on the critical list numbered18.

Prosecutor Abe J. David, of Union County, late today announced that he had ascertained the cource of the gas which spread the havoc. He said he would present his information to the grand jury.

The first of the three blasts in rapid succession was fixed by him at 4:02 p. m. yesterday. He learned there had been some "trouble" at noon with a pressure pipe carrying a gaseous byproduct of gasoline which is converted into alcohol. The pipe, 3 inches in diameter, showed "evidence of corrosion," the officials said, but he was uncertain as to the cause of the break.

The break was located at the bottom of a brine cooler, a structure about 100 feet higher, a scant 25 feet from a building under construction, on which most of the dead and injured, including bricklayers, carpenters and pipe fitters were working.

Mr. David believed the atmosphere in the vicinity of the cooler was "pretty well filled" with the gases and vapors escaping from the pipe. The prosecutor said that he learned that fumes were seen escaping a half hour before the explosion occurred. When the blast came the concussion and sheets of flame tumbled the men from the scaffolding, screaming with pain and their clothing afire.

COL. NUTT'S SON HIT BY U. S. GRAND JURY

He and Son-in-Law Held "Indiscreet" in Working for Rothstein.

DRUG BUREAU IS SCORED

New York, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The ghost of Arnold Rothstein, slain Broadway gambler, stalked back into political circles today when a Federal grand jury handed up a presentment charging "indiscretions" and suspected corruption in the New York office of the Federal Narcotic Bureau.

The "indiscretion" charges were directed at Rolland Nutt, son of Col. L. G. Nutt, deputy commissioner of prohibition in charge of narcotics at Washington, and L. P. Mattingly, Col. Nutt's son-in-law, in connection with legal work they did for Rothstein, who was alleged to have financed narcotic rings in this district.

Mattingly, the grand jury reported, in addition to acting as counsel for Rothstein in various tax matters, borrowed $6,200 from one of Rothstein's companies. Rolland Nutt, the report said, appeared for the gambler in an income tax case, obtaining a compromise from the Government, although he did not meet Rothstein.

Delving into the activities of the New York narcotic bureau, the grand jury reported that records of the bureau, padded with 354 cases in which arrests were made by police, and not Federal agents, had found their way into Congress with requests for appropriations.

The grand jury termed the padding as grossly improper, and charged that it "misrepresented the true facts and created a false record as to the accomplishments of the New York office and its agent and of the narcotic service itself."

The padding started last April, the grand jury reported, under an order telephoned from the Washington narcotic office by William E. Blanchard, assistant deputy commissioner.

"The said assistant deputy commissioner," the presentment stated, "testified that in telephoning the order he did not approve of it, but was acting on orders from the deputy commissioner, Col. L. G. Nutt. The latter denies that he gave any other order than merely to send in a list of the cases made by the police department of New York City."

BRITISH ENVOY AND WIFE LEAVE

Underwood & Underwood.

POSTAL WORKERS FIGHTING NEW LEHLBACH MEASURE of 20,000 railway mail clerks, joined in the opposition to the bill, and for much the same reason as the others.

The postal men, however, did not present a solid phalanx before the committee, for Harry F. Folger, of the National Association of Postal Supervisors, declared that his organization was strongly in favor of the Lehlbach bill, seeing in it a system that has long been sought. He said the supervisors receive anywhere from $2,400 to $8,000 a year.

Reasons Bill Is Favored.

The first witness in the morning was Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employes. He said his organization favored the Lehlbach bill for these reasons:

First—Because it establishes for the first time a retirement system in which the Government's liability is set.

Second, because it will extend retirement benefits to many groups not taken care of by the Dale bill, including employes at the Soldiers' Home here.

Third, because it will take retirement out of the class of emergency legislation and end the perennial drive to improve retirement piecemeal, a bit at a time.

Fourth, because it will provide greatly increased benefits for those already retired on pitiably small annuities.

Hoover's Connection Brought Out.

It was while President Steward was testifying that President Hoover's connection with the bill was brought to light. Representative Ramsbeck (Democrat), of Georgia, was the first to ask about the President's attitude, and then came similar questions from Representative Jeffers (Democrat), of Alabama, and Representative McCormack (Democrat), of Massachusetts.

President Steward obviously was loath to discuss the attitude of President Hoover(and Chairman Lehlbach went to his rescue.

He declared that he knew nothing of the new bill when the hearings were held on the Dale bill in January. The bill, he said, was the result of a study made by administrative agencies—the Bureau of Efficiency, the Personnel Classification Board and the Bureau of the Budget. Obviously, these agencies would consider such a matter only at the suggestion of the White House.

Discussed Bill at White House.

Chairman Lehlbach also reminded his colleagues that he discussed the bill with President Hoover before he introduced it. On leaving the White House, he recalled, he announced that the President offered no objection to the bill. This guarded language, he said, is customary when discussing the President's views, but, he added, it should be a sufficient intimation as to where the President stands on the bill.

Pinned down to a more definite statement by Representative McCormack, Chairman Lehlbach said:

"I have no hesitancy in saying that I believe the President of the United States favors the principles of the pending bill rather than the mere extension of the present retirement system, which I think no one can deny is admittedly unsound."

Effect of Dale Bill.

That is what the Dale bill would do—extend the present retirement system.

Others who appeared to indorse the bill yesterday were L. O. Robbins, of the Agriculture Department; Frank G. Ashbrook, of the Department of Agriculture; Frank J. Coleman, of the Maryland State and District of Columbia Federation of Labor; Andrew J. Fallon, of the Plate Printers' Union, and James H. Windsor, of the joint conference board of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

"PROTESTANT CHURCH LOBBY" IS BLAMED FOR PROHIBITION

the dry law. Questioned, he said he was not acquainted with Henry Ford.

Writer Gives Testimony.

Owen Johnson, of Boston, a writer, representing the authors and artists committee of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, declared that 80 per cent of the leading writers of the country were militantly against prohibition "on account of the reign of lawlessness and corruption it has produced."

Channing Pollock, a dramatist, blamed the dry law for the filth which he said had characterized many New York theatrical productions during the past five years. He charged that "bootleg money" in the theaters was responsible.

While this hearing was in progress, Senator McKeller (Democrat) of Tennessee, charged in the Senate that Secretary Mellon "has never really tried to enforce" the dry laws and that no President, since their enactment, had been "really interested" in their enforcement except for political purposes.

Asked for Repeal Vote.

Senator McKellar made known that he had been requested by more than a score of Tennessee lawyers to vote for a plan to repeal the eighteenth amendment, but declared he could not comply because he was opposed to any weakening of the dry laws. The Tennessean read to the Senate a message addressed to Thomas H. Malone, of Nashville, Tenn., who had joined in the request.

Senator Brock, also a Tennessee Democrat, made public a telegram he sent to W. E. Norvell, another signer of the repeal request, in which he said he, too, was opposed to modification of the dry law.

At the outset of the hearing before the House judiciary committee, Representative Sparks (Republican), Kansas, sought permission for Attorney General Smith, of Kansas, to cross-examine Walter Liggett, a Washington magazine writer, who last week contended before the committee that liquor was easily obtainable in Kansas, but permission was refused. Chairman Graham said he had decided such procedure would delay completion of the hearings. He also pointed out that Liggett was in a Southern State and that the committee did not have the power to subpena him.

Conditions Worse, Claim.

Mr. Graham remarked that he had received a large number of communications from Kansas since Mr. Liggett had testified, which he said showed conditions there were worse than had been described.

Mr. Johnson said he believed that the issue should be clear cut and openly presented before the country in a referendum, and added:

"I believe that when the referendum is placed before the country for a final binding decision, it should be on these additional prohibitions:

"First, that the buyer should be equally guilty with the seller.

"Second, that the possession of liquor and the use of liquor should be made illegal.

"Third, the right of search of every home at least once a month.

Special Tax Urged.

"Finally, an addition to the Federal income tax of a special tax calculated to produce the $1,000,000,000 or $2,000,000,000 a year which will be needed for the intensive building program to expand our jails and courthouses tenfold and to provide a vast adequate army of Federal revenue agents."

He said this was the program of such "firm advocates of prohibition" as Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, as stated by him in numerous addresses and particularly in a magazine article.

Receiver of Liquor By Plane Sought

Pilot Admits Rumrunning; Is Fined $300 and Ship Confiscated.

Zanesville, Ohio, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—A warrant for the arrest of A. R. Pfaff, Zanesville, on liquor charges was issued in Common Pleas Court today after Clinton R. Heiligenstein, 22, Detroit aviator, pleaded guilty to transporting liquor in a plane and was fined $300 and costs and his plane confiscated.

The warrant for Pfaff was issued after Heiligenstein had informed the court that he delivered a load of Canadian liquor to Pfaff Monday night, when his plane was damaged in landing 10 miles west of here. The aviator said that he obtained the liquor from the ice on the Detroit River where it had been delivered from Canada by another plane. He said he also had made deliveries by plane to Cleveland, Toledo and a number of other northern Ohio cities.

G.O.P. FACTION ASKS REPEAL OF DRY LAW

National Republican Club Group Petitions for Meeting on Matter.

MAY 'EMBARRASS' PARTY

New York, Feb. 19 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The storm of prohibition protests, which recently have been breaking over the Republican Party in New York City in defiance of the party's national dry adherence, today descended upon the National Republican Club. President Hoover is an honorary member of the club, and was a regular member before going to the White House. The membership list also includes among its 2,000 names Cabinet officers, diplomats and many other high-ranking men in the G. O. P.

Borrowing from the words of Abraham Lincoln, a group of fifteen members, including Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, today petitioned for a special club meeting for the purpose of considering a resolution framed by the group advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment and asking the Republican majority in Congress to work toward that end.

Under the peculiar by-laws of the club a special meeting is mandatory when requested by ten or more members on petition to the recording secretary. The date requested is March 10, and unless some members can persuade the group to withdraw, the membership will have to be summoned.

Members of Petitioning Group.

Besides Dr. Butler the petitioning group includes Frederic C. Bellinger, Frederic R. Coudert, jr., Millard H. Ellison, Sidney Hariss, Norman Johnson, Arthur K. Kuhn, J. J. Lesser, J. Edward Lumbard, Courtland Nicoll, William M. K. Olcott, Phelps Phelps, Jehial M. Roeder, Martin Saxe and William Bell Wait.

Mr. Coudert, it is understood, drafted the resolution by direction of the group.

Considerable discussion was created as word of the petition spread. The National Republican Club, although made up of many wets, has long avoided taking a stand on the liquor laws.

Some members of the club held tonight that no matter what the outcome on the resolution, the party here and in the nation will be "embarrassed."

Party Expediency Overshadowed.

In reply to this, a member of the Dr. Butler group said tonight that while he could not be quoted without first consulting with other members, he held that the "safety of the nation overshawods party expediency."

"I hold," said this member, "that the first duty of the citizen is to his country and not to any political party. If taking an honest stand against prohibition means the saving of this country against wrecking the Republican party, then I should be willing to volunteer to wreck the party."

BIG SUIT INVOLVES FARM BOARD MAN

Oregon. He is publisher of a newspaper at Medford, Oreg., and holds a controlling interest in a bank there.

Mr. Teague and the fruit growers' exchange, its officers and managers, and the other defendants are charged in the complaint with instituting a "system of unlawful combinations and conspiracy against the plaintiff for the purpose of wrongfully and unlawfully oppressing, financially wrecking and putting plaintiff out of business."

The complaint charged that they conspired simultaneously to remove Mr. Banks "as a competitor of defendants in its business and to monopolize that duty, picking, grading, packing, storing, shipping, marketing, selling and fixing the price of citrus and other fruits."

"As a direct and indirect result of the said continuing unlawful combination," the complaint asserted, "the credit of the plaintiff was destroyed, promised credits were withheld, withdrawn and refused notwithstanding sufficient approved securities were tendered by plaintiff; storing, transportation and marketing facilities were denied the plaintiff without cause; loans made by plaintiff secured by approved securities were called in and cancelled by the said banks without reason, except that certain pressure had been brought upon said banks, which plaintiff alleges was made by the defendant conspirator for the purpose of destroying business and competition of plaintiff."

of her organization to "take charge of the promotion and construction" of the memorial.

Noble tells the court that believing that Mrs. Calhoun was sincere and being desirous of furthering his work, he agreed to permit the use of his designs and other plans with the understanding that he should be paid for his work. Immediately he delivered these plans and designs to Mrs. Calhoun, he asserted. On June 8, 1924, he alleges, the executive committee of the alliance accepted his designs for a Mother's Memorial, and Mrs. Calhoun began efforts to raise the necessary money.

Contract Was Understood.

Noble says that when he agreed to permit the use of his designs and plans it was understood that a formal contract was to be drawn up but that "because of objections, bickerings and delays" on her part no contract was drafted until the fall of 1924 or the early part of 1925. This contract, for no reason at all, was rejected, he states.

Realizing in September, 1925, that the defendants did not intend to pay him for his work, Noble sets out that he notified them of his withdrawal from further negotiations. Noble alleges that his work was worth more than $40,000, but except for $2,000 he has received no payment.

He alleges that he lost $100,000 as a result of his devotion to the work of the alliance, and sets out that he is entitled to an accounting.

Noble charges further that the Calhouns, "using the trust funds raised as aforesaid, purchased property in Maryland known as "Braemar Forest," near Chevy Chase, "and erected thereon, by the use of said funds, an expensive, attractive and artistic residence'' known as "Ross D'Hu," where both Capt. and Mrs. Calhoun now live.

Asks Books Produced.

The sculptor wants the court to find out who contributed to the memorial and the amounts; the amounts alleged to have been used by the Calhouns personally as expenses or in the purchase of the Maryland property, and by what authority the site of the proposed memorial was changed from Washington to Maryland.

He asks that the books be produced and that the defendants be restrained permanently from disposing of the funds raised.

He seeks to have the Braemar Forest property sold and the funds be used to pay him.

The suit was filed through Attorney Richard L. Merrick.

Noble, his wife, Anna M. Hilenbrand; Stephen Armstrong, jr., and John P. Bird, an attorney, were named in a joint indictment charging conspiracy to blackmail the Calhouns. Pleas in abatement to the indictment are now pending.

Calhouns Deny Charges.

Immediately following publication of the allegations contained in Mr. Noble's suit, Capt. and Mrs. C. C. Calhoun issued a joint statement denying emphatically the truth of any and all charges smade by the sculptor.

Their statement declares their property in Maryland was purchased with funds raised through the sale of other property of their own; that theer were no funds of the Woman's Universal Alliance or Mothers' Memorial Foundation available for their use; that they advanced two-thirds of the money used in advancing the idea of a memorial to the public, for which they have not been reimbursed an dthat collections during the time Mr. Noble's designs were used to attract the public interest, not enough was taken in to pay postage.

They further say that Mr. Noble urged the use of his designs, but that no contract ever was entered into and that Mr. Noble promised to finance the publicity campaign if his designs were used, which they say he failed to do. As to any infringement on Mr. Noble's idea, the Calhouns declare he had it 25 years before meeting them and had not pushed the project, while they had started plans for a memorial two years before meeting Mr. Noble.

CHICAGO WILL KEEP ITS CRIME IN OPEN

Papers to Carry Gang Killings on Front Pages, Citizens' Group Avers.

WORLD'S FAIR TO GO ON

Chicago, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—In the quiet aftermath of Chicago's greatest hoodlum roundup, with the latest gang shooting only a distant staccato echo, two citizens took the stand as character witnesses for the city today.

They were Robert Isham Randolph, Association of Commerce president and chairman of the secret committee of seven citizens formulating a purgative for Chicago crime, and Rufus C. Dawes, president of the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition.

Each committed Chicago to the frank policy of driving crime into the open.

"It is a very definite policy," said Mr. Randolph. "Our crime commission is committed to it; our newspapers are committed to it, we don't think anything is to be gained by a 'hush, hush' policy. When gunmen eliminate each other in Chicago we put it on the front page. If it happens elsewhere you will find it in paragraph tucked away on one of the inside pages."

Has Praise For Prosecutors.

Mr. Randolph said police and public prosecutors were "functioning admirably" and that Chicago stood seventeenth in the roster of homicides on a pro rata basis. Meanwhile Commissioner of Police William F. Russell was rebuked by John A. Swanson, State's attorney, for cluttering up the grand jury with minor cases while the gunmen and gangsters escaped the police net or dallied along with court continuances.

Mr. Swanson was incensed at the denunciation of the prosecutors yesterday by Judge Harry Fisher, who fined a gun toter $50, but censured the State because the defendant had no criminal record and carried a pistol for protection.

The character of Chicago always has been better than its reputation, Mr. Dawes said. He announced the world's fair will go on in 1933 despite the widely published rumors that it had been abandoned.

Openly Admits Sinful State.

"If corruption flourishes and crime prevails, Chicago advertises it," he said. "Other cities may conceal such conditions and accept them as more or less permanent But Chicago openly admits its sinful state.

"This has become a settled policy and there is merit in it, for the conviction of sin is the first step toward repentance. Crime that is concealed and denied never arouses public resentment. It is better to exaggerate than to conceal."

SENATORS AROUSED BY LIQUOR ARRESTS

him and who is alleged to have given the name of Ida Decklebaum, was released when the United States Attorney's Office refused to make out papers against her.

Goldberg, the agents said, was seized Tuesday night shortly after the arrest of Cassidy, who gained fame several years ago as "the man in the green hat" when he is alleged to have been caught in the Senate Office Building with a package of liquor. Cassidy also came into the limelight several months ago when seized in the vicinity of the Capitol, and is now under indictment on that charge, although an attack on the indictment is now pending.

Goldberg, according to the agents' report, dropped a package of liquor when they closed in on him just after he had alighted from his machine near the building. The agents were able to save only a gill for evidence out of the six bottles which they said were smashed by the man.

The agents said they had received a tip that the man was to make a delivery to the Senate Office Building and that they parked near by and awaited his arrival.

Says He Was "Framed."

Cassidy was caught in much the same manner earlier in the afternoon. Prohibition agents were waiting for him, too, and when he arrived they seized him. They alleged that they found a small quantity of whisky in the automobile.

Cassidy immediately made a protest, declaring he had "been framed."

Whether this statement has had anything to do with the delay in his arraignment could not be learned yesterday. He was not arraigned and it was said that he would not be before tomorrow. The explanation was that Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart, in charge of prohibition enforcement in Police Court, was not present and that papers in the case had not been made out. John T. Gatley, of Baltimore, said to have been a companion of Cassidy, who was arrested at the same time, also was not arraigned. Both are at liberty under $2,000 bond on charges of transportation and possession.

Alleged Woman Possessor Cuts Detective's Coat During Arrest.

MAN JUMPS TO STREET

Slipping quietly into an alleged gambling place on New York avenue, near Thirteenth street northwest, Sergeant Oscar J. Letterman's squad spent a busy 45 minutes early last night arresting 21 men and seizing a quantity of so-called racing slips.

Sam Bregman, 25 years old, living on Shepherd street, near Twelfth street northwest, was arrested on a charge of permitting gaming. Twenty others found in the place were merely booked as witnesses. One man is said to have gained his freedom by jumping from a second-story window.

The raiders also visited an "oasis" on Massachusetts avenue northeast, near Second, where they arrested Anna March, colored, for alleged possession of a small amount of alleged liquor, and assault. The woman is said to have grappled with Detective Mostyn and ripped his coat with a long knife. She was disarmed with difficulty, police said.

Two other raids, one on I street near North Capitol, and the other on R street near Second street northwest, netted six prisoners and 30 quarts of liquor. Those arrested were Mary Jackson, Pearl Pendleton, George Pendleton, Helen Parmes, Sylvester Parmes and Susie Lewis.

Jury Is Selected In Editor's Killing

Trial of Three for Death of W. P. Parker Starts in Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—After two and one-half days, a jury was completed in circuit court today to try three alleged slayers of W. P. ("Billy") Parker, former editor of the Menace, anti-Catholic publication, who was shot to death in his office here last September. The three defendants are Harvey Jackson, George Marshall and Forrest McElroy. Jackson is charged specifically with firing the shot that killed Parker as he sat in his office with his wife and daughters. The other two men are alleged to have conspired with him.

Prosecuting attorneys contend that the shooting grew out of articles alleged to have been derogatory to Jackson, which were published in The Blue Shirt, a publication edited by Parker. Jackson, however, claims that he shot in self-defense.

In selecting a jury for a special panel 200 veniremen, many prospective jurors were removed because they were Masons, Catholics, members of the Ku Klux Klan or various labor organizations.

Indictments of Man and Woman Are Reported in $300,000 Shortage.

Chicago, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Elmer Langguth, president of the People's State Bank of Maywood, and Miss Laverne Lundgren, cashier, were reported named in true bills charging conspiracy, embezzlement, and forgery today.

The pair, together with Miss Elsie Gordon, John Reed and Edward R. Carleton, also employes of the bank, were held in connection with a $300,000 shortage which forced the bank to close.

Langguth was said to have maintained two sets of ledgers—one for the examiners and a secret set which was manipulated to conceal alleged forgeries and embezzlements. Miss Lundgren was declared by detectives to have been intimate with Langguth. She enjoyed a private yacht and other luxuries said to have been supplied by him.

Depositors and stockholders plan refinancing of the bank to permit its reopening.

CAPT. T. J. J. SEE.

Capt. T. J. J. See, Government astronomer at Mare Island, Calif., for 26 years and for the last ten years senior professor of mathematics, U. S. N., retired yesterday, completing 31 years of service with the Navy. His retirement became effective on his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary, but Capt. See plans to continue research work in astronomy which has made him famous.

Among many honors received by the distinguished naval officer during his long career, that most cherished is the honorary degree of doctor of science conferred by the celebrated University of San Marcos in Peru, the oldest university in the Western Hemisphere.

Capt. See, who was appointed professor of mathematics in the Navy on February 7, 1899, by President McKinley, did notable work while stationed at the Naval Observatory here. His observations while in Washington consisted largely of work with a 26-inch equatorial telescope and he made many important discoveries.

Among his best known works are investigations on evolution of double stars, University of Berlin, 1892; establishment of the department of astronomy and the Yerkes Observatory, University of Chicago, 1894, and Volume I, Researches on the Evolution of the Stellar Systems, 1896.

Capt. See is the author of 30 volumes of researches, eight of them not yet printed. He has outlined a number of others which will require 30 years to complete, thus indicating that he intends to continue his studies despite retirement from the Navy.

Searchers Find Victim of Canadian Tragedy Under Debris.

Calgary, Alta, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The story of a slow, agonizing death in a lonely tomb far down under the earth's surface was unfolded today to rescue workers who had hoped to find Frank Cheesek still alive in the caved-in Greenhill coal mine at Blairmore, Alta., where he and a fellow miner, Frank Bombardier, were trapped in the mine Monday when tons of rock and shale fell and cut off their exit. Bombardier, uninjured, set to work to try to dig himself out, and 24 hours later a rescue crew found him, exhausted from fatigue and hunger, but still alive.

They found Cheesek today. He apparently had died of his injuries in the darkness.

WILLEBRANDT CASE PAPERS ARE FOUND

Speeding Charge Records, Lost, Now Reappear Mysteriously.

MISLAID, OFFICIALS SAY

Following announcement by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney General, would be prosecuted on a charge of speeding, the papers in the case, which mysteriously disappeared earlier in the week, as mysteriously reappeared yesterday.

They are the same identical papers, and were never lost, but were merely mislaid in the files, according to Police Court attaches.

Mrs. Willebrandt was arrested several days ago by a policeman and was alleged to have been arraigned in the court and given a continuance until tomorrow. Judge Ralph E. Given, before whom she was said to have appeared, declared he knew nothing of the case, and that led to a search for the papers. They could not be found, although attaches of the office of the Corporation Counsel at Police Court asserted they had been made out and forwarded to the clerk's office along with a number of other papers.

The clerk's office, however, also expressed lack of knowledge concerning the case. Then Mr. Bride announced that if necessary new papers would be made out.

This, however, will not be necessary now since the papers—the same ones—have been located.

Sonora Meningitis Closes Theaters

Localized Epidemic Causes Rush of Doctors to Mexican State.

Mexico City, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Government authorities here said tonight that they had little specific information respecting an outbreak of cerebral spinal meningitis in the State of Sonora. A letter to university authorities, written by Anselmo Davila Gomez, head of the extension work of the institution, said that theaters, churches, schools and other public meeting places had been closed in Hermosillo, capital of Sonora.

The letter added that similar measures had been taken in other parts of the State and that medical experts had been rushed to Cumpas, which apparently is the center of the epidemic.

The public health department here sent circulars for distribution to the populace containing instructions on how to treat the disease when the first symptoms appear.

Physician Flies to Side Of Sheriff Shot in Fight

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Dr. Floyd W. McRae, Atlanta surgeon, flew here today in an airplane for consultation as to the condition of Sheriff L. E. Farmer, of Osceola County, who was shot and seriously wounded yesterday in a gun fight with Harry Barnes, former convict, whom he killed when Barnes resisted arrest after shooting another former convict.

Farmer's condition is critical. Dr. McRae said no further operations will be made at once.

Cigar Store "Shooting" Leads to Arrest of Five

Five men were taken prisoners in a cigar store on P street northwest near Fourteenth street when detectives responded to a call that a shooting had occurred there. The shooting, detectives said, was confined to dice.

TAXICAB FIRMS DENY RATE WAR PROSPECT

Two Largest Organizations Will Not Slash Prices, Officials Say.

OTHERS ENTER FIELD

A taxicab rate war may be in the offing, as predicted by the Public Utilities Commission in a letter to Senator Capper, yesterday, but if so it will not find the more responsible and larger of Washington's public conveyance organizations a participant therein.

Two of Washington's largest taxi organizations—the Black and White and Yellow Cab Cos.—have not thought of cutting their present rates.

"Our company assumes a responsibility that not only assures the passenger of a high class service, but in the event of an accident we are in a position to take care of any damages which might arise as a result," said one official.

"We have no quarrel with any other company. We believe in living and letting live. If other companies can cut their rates, that is a matter entirely up to them. With the organized responsibility which we maintain it would be foolish for us to even think of cutting our present rates."

Immediately after receipt of the commission's letter, Senator Capper introduced a bill the substance of which would empower the Public Utilities Commissioner to require that taxicab owners produce proof of financial responsibility. It would also give the commission power to regulate the taxi rates.

It is understood that officers of the Diamond Taxicab Co. are to hold a meeting sometime today and the advisability of cutting rates to meet those of several small independent companies now doing business will be discussed.

With a so-called rate war looming, any number of new taxi organizations are springing into being. The latest is the Atlas Co., composed of independent owners, while it is rumored that the City Cab Corporation will make its appearance upon the streets within the next few days.

Butler, of Oakton, Va., was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile with bad brakes yesterday at the Seventh Precinct after the vehicle struck John Curry, colored, 9 years old, of Twenty-first and M streets northwest, on Pennsylvania avenue near Twenty-eighth street northwest. Jersey City a city of diversified interests

It's an old saying: "Don't put all your eggs in one basket".

Nature—location—development—all these have combined to make Jersey City what it is.

A SEAPORT—Jersey City, located on the west bank of the Hudson river opposite New York, as well as on the east bank of the Hackensack river, is one of the world's great seaports, quite as important a part of the Port of New York as New York itself.

A RAILROAD TERMINAL—Jersey City, leading railroad terminal city of the East, lists the following with their terminal facilities:

Pennsylvania R. R. — Erie R. R.
Lehigh Valley R. R. — Central R. R. of N. J.
N. Y., Susquehanna & Western R. R. — Baltimore & Ohio R. R.
Delaware, Lackawanna & Western R. R.
Also, connections with N. Y. Central, via West Shore R. R.

INDUSTRIAL—Jersey City, with its matchless railroads, its water facilities for ocean-going ships as well as light draft vessels, is naturally a centre of industry. Its industries are diversified; they are large and small; they are located within easy reach of a Metropolitan market of ten millions of people, and with shipping facilities to the four corners of the globe.

RESIDENTIAL—Jersey City, though in the "large city" class, being 21st in size in the United States, has much of the attractiveness of suburban life. The Heights sections run the entire length of the city, being part of the scenic Palisades. The two rivers that provide shipping, also provide the breezes that make it a city of unusual comfort.

"And O'er His Heart A SHADOW FELL," [Edgar Allan Poe, 1809-1849]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper form, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Mr. Spurgeon was born in Bracon Ash, in Norfolk, England, on April 12, 1869. His parents, Robert and Mary F. Spurgeon, came to this country in 1881, while their four sons were children, and settled in Washington. An uncle, Robert P. Porter, was connected with the Philadelphia Press, and John J. Taft and Col. Edward M. House were contributing editors of the Ledger. In 1923 Mr. Spurgeon went to Washington as managing editor of The Washington Post. This position had been previously held by his brother, the late William P. Spurgeon.

Returning to New York, Mr. Spurgeon became chairman of the editorial council and later foreign editor of the Fox news and continued active in the extension of moving picture news service until the illness which necessitated his retirement from active service some months ago. Mr. Spurgeon is survived by his wife and two brothers, Robert H. and Thomas W. Spurgeon.

Theft of a set of automobile tags from the car of William H. Swann, 33 years old, of Silver Hill, Md., early yesterday have police mystified.

While Mr. Swann was at work in the Union Transfer Co. at the Washington Terminal, the thief removed Maryland tags No. 254371 from his car, parked near First and H streets northeast, and left in their place a set of District tags No. A-322.

The local tags, it developed, were listed to a car of the Quartermaster Supply Corps of the Army. When notified of the "juggle" yesterday afternoon, Capt. Gwynn Conrad, of the supply corps, investigated and found that the car, assigned to Arlington Cemetery, had been stolen. It was reported that it was found abandoned last night near Fredericksburg, Va., but a description of the tags on the abandoned car was not in the report.

Backing Is Sought For Bridge Plan

Suport of Kent County in Fight for $10,000,000 Span Is Growing.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., Feb. 19.—Faced with determined opposition in several lower Eastern Shore counties, the proposed Chesapeake Bay Bridge, to connect western Maryland and the Eastern Shore by an 8-mile span to cost approximately $10,000,000, has developed considerable support in this area of the nine-county territory. The Kent County Chamber of Commerce as well as the local Rotary Club is preparing to back the proposition. President William B. Usilton, of the Rotary group, and President Paul E. Titsworth, of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce and president of Washington College, who is a director of the Delmarva Eastern Shore Association, said this week no stone will be left unturned to bring the full economic and political support of this county to the project.

Local enthusiasts believe it will finally be necessary for Baltimore City to bring the full force of its influence to bear before the structure will ever be erected. Western Maryland counties are not expected to lend considerable support to the plan, though no determined opposition is expected from that quarter.

With Baltimore and Kent County pushing the bridge project it is believed it has an even chance of being consummated, especially in view of the open support it has lately received from Mayor William F. Broening and Gov. Ritchie, both of whom have declared in favor of the bridge with State and city financial support.

Jail-Breaker Pair Caught in Chicago

Couple Who Escaped From Gulfport Institution Apprehended.

Chicago, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Thomas C. Furbee, 33 years old, of Williamsburg, W. Va., and Bertrand Nodier, of New Orleans, who, with four other men recently cut their way out of a Gulfport (Miss.) jail, were arrested today in an automobile alleged to have been stolen from Mrs. Bernadine Stafford, of Mobile, Ala. Both were held for Federal authorities. They admitted escaping from the Mississippi jail.

Furbee said he was graduated from medical college ten years ago and served an internship in a Gulfport hospital. He met a girl who taught him to use drugs, he said, and abandoned his studies. He was sentenced to prison at Columbus, Ohio, in 1922 for stealing automobiles, he said, and after serving the term he came to Chicago. Here he met another woman, he said, and with her he stole an automobile and drove South, cashing worthless checks on the way. The woman is still in the Gulfport jail, Furbee said.

Thieves Visit Trio Of Stores in Vain

Seventh Street Shops Are Entered, but Nothing Is Stolen.

Three stores on Seventh street northwest near G street were invaded by a band of thieves early yesterday, but as far as could be determined later the invaders were unrewarded for their troubles.

Working systematically and cautiously avoiding shops equipped with burglar alarms, the band gained entrance through skylights to the Federal Clothing Store, 621 Seventh street, Abel & Co., commercial photographers, 613 Seventh street, and the Wonder Clothes Store at 611 Seventh street.

According to Detective Sergts. Charles J. P. Weber and Howard E. Ogle, who investigated, the thieves apparently were bent on stealing money. In each shop visited, rooms were ransacked and merchandise was littered about the floor. In the photography establishment of Joseph Abel, detectives stated that an attempt was made to smash open the safe. There was no evidence, they said, of tampering with safes of the other shops.

The NEW FROCKS Pursue a Printed Way

AVERY charming way it is, too. As you'll see in these new frock-beauties. They're beautifully made of fine silks—printed in 1930 Spring patterns. Tiny dot motifs vie with dainty floral patterns for favor. Some frocks use the dark bordered silks very effectively. All of them feature the feminized silhouette — with the waistline a bit higher than normal. For afternoon and street wear.

ERLEBACHER F ST.

WHAT DID MADGE DO WITH HER FAT? JUST THIS:

ALL over the country, men and women are wondering at the slender figures of today. Excess fat is rare now, compared with years ago.

These people do not starve themselves of elements they need. They employ a modern, scientific method to combat the cause of fat. The cause usually lies in an under-active gland, which largely controls nutrition.

Modern physicians, in treating obesity, do not advise starvation. They feed the gland substance which is lacking. Thus the whole world has changed, in late years, as regards the over-fat.

A famous medical laboratory embodied the method in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told others about them and shown the results, in new youth and beauty, new health and vitality. Today the use of Marmola is unprecedented.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. When fat disappears, and new health and vigor come, you know why.

Try Marmola, and watch the results for a little while. If you see the fat go and new vigor come, keep on until the trouble is corrected. Then tell your friends who need it. It is folly to suffer an abnormal condition so easily corrected. Go get Marmola now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

YOU CAN'T GROW HAIR WITH Applesauce

FOR years you have been giving and taking more bad advice about your hair and scalp than about any other equally important part of your physique. You have been told that baldness is due to anything from sleeping in short beds or damp churches to wearing or not wearing hats. You have been dousing your hair with general "cure-all" remedies without regard to the specific cause of your hair loss. Yet you are still losing your hair and drawing nearer to baldness each day. No doubt you are realizing that most of the advice you have received is "just applesauce" and you can't grow hair with "applesauce."

If any other part of your physical structure troubled you—you would consult a specialist. Why not give your hair and scalp the same advantage? Let a skilled Thomas' scalp specialist give you a thorough scalp examination — without charge or obligation — and tell you truthfully just what has been causing your loss of hair, and what can be done to overcome the trouble.

Thomas' 15-year proved treatment helps to eliminate dandruff, stops abnormal hairfall, and promotes hair growth on the thin and bald spots. The Thomas' will not accept you for treatment unless the specialist conscientiously feels that you may expect satisfactory results. You owe it to yourself to learn the TRUTH about your hair and scalp. Call today for the free scalp examination.

LABOR DEPRESSION PASSING.

The American Federation of Labor has surveyed the employment situation in 24 representative cities and it reports that unemployment has increased "to serious proportions." Nineteen per cent of union members were out of work in these cities in January, as compared with 16 per cent in December. The January report shows more men out of work than in the worst month of two winters ago, when the unemployment situation was held most acute. In the building trades, 38 per cent of union members are out of work, the largest proportion for January in the three years covered by the record. There has been increasing unemployment in shipping, railroads, hotels and restaurants and among chauffeurs and truck drivers, as well as in Government work and other trades classifications, and there has been a lay-off of over 700,000 in manufacturing since September.

This picture, however, is for January. Unquestionably the market collapse had an adverse effect on business and industry which was bound to be reflected in decreased employment. But there are evidences that the low point of depression has been passed. Last week Dun's review said: "A gradual betterment, slowly widening in scope, marks the present trend, and this is more to be desired than a swift advance whose duration might be shortened by its rapidity." Bradstreet's said: "The slowly rising level of employment and the partial recovery of the prices for cotton and cereals from the low points touched in the preceding week are encouraging factors." Col. Leonard Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., in his latest monthly review of business and finance said: "General business recovery may, or may not, make rapid progress in the immediate future. We appear to have reached the bottom of the business valley, but we do not yet know how wide the valley may be. In the two most recent periods of subnormal business, recovery began as soon as the bottom of the declines had been reached, but in nearly all the previous recession periods definite recovery was longer delayed. It now seems probable that in this present case recovery will be prompt, but that is not yet sure."

Unemployment always lags slightly behind depression; improvement in employment never keeps strict pace with recovery from depression. An improved employment situation will follow an improved business situation.

PROLONGATION OF LIFE.

Medical authorities are not all in agreement as to whether the span of life is being lengthened. Over a long period of years the youthful death rate has been reduced, but there is an increasing death rate among those who reach middle age. Progress in the fight against common infectious diseases is unmistakable, but at the same time such ailments as heart disease have assumed greater importance among the causes of death.

A statement by the Public Health Service shows that life expectancy in the United States is now 58 years. During the Middle Ages in Europe the average individual lived but 20 or 25 years. Fifty years ago the average life duration was 43 years. Dr. Paul Dudley White, who prepared this statement, believes that life expectancy may be pushed somewhat higher than the present level.

This report is not necessarily in disagreement with the findings of Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, medical director of the Life Extension Institute, that the death rate for persons beyond 40 years of age is increasing. Striking reductions have been made in infant mortality and in the death rate from such causes as tuberculosis, smallpox, &c. But more people die from cancer and heart disease. This indicates, however, a lengthening of life. Fewer people die before 40, which means that more people must die after 40. The diseases of childhood are becoming relatively less important, and the diseases of middle and old age more significant.

Whether or not medical science will be able to conquer the diseases of later life is now the vital question. Thus far little progress has been made with heart disease and cancer. Dr. White indicates that progress against some forms of heart disease is probable, but many cases of heart disease originate from high blood pressure, of which the medical profession knows little, or from old age, which can not be avoided. Strenuous efforts are being made to discover a remedy for cancer, but the problem is still baffling. Modern life with its nervous strain tends to accentuate the ills of old age. The possibility of further lengthening life seems to depend on the success of science in preventing and curing these diseases of later life which are now the most important factors in the death rate.

EXPLORERS HOMEWARD BOUND.

Admiral Byrd is packed up and on his way home. Everything was in readiness to depart when the bark City of New York arrived at Little America Wednesday afternoon after a difficult trip. Assurance was given that the bark would be loaded within a few hours and the return trip begun immediately. The most elaborate polar expedition ever undertaken is nearing completion.

Plans for the return journey have been laid with the same meticulous care that marked preparation for every phase of the expedition. Precious documents and films which picture a large section of the Antarctic continent are being carefully guarded against rough weather in the polar seas. In spite of every safeguard for men and materials the return voyage will not be without its perils. The ice pack through which the bark must again penetrate is unusually heavy this year. The return journey through the ice pack required 21 days a year ago and may be more difficult this season.

The year and a half that Admiral Byrd has spent in the Antarctic has been replete with achievements. He circled the South Pole by airplane, but this feat was of less importance than the extensive explorations that have been made, the geological expedition and the meteorological studies. The world has been in constant touch with the Byrd party, but the real significance of its undertaking will not be apparent until the party is home again and has time to analyze its findings.

Exploration has become a science with the successful completion of this great enterprise of research in Antarctica. Admiral Byrd has come to be recognized as the exponent of scientific study of the unknown regions. He easily assumes the position of the world's leading explorer. His achievements in the south polar regions have caught the popular imagination, and he will be welcomed home as a true hero. Life was not sacrificed in reckless exploits. Discipline was maintained on a high plane. The entire camp cooperated toward the general purpose of the expedition. Admiral Byrd and his men are deserving of all the plaudits that will be showered upon them when they reach home.

ARMY AND NAVY PAY.

Agitation for revision of the pay schedules in the uniformed services is based not only upon the fact that the prevailing scale is inadequate, but also because the schedule is inconsistent. The case of naval officers serves to illustrate the inconsistency. Some 1,400 officers, Naval Academy graduates, are permitted by law to count their four years' service at the academy and some 1,500 nongraduates to count their prior enlisted service for pay purposes, whereas 3,200 Naval Academy graduates are denied the right to do so. The law grants increased allowances to those having wives or dependent mothers or children. Officers promoted from lieutenant after ten years' service in that rank to lieutenant commander receive no increase in pay with the promotion. In many cases subordinate officers receive more compensation than those who command them.

The interdepartmental pay board completed in the summer of 1929 a study of the pay situation and made recommendations for increasing pay and ironing out the inconsistencies. These recommendations now are made the starting point in an investigation on the part of a joint congressional committee. The board recommended increases all along the line, and also recommended that rental and subsistence allowances be abolished and that officers receive annual base pay with certain increments.

This week President Hoover made public a study of the pay situation made by the Bureau of Efficiency. In analyzing the pay board's recommendations the bureau contrasted the salaries of officers, on the basis of years of service, with the salaries of engineers, college professors and commercial employes on a similar basis. The bureau indicated that the pay increases recommended were too large, and computed the additional cost at $85,684,000 a year.

The bureau report, together with the pay board report, gives the joint commission ample material upon which to base a thorough investigation of the situation. While it may be that in some instances the pay board was too liberal in suggesting increases, it is not to be supposed that the joint committee will fail to recommend adjustment of the schedule and increases of the scale.

The situation in the Navy serves also to illustrate the need for increases. A lieutenant commander, without dependents and with seventeen years' service on sea duty, receives under the present schedule $2 a week more than a first-grade New York City policeman with five years' service. The value of a naval officer's service to his Government, taking into consideration his station in society, his responsibilities, training and education and the decreased purchasing power of the dollar, merits a substantial increase in pay.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT ROLL.

In a letter indorsing a campaign for the prevention of industrial accidents that will be started by the Merchants Association of New York on March 1, Gov. Roosevelt reviews the accident record of the State for the year 1929. "The figures show," he says, "that in the twelve months just ended the number of reported industrial injuries and deaths reached a total eclipsing all previous figures." During the year there were 523,000 accidents, resulting in 2,093 deaths. This was almost 200,000 more accidents and 400 more deaths than in 1924.

New York is not unique with respect to the growing total of industrial accidents and fatalities. Everywhere progress is being made toward reducing industrial waste, but little progress is made toward reducing the waste of human life. It is not only the individual injured, but his family that suffers as a result of industrial accidents. During the year, in the New York City district alone, 1,300 workmen lost their lives, and 12,250 were permanently crippled or injured. In the year 1928, 1,240 children in the State were orphaned and 740 women were widowed through industrial accidents. The cost of the accidents in 1929 is put at upward of $90,000,000, made up of the cost of compensation awards, medical expenses and loss of wages.

How can this shocking waste be prevented? Safety campaigns, similar to the one that will be started by the Merchants Association next month, must play the dominant part. Safety appliances of various sorts have been generally adopted in industry. In most States and in many cities the use of adequate guards, &c., is made compulsory. In the final analysis it is the individual who must be taught to protect himself and those who labor with him. Carelessness is chiefly responsible for accidents, and the only antidote to carelessness is education.

POLICE COURTESY.

Maj. Pratt is to be commended for his campaign to promote courtesy in the enforcement of law. The movement is undertaken, not in the spirit of compromising with lawbreakers, but in the belief that petty regulations can be more effectively enforced by admonition than by abuse. A successful officer is one who makes friends with the public and secures voluntary cooperation in the enforcement of law.

Policemen, like other men in public office, are the servants of the people. They can best serve by directing, instructing and cautioning the public in obedience to minor regulations. By educating his officers in the rules of courtesy Maj. Pratt is not only improving the quality of service his department renders, but is also moving in the direction of efficiency.

THE CITIZEN AND THE AIRPLANE.

The failure of the public to patronize the airplane industry is no longer concealed. Americans are not becoming pilots in numbers sufficient to warrant the expectation that there will be a profitable business in selling airplanes to individuals for private use. Manufacturers have clung to the notion that the public would take up flying and thus create an industry comparable to the automobile industry; but in spite of reduction of prices and some improvement in the direction of safety, airplanes are a drug on the market.

At the St. Louis air show two manufacturers have announced drastic price reductions, and another has offered to sell airplanes on installments. Enthusiasts are doing their best to enlist the interest of the public and are pointing to the passing interest in gliders as evidence of a possible market for cheap and safe planes for private operation.

The fact that Henry Ford explored the possibility of developing a market for small and cheap airplanes for private use, and did not find prospects worth while, is pretty good evidence that no such potential market exists at present. The obstacles facing a would-be individual user of airplanes are very discouraging. He must undergo expensive training to obtain a pilot's license, and then he must risk his life and an expensive machine in making flights that do not save much if any time, as compared with automobile travel. Flying fields are far apart, and when a flier has changed clothes, driven to the field, made his flight, changed clothes again and driven from the field to his ultimate destination he has usually lost time rather than gained it. The airplane, in short, has not found a useful place in the everyday life of the average citizen.

POPULATION CHANGES

From the Boston Transcript.

In no part of the country, perhaps, will the findings of the forthcoming fifteenth census be awaited more eagerly and then examined and analyzed with more interest than in New England. That is because—whether justifiably or not—there is more uncertainty concerning the tendencies of growth here than elsewhere. There is a pretty general agreement as to the rates of progress in other States or groups of States. But many seem to have the notion that New England may have reached a turning point in its career, and have entered upon a period of what they are pleased to term "decadence." Well, we shall see some time after the first of April next.

The rates of growth in population in the preceding decade, 1910-1920, do not appear to indicate "decadence." It is true that Vermont showed a loss of 1 per cent. But Mississippi also showed a loss of nearly half as much, while Nevada suffered one of five or six times as great. It is also remarked that Maine and New Hampshire gained, respectively, only some 3.5 and 2.9 per cent. But Missouri gained a trifle less than Maine, 3.4 per cent, which was perhaps fitting, in view of the historic relationship between the two; and Kansas and Kentucky gained only 4.6 and 5.5 per cent, respectively. Rhode Island, on the other hand, gained more than 11 per cent, and Massachusetts gained 14.4 per cent, or more than New York or Pennsylvania, which had, respectively, 14 and 13.8 per cent, and almost as much as the average of the whole United States, which was 14.9. As for Connecticut, its increase was no less than 23.9 per cent, which was about the same as that of New Jersey and was doubtless due in part to the same cause, namely, the great overflow from the overcrowded City of New York. Elsewhere it is to be observed that Illinois gained only 15 per cent, Indiana only 8.5, Texas less than 20, Arkansas about 11, Alabama 9.8 and Iowa and Nebraska 8.1 and 8.7 per cent. We can not regard such figures as indicating any "decadence" of New England which the rest of the Nation does not share.

Nor is the indication otherwise when we take the States by geographical groups. The New England States, six in number, with a population in 1910 of about six and a half millions, increased by 12.9 per cent. The four East South Central States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi, with nearly about six and a half millions, increased scarcely 5.7 per cent. The seven West North Central States of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and North and South Dakota, with more than eleven and a half millions, increased only 7.8 per cent. The great stretch of eight South Atlantic States, from Delaware to Florida, with more than twelve millions, increased 14.7 per cent, and the three great Middle Atlantic States of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, with nineteen and a third millions, increased 15.2 per cent. Not in these figures is any "decadence" of New England proclaimed.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE WIDOWER.

They are asking him to laugh and carry on,
They are begging him to see a comic play,
But she who made his merriment is gone,
And she who was his courage is away.

They try to rouse his spirit with a jest,
They would win him back to old familiar ways,
But she who was the joy he loved the best
Has left him, and he wanders in a daze.

He hears but very vaguely what they say,
Still uncomfortable he keeps within his door,
For she who was his courage is away,
And she who was his comfort is no more.

All the roses will come blossoming in May,
In the garden which the loved and looked upon,
But she who was their beauty is away,
And she who was his happiness is gone.

All Creatures Except the Ass Are Equipped to Solve Their Problems by Facing Them.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

PEOPLE who think worry a foolish and unnecessary indulgence usually are fortunate ones who have nothing to worry about or weak ones who haven't character enough to worry when they should.

The fortunate ones deserve no attention; their wisdom is a product of ignorance.

They are the kind of people who possess three motor cars and enjoy discussing the blessings of poverty.

The weak ones, who feel superior because of their indifference and enjoy rebuking their anxious fellows, should be analyzed for the instruction of carefree youth.

Here is a woman who announces gaily that she doesn't worry about being fat.

She should worry about it, for it is shortening her life.

But she permitted herself to brood over it last year, and anxiety prompted her to quit eating pastries and sweets until her weight was normal.

It was an unpleasant experience, requiring constant self-control and self-denial, and the memory of it is so distressing and the thought of repeating it so disturbing that she prefers surrendering to fat and pretending it is nothing to worry about.

Consider the man who doesn't worry about debt.

"Why worry," says he, "about something you can't help?"

He means he can't help it without denying himself and regaining his honor at the sacrifice of luxuries and leisure.

People who don't worry about debt change grocers when their credit is exhausted; borrow from their friends until they can borrow no more, and habitually defraud everybody who trusts them.

They bluster or apologize or make promises, always with an air of cheerful assurance, and they think their freedom from anxiety a proof of sound wisdom.

But in truth they avoid worry because they must keep on fooling themselves in order to preserve their self-respect.

To give anxious thought to their predicament would be to face the grim and degrading truth and then sink into the gutter or begin the long, hard climb back to decency.

The drifters and leaners and ne'er-do-wells are people who don't worry—weaklings, all of them, hiding from the truth, overcoming unpleasant facts by pretending they don't exist.

"Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto."

It is sublime discontent that makes men grow, and discontent is a product of anxious thought.

And it isn't excess of gray matter that prevents worry when worry is justified; it is want of backbone.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THOSE EDISON BIRTHDAY QUESTIONS.

Every year the newspapers corner Thomas A. Edison on his birthday at Fort Myers and ply him with questions. It's become an American custom.

* * * *

But the questions are always the same. They never seem to open Mr. Edison up much. They lack variety and color. For Mr. Edison's next annual quizzing this department suggests:

1. Would you be interested in a scheme to make seersucker suits out of paper flowers.?

2. What do you use to take strawberry stains out of a pair of white flannel pants?

3. Why have you at no time considered an invention that would do away with shaving?

4. How do you like your eggs, hard or soft?

5. Do you believe it possible to develop a cabinet radio that will combine all the features of an electric ice box, a gas range, a phonograph and fireless cooker?

6. Do you consider golf a greater obstacle to industrial progress than the old-fashioned porch chair or malaria?

7. Is it true that you are working on a plan to produce buttons for tan shoes from ox-eyed daisies?

8. Do you think the American buggy whip will ever come back?

9. What, next to paper towels, do you think has contributed most to the increase of American irritability?

10. How long do you think it will be before a way will be found to make drivers of Ford cars turn out and let larger automobiles pass?

11. Having found a way to produce a rubber raincoat from goldenrod, what do you think of the chances of producing woolen underwear from the skin of prickly pears?

12. Do you think anything has influenced the steady decline of man as a serious factor in civilization more than white knickerbockers?

13. Is there, in your opinion, any use experimenting in the hope of finding a way to make something out of the figures left on a restaurant tablecloth after two business men have had lunch?

14. As a scientist, what do you think of "necking" as an American institution and do you as the inventor of the electric light, feel responsible for its alarming development out of doors?

15. Looking backward, would you have gone ahead with the electric light if you had foreseen it as inflicting on humanity (a) traffic lights; (b) automatic cigarette lighters; (c) illuminated soap signs; (d) artificial sunburn mania?

16. How many years do you think it will take for the American public to be able to read and comprehend the words "No Parking?"

17. When you get into your pajamas, which do you put on first, the coat or the pants? Why?

18. Do you regard the present American craze for bizarre bathrooms as significant of anything and, if so, what?

19. Would you mind saying whether you consider Gen. Electric a good buy at present levels? Westinghouse? Detroit-Edison? Electric Bond & Share?

20. Would you hold Steel bought at 220? Why not?

21. Do you think a young man who has played college football four years is as well fitted for life as a boy whose education has been confined to grammar school hockey?

22. What do you think of the relative importance of (a) channel swimming; (b) Niagara Falls; (c) chemistry; (d) roller skating; (e) Calvin Coolidge; (f) electrical engineering; (g) Dorothy Dix; (h) volley ball?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Deadlocks in Naval Conference Detrimental to Better Relations—America Should Not Enter Into Mediterranean Pact.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The deadlocks in the five-power naval conference brought about by the increasing demand of the individual countries and the recent hindrance by the fall of the French government have served to render any progress impossible; and, what is more, are undoubtedly resulting in an effect more detrimental than helpful to the further promotion of an amicable relationship between the nations.

The powers are more concerned with their comparative physical defenses and the possibility of their respective financial expenditures than they are with the actual problem of world peace.

The latest development in the plans of the conference to draw the United States into a pact relating to the Mediterranean is as ridiculous as the reasons suggested to justify it. England fails to appreciate that the possibility of a 35 per cent increase in her naval tonnage to keep up with the proposed French program, and the necessary strain the effort might cause to her financial condition, is no worry of ours.

The foreign powers may look to America to lead them in the process of limitation, but they certainly can not expect that leadership to be brought about by harnessing us with a lot of intriguing pacts whereby we would be shouldered with the difficulties and the responsibilities of all the nations involved. It is sufficient to be drawn into foreign troubles from time to time without being bound to settle every disturbance that might arise.

Mrs. Rogers Plays Pied Piper and Rids Massachusetts Town of Rats.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A short time ago the citizens of Westford, Mass., were worried over the presence of a vast army of rats in the town. They knew of no means for ridding the town of these rodents, and sought assistance from their member in Congress, who happens to be Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers. She promptly called upon the Department of Agriculture for aid. Experts in the department recommended a system whereby the pests could be exterminated by means of poison. Mrs. Rogers forwarded explicit instructions to her constituents, telling them to place tempting meals of poisoned fish, cereals and hamburger by every ratthole and runway. The instructions were carried out, resulting in complete extermination of the rats.

Thus Congress can boast of having a modern Pied Piper in its midst.

States Should Make Liquor Purchase a Crime, Says Florida Man.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A number of States during the recent sessions of their legislatures took action to hold the buyer of intoxicating liquor guilty with the seller. Nobody will doubt that this is a move in the right direction. If it is the purpose to stop the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors, the law should also stop the buying, for purchase is a necessary part of sale.

If the Federal Government has no authority for passing laws against purchase, the State governments have, and they should provide this missing link in the chain of efficient enforcement.

It is interesting that the first case under a law of this kind in Illinois resulted in a plea of guilty and a fine of $100 imposed upon the purchaser.

Pittsburgh Pessimist Predicts Parlous Times Ahead.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The politicians who are going to run on a prosperity platform on the Republican ticket must be hypnotizing themselves. The only prosperity now is that of monopolies that are squeezing the country into poverty. Five millions out of work and 20,000,000 living on short rations does not indicate prosperity in this country, but class monopoly driving the middle classes into poverty. Elections this time will not be party affairs, but what candidates stand for. They can not buck the people with prosperity humbug when the people know differently.

American Delegation at London Should Return Home Rather Than Contract to Go to War.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I see they are now trying to inveigle the United States into another political contract whereby we would become responsible for peace in Europe. If this is to be the price of naval parity with Great Britain, I don't want it. This naval conference was to bring about reduction in ships. Now we are asked to build more ships and to make a contract to go to war whenever the others start fighting. If this is the best that the American delegation can do at London, it should come home at once.

JAPANESE AT POLLS ON DOMESTIC ISSUES

Government Party Expects Country to Favor Its Economy Program.

DRY FACTION IN FIGHT

Tokyo, Thursday, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Balloting opened throughout Japan early today in the general election which will decide the fate of the present Minseito government, headed by Premier Yuko Hamaguchi.

The prime minister dissolved the imperial parliament January 21 and appealed for a mandate to continue in office, for approval of its program of drastic national economy and of its recent restoration of the gold standard.

In the last parliament the opposition party, the Seiyukai, had 237 seats of the total of 466, with the Minseito party holding only 173. In today's polling the government party is confident of its ability to reverse these figures.

Other contestants are half a dozen labor or proletarian groups, divided among themselves and unlikely to increase their bloc much above the seven seats held in the last House of Representatives, a few small parties likely to return from one to four members, and a large sprinkling of independent candidates, of whom 20 to 30 usually are elected.

The campaign has been concerned almost altogether with domestic economic issues. The London naval conference was not mentioned in the platform of either major party.

Small but politically unimportant groups which nevertheless figured in the contest were the militant Buddhists, who put up several Buddhist priests as candidates, and the prohibitionists, who entered no candidates, but fought lustily against known drinkers and supported those who came out in favor of further restriction of the liquor traffic.

Women played an increasingly important part in the campaign, some, from the intellectual classes, in support of labor and proletarian candidates, and others working to obtain candidates' indorsements of suffrage for women.

Steamship Owner Files Counter Divorce Action

Miami, Fla., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Lewis L. Luckenbach, vice president of Luckenbach Steamship Lines, filed suit for divorce here today as a counter to the divoce action instituted by his wife in New York some time ago. Mr. Luckenbach named William J. Hanley as corespondent. Mr. Hanley, according to papers in the case, is a resident of New York.

Mrs. Luckenbach's plea for divorce sought custody of their 9-year-old son, whom she said her husband had brought to Florida with, a young woman to whom he was paying attention. Mr. Luckenbach later denied from Key West that his son was here, asserting that he was in school in Massachusetts.

Repassage of the Mammoth Cave bill was made necessary by two minor amendments attached by the Senate yesterday in passing the measure, 36 to 0. The measure now goes to the governor and becomes effective unless vetoed within ten days.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IT seems strange that none of the many suggestions and plans for better cooperation among the House, the Senate and the White House call for any abatement of the propaganda war that has been in progress for many months and which is increasing daily in intensity.

It has long since ceased to be an open and above-board thing. It is something that strikes from behind, that strikes in the dark and the person struck does not know the identity of his assassin.

Propaganda is not new to Washington, of course, and that the battle should become so intense with the elections just ahead is not at all unexpected.

• • • •

BUT it is only in the past few months that it has taken on its new form, those little unaccredited bits of "information" that appear in the newspapers from time to time.

There was a shining example in several newspapers yesterday morning. Obviously, it was a crack at the Senate, a well-calculated thrust to put the onus of all things on that body. Whether the Senate deserves such treatment or not is beside the point.

The example in mind was the little item expressing the fear that the appropriation bills will be held up in the Senate and throw "between 10,000 and 20,000 men" out of work.

CAN anything be more absurd? It seems that the appropriations for the increased governmental building will run out or run low about the middle of next month. But the pending bills which do not become effective until next July 1 have provisions making these building appropriations immediately available in order that the work can go on without any delay.

It is quite true that the Senate has yet to pass these appropriation bills, but no one of sound mind believes that it will not do so in time to prevent any men being laid off. The Senate has a way of passing appropriation bills in two or three minutes when the occasion demands and it will certainly do something of that kind to prevent "between 10,000 and 20,000 men" being thrown out of work.

• • • •

THIS being true, and indisputably so, it is amazing that so many newspapermen would permit themselves to be drawn unwittingly into what might be called the "war of poison" that is waging; that is, to accept such information as this with the understanding that its source is not to be revealed.

It is this constant "digging" that makes for the present lack of coordination of the coordinate branches as much as anything else. And it seems such an unfair way to fight.

PHILIPPINE SCHOOL STUDENTS STRIKE

Pupils in Manila Demand Teacher Be Dismissed; America Hit.

RED ACTIVITY IS SEEN

Manila, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Students of the Manila North High School went on strike today and demanded the dismissal of Miss Mabel Brummitt, an American teacher, whom the pupils asserted had insulted the Filipino race. Recent attacks upon Filipinos in California and Communistic agitation in the Philippines also influenced the students.

Only 50 students of the 2,770 enrolled at the school attended classes today as a result of a resolution adopted at a mass meeting yesterday demanding the dismissal. Miss Brummitt, formerly of Valparaiso, Ind., has been in the islands five years.

The teacher, the resolution recited, had insulted her pupils and the Filipino people, and "time and again has branded Filipinos as savages imbeciles, idiots and contemptible cads."

Misbehavior in class of several of her pupils, Miss Brummitt said, had caused her to tell one of them that he had acted "like an imbecile." Others had been told, she said, that they were behaving like "cocheros" (rig drivers).

The California riots against Filipinos were mentioned frequently at the student mass meeting. Banners carried today read:

"Down with American imperialism and its puppets; long live absolute, immediate independence for the Philippines."

Other posters demanded the dismissal of "American teachers who believe themselves our superior and want to enslave us."

Fight on Tate Bars Appointment Vote

I. C. C. Nominee Opposed by Alabama Senator; Debate Heated.

(Associated Press.)

Vigorous debate over the nomination of Hugh M. Tate, of Knoxville, Tenn., to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission forestalled a vote on his confirmation in the Senate yesterday.

Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, led the attack on Mr. Tate, complaining that he was the attorney for the Southern Railway and the power interests and that his nomination violated the spirit of the law requiring a bi-partisan commission.

Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, argued for Mr. Tate and reiterated the statement he made for the Tennessee Republican lawyer before the Senate interstate commerce committee which approved the nomination without a record vote.

A committee was named to work out definite plans for the new organizations. B. A. Whitmore, of Nashville, was made chairman.

WALTON UNIT HEARS PRESERVATION TALK

First Annual Banquet Held by Capital Sportsmen in Raleigh Hotel.

BASS HATCHERY PLANNED

Preservation of game and bird life of the country was the keynote of addresses last night in the Raleigh Hotel at the first annual banquet of the Washington Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America.

Henry O'Malley, chief of the Bureau of Fisheries, announced that efforts are being made by his department to make the Tidal Basin a model fishing pool. At present, he said, the bureau is completing plans to establish bass hatcheries at Anacostia Parkway to stock streams adjacent to Washington.

Col. Seymour Bullock, of Chicago, in the principal address stressed the importance of forest conservation and preservation of streams and wild life. Deforestation, he said, brings extinction of wild life and lack of fertility to soil.

Other speakers were Senator Harry B. Hawes, Representative Bankhead, Paul Reddington, chief of the Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture, and Swepson Earle, conservation commissioner of Maryland.

Dr. M. D'Arcy Magee, president of the local chapter, was toastmaster.

Chicagoan Kills Wife, Then Shoots Himself

Chicago, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Peter Kofensky, 35, shot and killed his wife Mary as she wheeled their two children in front of their home today. He then turned his weapon upon himself and inflicted a wound above the heart. He probably will die, physicians said.

The shooting, police said, was the climax of domestic difficulties. Kofensky had been out of work and the couple had separated, Mrs. Kofensky, who was 27 years old, going to live with her mother. Neighbors said there was a brief exchange of words before the husband fired with a pistol.

District Building Sale Gains Mellon's Consent

In a letter to Chairman Eliot, of the House committee on public buildings and grounds, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said he would offer no objection to the Simmons bill which provides for purchase of the District Building by the Federal Government.

Eventually the site on which the District Building now stands will become part of an area occupied by Federal office buildings. Representative Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, has proposed in his bill that the Federal Government buy the building immediately so that the District can use the money to put up a new building in its proposed municipal center.

Avenue Closing Opposed By Trade Board Group

Closing of Michigan avenue, as proposed in the District budget for 1931, was opposed by the committee on streets and avenues of the Washington Board of Trade at a luncheon meeting yesterday at the City Club. The committee also opposed the House bill providing for elimination of the proposed development of Aspen street south of Walter Reed Hospital.

The proposal to close Michigan avenue was opposed on the grounds that this thoroughfare has recently been improved to avoid detours. In opposing the proposal to eliminate Aspen street south of Walter Reed Hospital, the committee suggested that the property could be left open for this street and be used for development by the hospital at the same time. The reason for eliminating the street is to give the hospital use of the property for improvements, it was explained.

Woman Says Justices Bar Sex From Law Field

Charges that reactionary justices in supreme courts have hindered women in gaining the right to practice law were made last night by Miss Gail Laughlin, attorney, of Portland, Me., and member of the State Legislature, in an address broadcast over the National Broadcasting Co.'s network through Station WRC here.

Miss Laughlin declared that "many supreme court justices, imagining themselves possessed of special revelations regarding the plans of God and nature for women, have held that 'the law of nature qualified the female sex for bearing children, and the practice of law is not only inconsistent with the sacred duties of the sex, but is a departure from the order of nature.'"

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

Capital Says Au Revoir to British Envoy

Smiles and Tears Mark Departure of Sir Esme and Lady Isabella.

By JEAN ELIOT.

"TOP silk hats" were thick as blackberries on the platform at the Union Station yesterday afternoon, when the retiring British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard left for New York. Not since the departure of M. Jules Jusserand, who had served France in Washington for 22 years, and his charming American wife, has their been such a demonstration at parting, with most of the chiefs of diplomatic missions and their wives, many of the younger diplomats, State Department officials and many unofficial folk who count Sir Esme and Lady Isabella Howard as friends on hand to wish them Godspeed.

It was a gay scene, most of the men being in formal morning dress, with an occasional military or naval attache in uniform, and the women in smart afternoon costumes and rich furs. But it had elements of pathos. As the train pulled out, with Sir Esme and Lady Isabella waving farewells from the observation platform, there were tears in her eyes and, I suspect, in the eyes of a good many who waved in return.

Dr. Hernan Velarde, Ambassador of Peru, who succeeds Sir Esme Howard as dean of the Diplomatic Corps—for a brief period only, as he is to leave Washington early in March—was early on hand to say good-by, as was the Ambassador of Belgium, Prince de Ligne. And others in the group of diplomats were the Ambassador of Italy and Donna Antonietta de Martino, the Ambassador of Spain and Senora de Padilla, with their two daughters; the Ambassador of France and Mme. Claudel, with Mlle. Reine Claudel, the Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara and the Ambassador of Germany and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron.

With the Canadian Minister and Mrs. Massey were Mr. and Mrs. Merchant Mahoney, of the legation staff. The Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Louw were also present, as were the Swedish Minister and Mme. Bostrom, the Persian Minister, Mirza Davoud Khan Meftah; the Albanian Minister, Mr. Faik Konitza, and the Chinese Minister and Mme. Wu, who had one of their pretty daughters with them.

The British Embassy staff, of course, had generous representation, headed by the counselor, Mr. Ronald Campbell, who is the charge d'affaires until the arrival of the new Ambassador, Sir Donald Lindsay; and the Commercial Counselor and Lady Broderick. Mr. A. J. Pack was accompanied by his fiancee, Miss Betty Thorpe, and Miss Gytha Stourton was prominent in the group surrounding Sir Esme and Lady Isabella. This winsome young Englishwoman, who has been serving as secretary to Lady Isabella Howard, and who has been a guest at the embassy during her residence in Washington, will remain in town for a month or two visiting friends.

Others taking part in the friendly demonstration, pressing flowers, bonbons or books into Lady Isabella's arms, were Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr, Lady Lister-Kaye, Miss Mabel Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Cabot Stevens and Mr. David Edward Finley.

After farewells had been exchanged with diplomats and dignitaries and many lovely ladies, Sir Esme stood beckoning on the steps of the car until some one pushed forward a small, harrassed-looking little colored man, and his last handshake was reserved for a servitor who had been struggling with the luggage.

Dr. E. Tulley Yonge will be the guest of honor and speaker at the weekly Thursday evening dinner at the Woman's National Democratic Club this week. She will talk on "Biochemistry and Character Analysis."

Maj. W. M. Grimes, master of hounds of the Riding and Hunt Club, has announced that the weekly hunts will be resumed, having been discontinued for the last month on account of the bad weather. The next hunt will start from Massachusetts avenue extended at 3 o'clock on Saturday.

Doctors Will Address Twentieth Century Club.

Dr. George Harvey Genzmer, assistant editor of the Dictionary of American Biography, and Dr. John Herman Randall, director of the World Unity Foundation, will speak at the luncheon of the section of education of the Twentieth Century Club today at 11 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. Dr. Genzmer will speak on "Fashions in Biography" and Dr. Randall will discuss the "Foundation" which is holding a conference in Washington this week. Mrs. Francis M. Goodwin is in charge of the luncheon. Mrs. Thomas W. Sidwell, leader, who has been in Florida, will return for the meeting.

Moving pictures of campus scenes will feature the meeting of the Ohio University alumni which will be held at the Burlington Hotel tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Noble C. Shilt, 2210 Kearney street, and Miss Esther Berkshire are in charge of the program.

Mrs. A. B. Court, wife of Commander Court, who is chairman of the committee on awards and prizes for the Society Horse Show to be held at the Riding and Hunt Club on Saturday afternoon and evening, March 1, has secured beautiful silver cups and plates for all events at the show.

Among those who have donated cups are Rear Admiral Willard H. Brownson, Senora de Ferrara, wife of the Cuban Ambassador; Admiral Cary Grayson, Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning, Mr. Newbold Noyes, Mrs. Karl D. Klemm, Mr. F. M. Wiborg, Col. John Field, and Mr. William Littauer, who presented a handsome Sheffield plate.

Maj. W. M. Dixon, U. S. A., and his family have arrived at the Cairo Hotel from Seattle, Wash., and will stay for several weeks.

Mrs. C. Augustus Simpson entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Washington Club. There were twenty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Lyon and Miss Flora Lyon, who are traveling in the South, are now at the Hotel Presidente in Havana.

Mrs. Lawton Morgan To Attend Reunion.

She is to tell of the school 70 years ago when she was a pupil there in 1859 and 1860.

Mrs. Lawton Morgan will visit her daughter, Mrs. Frank Harper Elmore, at Cynwyd, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia, for several weeks before her return to Washington.

Mrs. Robert Ash entertained at tea yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Clifford Folger. Members of the younger set were invited to meet Mrs. Folger, who was Miss Mary Katherine Dulin of Knoxville, Tenn., and who has recently come to Washington to make her home. At the tea table were Mrs. John W. Philip and Mrs. James Elwood Jones.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

A CHARMING featherweight woolen that is quite as supple as silk in Spanish red tones was the medium used for this jaunty all-day frock.

Smartest women are wearing these light weight woolen frocks not only for street but for tea, luncheon and bridge.

It's very, very French with its open V-neck finished with scallops, accented with piping of matching shade faille crepe.

A fitted hip yoke contrasts with slight blousing of bodice. The yoke pointed at front, tends to give the figure length. The circular skirt shows smart even hemline that is best for general daytime occasions.

Style No. 8108 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. In the medium size, 3½ yards of 40-inch material is sufficient to make it.

Cut it out—join side and shoulder seams of the bodice. Seam the two-piece hip yoke and stitch to the lower edge of the bodice. Seam two-piece circular skirt and stitch to the hip yoke. Sleeves are now stitched into armholes and this charming serviceable dress is ready to wear.

Printed silk crepe, plain crepe silk, canton crepe, crepe marocain, chiffon, georgette crepe, crepe Roma and Rayon novelty crepes are appropriate.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 18.

Taxpayers are advised by the Bureau of Internal Revenue carefully to present their claims with regard to deductions for losses. To be allowed, such losses must conform closely to the wording of the statute. Losses are deductible if incurred in the taxpayer's trade, business, or profession; in any transactions entered into for profit; or from fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualties, or by theft, if not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

The term "transaction entered into for profit" means any kind of business proposition. For example, a taxpayer purchases an automobile to be used for business purposes, which he sells at a loss. As this is a busines propoition from start to finish, the loss sustained is deductible. But if he had purchased the automobile to be used for pleasure or convenience, the deduction would not be allowable. It was not a transaction entered into for profit.

Business losses result, usually, from the purchase and sale of merchandise. Such losses usually are ascertained by means of inventories, which are required whenever in the opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue their use is necessary to determine the income of any taxpayer.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

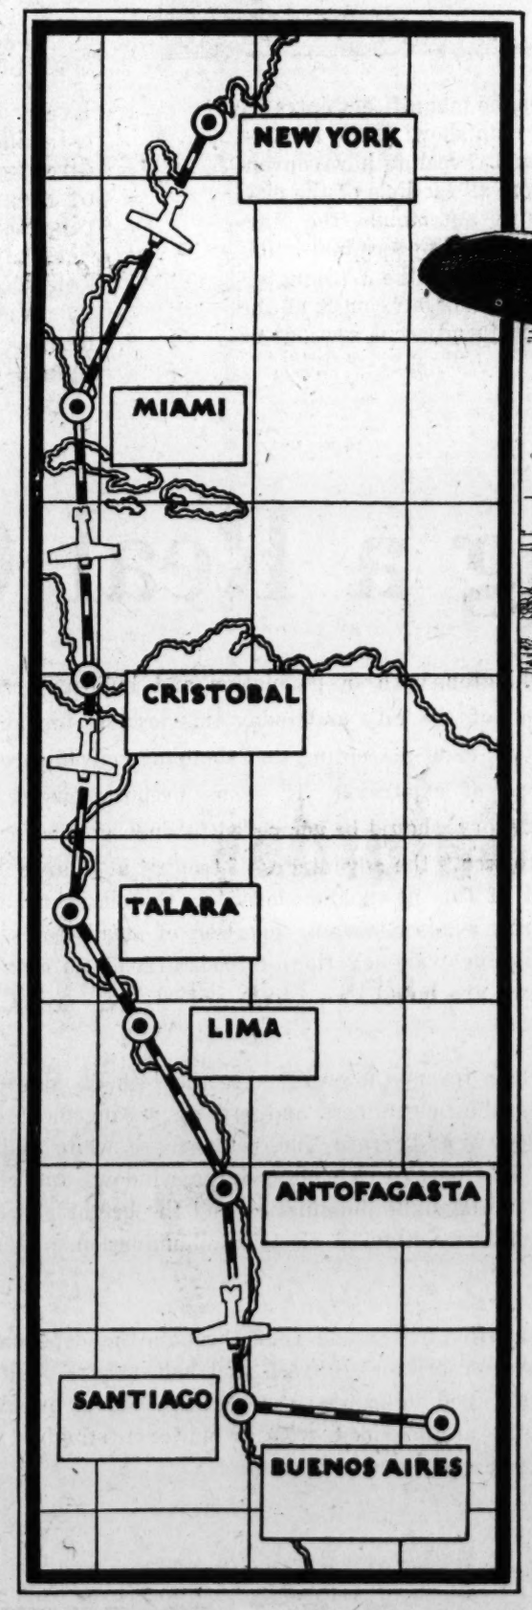
7000 MILES OVER LAND, SEA AND MOUNTAIN PEAKS ON "STANDARD" PRODUCTS ... IN RECORD TIME



Out of the freezing, early morning mists of the Metropolitan Airport, at Newark, N. J., rises a great white bird—a stream-lined Lockheed Vega. It has already flown more than 50,000 miles over two continents, and is off to span a third. Lieutenants White and McMullen have started for Buenos Aires, 7000 miles distant—18 days by the fastest steamship. Eight hours and a half later they land for STANAVO gas and oil in the semi-tropic city of Miami, with a new record for speed. Off the next morning for Panama. Not a landing field anywhere on the 1400 mile hop to the Canal. For the first time a plane makes a non-stop flight from Florida to the Canal. Safely they take off, the next day, from Cristobal for Peru, thence to Chile, and finally the perilous passage, 20,000 feet in the air, over the Andes to Buenos Aires. Not a miss in the motor over the full route. Perfect fuel and perfect lubrication.
"Standard" has helped break many records. From the first flight, when the Wright Brothers used "Standard" Gasoline to power their fragile plane, aviators have depended on "Standard."

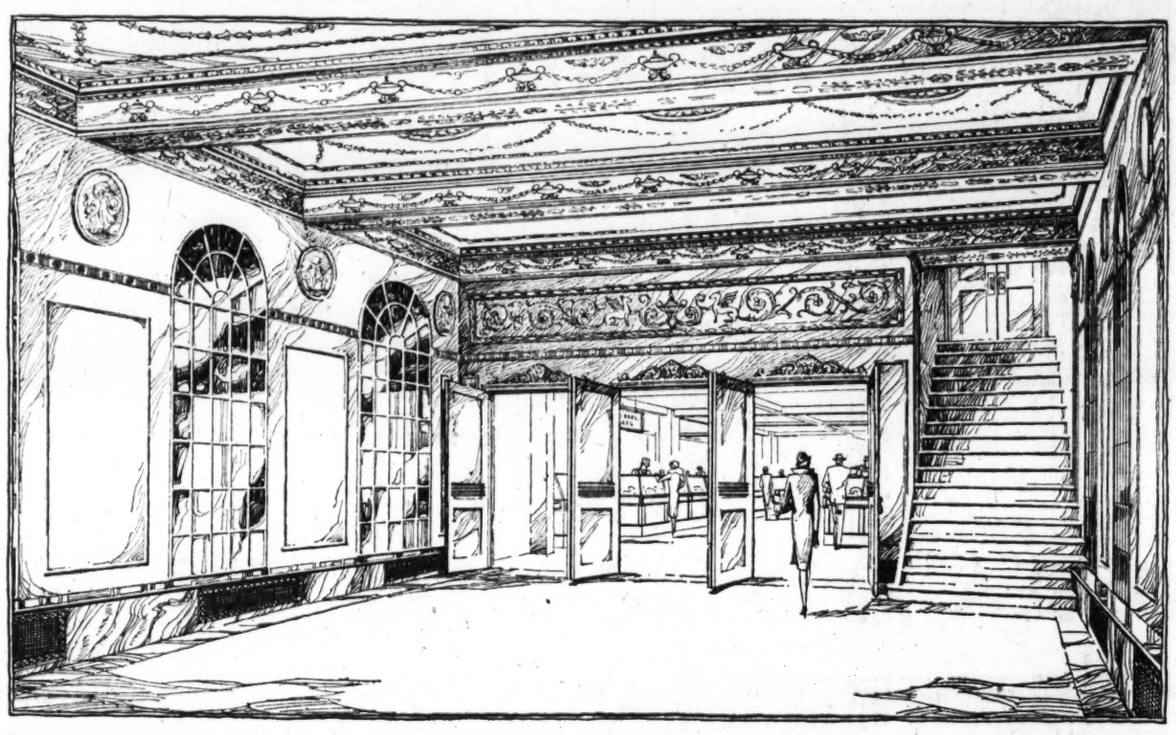
Quality, Economy and Convenience Meet at the

NEW 14th STREET MARKET



Opening Today!

The above illustration shows the magnificent entrance lobby while to the left is a map showing the location of the 14th Street Market and revealing how conveniently it may be reached from all sections of the city. In addition to accessibility by automobile, the Market is just across the street from the terminal building of both the 14th St. Car line and the Washington Rapid Transit Company, which operates most of the bus lines in Washington and to adjacent sections of nearby Maryland.

Every housewife recognizes the advantages of trading at a large establishment where she may choose from infinite variety, with direct comparisons of quality and price, and without the necessity of wearisome traveling from store to store to complete her shopping list. Washington has long needed large neighborhood markets offering such facilities (comparable to the old Center Market, soon to be torn down) and here is the answer to the demand. . . . Visit this NEW Market today—see for yourself how comprehensively and completely its various stands meet your requirements of quality, economy and convenience.

Serving a Real Community Need

The greatest growth in Washington, both in population and built-up area, has been in the northwest section of the city and today this area is for all practical purposes, a large city in itself excepting that shopping conveniences have not kept pace with the trend of expansion. It seems preposterous that the residents of so large a territory should be compelled to undergo the inconvenience of traveling downtown to secure the advantages of trading at a large market —and with the establishment of this new and modern store this situation has been remedied . . . This is not merely a miscellaneous collection of small stores, but a complete MARKET, affording the wide selection of foodstuffs on an economical basis, for which good markets are noted.

The spacious marble lobby which forms the entrance to the 14th St. Market is a fitting introduction to the sparkling cleanliness and orderly arrangement of the sales sections. The Market floor is of Terrazo Tile, ceilings are white and walls and bases of display stands a light buff brick. Many large windows and glassed-over first floor roof provide full daylight illumination and the bright and cheery appearance is maintained at night by diffused electrical illumination.

Every food need may be satisfied under one roof through the dependable services of the various stand proprietors. Fresh and salt meats, poultry, dairy products, groceries, sea food, delicatessen, vegetables, bakery products and a host of other specialties are provided with a uniform standard of courteous service, "quality, economy and convenience."

During Our Three Opening Days—Today, Friday and Saturday

It is but natural that we should wish to reward those who favor us with their patronage as we introduce ourselves to those whom we hope and expect will be our friends throughout the coming years . . . for this reason we ask all customers on these three days to present their sales slips to the lobby desk as they are leaving the store. On each day we will present $50 in trade allowance to the person whose slips total the highest amount expended; $25 to the person having the second highest total and $10 for the third highest total . . . $85 in trade allowances each day, or a total of $255 to be awarded during the three days of the formal opening.

"Where YOU Will Eventually Trade"

NEW MARKET HERE OPENS DOORS TODAY

Nearly All of 61 Stands in Northwest Building Are Occupied.

MANY FEATURES FOUND

Washington's newest and most modernly equipped market, known as the New Fourteenth Street Market, and located at Fourteenth and Buchanan streets northwest, will open today. Most of its 61 modern stands are occupied, and the new market will offer everything that the housewife can possibly need, all displayed in the latest and most scientific manner. Frederick J. Rice, prominent attorney and business man, is the owner.

Built by the Wardman Construction Co. for Mr. Rice, the new structure embodies every possible facility for modern marketing.

The ground floor contains more than 27,000 square feet of space in which will be placed 61 uniform stands, divided by aisles 9 feet wide. The main entrance is through a spacious marble lobby, opening to Fourteenth street. This lobby is attractively decorated and is equipped with telephone booths and with comfortable seats for waiting.

To facilitate the reception and shipment of foodstuffs, the building is surrounded on three sides by wide alleys and is equipped with ample platforms for loading and unloading goods.

Seeks Automobile Trade.

An appeal to the automobile trade is sounded in the acquisition of an adjoining lot which will be used to supplement the already ample parking facilities around the market.

In so far as possible, the new market is to be operated on a cooperative basis. A cooperative delivery system will be maintained which, in addition to saving a large amount of their delivery costs for the stand owners, will insure the quick and efficient delivery of goods to the customers. Extra trained help, suitable for use in any kind of market stand, will be maintained at all times by the market company so that a stand owner who needs additional help for any reason, can obtain it promptly. A certain percentage of the gross receipts of the market will be set aside each month for newspaper advertising for the entire market, so that each stand owner will participate. Finally, the market is in charge of a man who has had many years of experience in handling first-class markets and who will be able to advise the stand owners on any problem which may arise.

Stands in the market are uniform. They are built upon a light buff pressed brick base. For perishable foodstuffs, proper temperature will be maintained at all times by mechanical refrigeration, supplied from a central plant. The lower parts of the stands contain ample storage space which will effect a great saving of labor to the stand owner, enabling him to store his day's surplus in the stand instead of carrying it back to the cold storage department as is customary in many markets. This system will also prevent spoilage caused by bringing foodstuffs from a cold storage plant to a warm market stand.

Fish Stands Isolated.

Three fish stands, equipped with the most modern, sanitary fish cases available, and with ample facilities for cleaning fish in an atmosphere in which the air is constantly changed by the ventilation system, are completely partitioned off from the rest of the market.

The three wide alleys in the rear and at the sides of the building provide all the daylight possible, the end and walls of the building being fitted with glass and the first floor roof being of monitor construction. In addition to this daylight illumination, the market is equipped with powerful electric lights in fixtures arranged to diffuse the light throughout the market. The lighting is approved by the Society for Electrical Development.

The floor of the market is of terrazo tile, with white ceilings and walls of light buff pressed brick, to match the stand bases.

Heating is supplied by hot air circulated by fans and in the summer this same system will be used to insure a constant change of air throughout the market. Among other features are vegetable wash rooms, to reduce spoilage and add to the attractiveness of the display; a modern incinerator to dispose of the refuse, and ample storage space, locker rooms and lavatories.

Anticipation of the closing of Center Market, which will close June 30, 1930, according to latest announcements, was responsible for the building of the new market, Mr. Rice said. Its location was based upon the steady trend of the center of population in Washington toward the north and west.

Near Population Center.

The greatest growth in Washington, he points out, has been in the area bounded by Colorado avenue and Park road, and by the Soldiers' Home and Rock Creek Park. This section, he says, has probably outstripped any other in the city in the erection of new homes in the past ten years. Mr. Rice expects his market to be in the center of population within a very short period.

"The day of the one huge market has passed," he said. "Washington has reached a stage in her growth when one market would be totally inadequate and she must follow the example of other modern large cities an provide ample neighborhood markets. And these markets must be of the most modern type, equipped with every possible facility to make it possible for the stand owner to compete favorably with every class of merchant. Such a market, I believe, we have at Fourteenth and Buchanan streets."

The new market was designed by Milburn, Heister & Co., after a careful inspection of all the best markets in the East. The best ideas in each were adapted to the new building, and Washington has nothing else like it at the present time.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

There should be no mystery about the amber light. It is a warning that a change to red or green will take place within the next few seconds. The traffic regulations define the amber light as allowing an interval in which to clear the intersection if that can be done before the red appears. Otherwise one should stop.

No movement of standing traffic on the cross street is permitted until the amber light has been followed by the green. Violation of this rule is a dangerous practice. It is usually best to stop if more than 60 feet behind the intersection.

Example: As a driver nears an intersection he sees the amber light flash. He speeds up, but there is a change to red before he clears the crossing. He has violated the regulation.

Central Market Is Seen Superfluous for Capital

Ten-Community Establishment Declared to Meet All Needs of Washington; Proposed New Mart Held Tax Burden on District.

By FRED J. RICE.

Three years of agitation on the subject of a Farmers' Produce Market, a substitute for the Center Market and a Commission Merchants Row has cost Washington people, produce dealers, tax payers and local property owners millions of dollars in money; millions of hours in time wasted; it has tied up money in options; it has caused the expenditure of thousands of dollars needlessly and the end is not yet.

An important factor in the local market situation which could and should take a decided and positive step toward ending for all time the agitation in regard to a new Center Market and a Farmers Market is the Community Market.

There are, in Washington, ten community markets, eight of which are privately owned and all of which are sufficiently modern to meet present-day needs. The privately-owned markets represent, in the aggregate, about $2,000,000 of capital, the same sum that would be required to establish a new Center Market here.

Should a new Center Market be provided, these community markets may as well close their doors or be rented as junk shops, warehouses or garages. In either case the rentals would be so nominal that these properties would hardly have a market value, in the aggregate, of more than one-half their present value.

350 Stalls Available.

If Center Market were closed tomorrow, there would be available in already established community markets about 350 adequate stalls which would afford ample quarters for dealers now in Center Market and the dealers would be located in populous communities, with a ready-made clientele. In some cases, dealers from Center Market would, from the very beginning, enjoy a larger volume of business in their new field than at their old stand. They would be closer to the housewife and competition would not be so great.

Obviously, men representing large capital do not see a future for a Center Market here, else one would have been in the course of construction at this time. The whole tendency of the times has been to carry necessities to the housewife rather than have the housewife search for them.

The chain grocery stores, chain drug stores, chain hardware store, the neighborhood furniture store, haberdashery, paint store, laundry branch and many other types of business intimately connected with the home and the housewife have moved closer to the home.

A Center Market means traffic congestion and traffic hazards; our community markets will divide that traffic congestion into ten parts, reducing traffic hazards proportionately. A Center Market does not mean cheaper rents and cheaper food and produce, while a Community Market, with all stands rented, does mean cheaper rents and cheaper foods. They further offer the advantage to the housewife of a saving in time and food just as seasonal and fresh. They offer an intimacy and personal service element that a large Center Market never has and never can offer.

What Communities Represent.

Every tax payer, present and potential, should consider these facts as regards the Community Markets here:

	Normal Value Now	Value Rented	Enhance Value of Adjacent Property
14th St. Mkt.	$350.000	$500.000	$150.000
5th & K Sts.	500.000	700.000	1,000.000
Park View	300.000	450.000	150.000
Rizzs, P St.	200.000	300.000	100.000
O St. Mkt.	200.000	300.000	50.000
Sherby, M St.	50.000	75.000	25.000
Sherby, H St. NE.	50.000	75.000	25.000
Arcade Mkt.	750,000	1,000,000	300,000
	$2,400.000	3,400.000	2.000.000

We can safely add to these the Western Market at Twenty-first and K streets northwest and the Eastern Market, both owned and operated by the District of Columbia government. These markets filled would mean an appreciation in value of at least $100,000 to abutting property.

In a word, were Center Market dealers to find stands in community markets, it would mean about $3,400,000 more of property value on which revenue in taxes and licenses could be had for the District of Columbia for schools, streets, lights, playgrounds and general expenses. This from adjacent property and additional revenue added value of about $1,000,000 from the markets. Add to this certain revenues from licenses and a huge sum would be realized.

Would Cost $2,000,000.

To build a new Center Market would destroy this great potential revenue producer; it would take $2,000,000 from the taxpayers and put it in a Government-owned enterprise that would be not only tax free but would call for an appropriation annually to meet a well-nigh certain deficit.

A community market, with all stalls rented, would cause thousands of families to do their own marketing; families who do not now go to Center Market because of the elements of traffic, time and distance.

Each community market has nearby banking facilities; each has parking facilities, bus or street car transportation and delivery service. The public should be told of this.

Each community market is capable of being the nucleus of an important subbusiness section of the city, an area that would produce much revenue. With the Federal Government absorbing so many blocks of property now taxable and converting it to Government uses in a way that will lift it from taxation, the District of Columbia must look to other areas for taxes.

A Center Market, as proposed by some, would mean a tax on every woman and child in the city for its

MARKET IS PROJECT OF WASHINGTONIAN

Frederick J. Rice Is Native Who Has Attained to Civic Leadership.

IS COSMOPOLITAN HEAD

That the new Fourteenth Street Market will be a strictly Washington project is augured by the status of the owner, Frederick J. Rice, who is a native of Washington and has spent all of his active life in the Capital City.

Mr. Rice is a graduate of Georgetown University, where he received the degre eof LL.B. Admitted to the District bar, he was later made an assistant United States district attorney, a position he relinquished to take up private practice of law.

Mr. Rice took an active part in the work of the Columbia Heights Citizens Association, working for the betterment of conditions in that section. He was elected president of the Columbia Heights Citizens Association, a position he held for three years, and during that period helped to organize the Federation of Citizens Associations, which embraces similar organizations in all parts of the city and constitutes practically the only voice of the people in the voteless District of Columbia.

Mr. Rice is a past president of the Capitol Beneficial Association, a fraternal organization he headed five years.

Becoming interested in mausoleums, following visits to several cities which use this method of caring for their deceased rather than the usual cemetery, Mr. Rice promoted and built the Abbey Mausoleum, located in Arlington County, Va., just opposite Arlington Cemetery, and accounted one of the most beautiful specimens of this kind of work in the country.

When the Cosmopolitan Club, a luncheon organization, which is one of a large number of such clubs located in all parts of the United States, was formed here, Mr. Rice was invited to become a charter member. His active work for that organiza-

Electricity Used to Light, Heat and Cool New Market

Electricity will play an important part in the operation of the new Fourteenth Street Market. In addition to supplying light from the most modern fixtures obtainable, it will also plays a part in both the heating and cooling systems of the market.

Electricity will operate the fans which circulate the hot air throughout the market, keeping it at an even temperature in winter. It will also operate those same fans in the summer, keeping the air in constant circulation and adding greatly to the sanitary conditions of the market.

Foodstuffs will be kept fresh by electricity, which will operate a central refrigerating plant, leading to every stand in the market, and making of each stand an individual refrigerator, with a constant temperature scientifically determined as the best at which to maintain the freshness of the various foodstuffs displayed.

Electricity also acts as a labor saver at the stands, the refrigeration coils being installed in the base of the stands, which furnish large storage space and thus relieve the stand owner of the necessity of moving his wares to a central refrigerating plant at night.

"We are doing it electrically in every way possible," Frederick J. Rice, owner of the market, explains. "Modern marketing calls for the use of electricity in so many respects that I fail to see how a market was ever satisfactorily operated without it. It is used for almost every purpose in the market, from furnishing the motive power for ringing the cash register to supplying a light that rivals that of the sun and displays every marketable commodity to the best possible advantage.

"I believe that there is no other one thing that contributes so greatly to the effectiveness of the market as electricity, and it has decreased in price so greatly in recent years it hardly seems possible that any one can afford to operate any business without it."

HUNDREDS of elements contribute to the satisfaction of market service rendered by the purveyor of perishable foods. Principal among these is a scientific refrigerated display.

Striving to establish the highest standard of retail market service, THE FOURTEENTH STREET market selected Oriole Refrigerator display cases—which have proved the most satisfactory means of preventing food spoilage and completely discouraging an assembly of bacteria and other elements harmful to the public health.

Are You Making FULL USE of "Matchless Service" In Your Home ?

Is your home made attractive with modern and adequate lighting facilities and sufficient electric baseboard outlets ?

Do you realize at what small cost you can remove foul air, odors and steam from your home by means of small electric ventilators ?

Are you enjoying the advantages and benefits of electric refrigeration and the greater convenience and economy which it provides ?

WHEN Mrs. Thrifty Housewife goes shopping for her table supplies at the New 14th Street Market, she will doubtless be unaware of the important bearing which electricity has upon her purchases. But "Matchless Service" does play a very important part not only in the maintenance of the quality and purity of the foods she buys, but in the prices she pays for them. A bright, cheerful and inviting appearance is maintained by powerful electric fixtures so as to diffuse light evenly over the entire market area. Proper lighting makes the foods more attractive and enables the shopper to see exactly what she is buying.

Electricity is also the power behind the ventilating system which keeps the air fresh and pure and prevents foods from becoming contaminated during exposure while on display. It means that one can shop here in comfort and with a knowledge that everything purchased is clean and sanitary.

Again Electricity does its share in preventing food loss through spoilage, with the consequent saving to the housewife, by means of a special Electric Refrigeration system which maintains highly perishable foodstuffs, such as meats, fish, etc., at the proper temperature night and day.

Such practical use of "Matchless Service" in this modern market is not merely a good investment—it is a recognized necessity. But how much more important is its similar application in your own home, to which the same service is available—especially at the new prevailing low rates provided by—

STANDS INSTALLED BY BALTIMORE FIRM

New Market on Fourteenth Street Has Up-to-Date Refrigeration.

ADVANTAGES ARE CITED

Stands in the new Fourteenth Street Market were installed by Ottenheimer Bros., Inc., of Baltimore, manufacturers of the famous Oriole refrigeration. Installation of these stands alone involved a contract amounting to approximately $25,000, made through the Washington office conducted by Eanet & Yaffe, Inc.

Mounted on a light buff brick base, the stands are of the most modern glass construction, electrically equipped to maintain an even temperature, regulated by the stand owner to suit the product he displays.

Market stands in several cities were studied by the builders of the Fourteenth Street Market before finally awarding the contract to the Ottenheimer Bros.

In addition to the perfect refrigeration qualities of the stands, it is pointed out, they are beautifully designed to harmonize with the interior of the new market, and they afford an ideal method of displaying foodstuffs to the prospective customer.

The stands also provide, in the base, storage space for the owner to keep his products overnight, thus eliminating the necessity of transporting perishable goods to the central storehouse at night and back in the morning as is the case in many other markets.

tion resulted in his election as treasurer of the club and later he was made president.

Growth of the Cosmopolitan Club in this section, resulting in the establishment of clubs at Norfolk, Richmond, Newport News and Baltimore, led to the establishment of a Capital District Federation of Cosmopolitan Clubs, which held its first annual meeting here during the winter and elected Mr. Rice governor of the district. Gov. Rice is making preparations for the expansion of Cosmopolitanism in his district, which embraces the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia.

Mr. Rice served on the Government Draft Board during the war and was a member of the Hoover inaugural committee.

Youth Suffers Skull Fracture in Collision

Sidney Stokes, 19 years old, of 2801 Sherman avenue northwest, received a fractured skull late yesterday when he was knocked from the rear seat of a motorcycle by an automobile driven by Elizabeth Peyton, 27 years old, colored, of 917 P street northwest, at M and Twelfth streets. Upon examination at Garfield Hospital, Stokes' condition was said to be undetermined.

Leroy Edwards, 22 years old, colored, of the Sherman avenue address, who was operating the motorcycle, was uninjured in the collision.

construction and maintenance. Community markets are owned by private capital; the public is not taxed for their construction and maintenance. In a word, every family that buys a basket or carton of food from a community market reduces their own taxes and the taxes of their neighbor

Withdrawing From Business.

The policy of the United States Government has been to get out of every business that place the Government in the position of being in competition with private business. The Government went into the hotel business here only to meet an emergency. The Plaza Hotels are being torn down.

The Government should not pick a site for a Center Market and lay down an arbitrary law that the public must patronize that market.

The public, if offered the choice of eight privately owned and two Government-owned community markets would have a right to pick their market; they would have the choice of ten instead of one.

The population of the District of Columbia will be the same without a Center Market as it would be with a Center Market.

Should a new Center Market be built the Government would, in effect, penalize the family who patronizes a community market or any other market. The Government would say, "If you do not patronize our Center Market, we will raise your taxes to pay the deficit in overhead expenses." It also would have the Government saying, "the community markets here are inadequate and not worthy of your support, so we have provided a market for you."

Congress has authorized the building of a farmers' market in Southwest Washington. A group of stores for commission merchants has been built there and the District of Columbia appropriation bill carries $300,000 for a farmers' market.

Where Merchants Will Go.

A few commission merchants will go to Southwest Washington. Others will go to the Patterson tract in Northeast Washington, where construction is now in progress. A farmers' market will be established there. Some farmers will go to Northeast and some to Southwest. Other farmers will remain at Fifth and K streets northwst, where, since last February they have enjoyed a good business, both wholesale and retail. Some farmers have found stands at the community markets.

Every community market will make provision for a farmers' line, even though it attracts only a dozen or more farmers. This number will be sufficient to guarantee a certain amount of fresh poultry and eggs and fresh country vegetables from Maryland and Virginia.

Farmers will not be required to pay rental on stands when such stands are not actually used by them. Dealers in the community markets will be satisfied to have the farmers sell their produce and poultry at the community markets at wholesale and retail on regular market days—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday without protest as to rental charged the farmer.

What guarantee has the Government that the proposed Center Market will be fully or even partly rented and, if not, why speculate with the taxpayers' money when schools and other necessary public improvements are needed?

The present Center Market is fully rented because of its peculiar location and because of the fact that the tenants have a good will established over half a century. The tenants in the proposed Center Market would not have either advantage. Let us assume that the market would be fully rented and the stands a valuable franchise. Who would be entitled to the stands? The present tenants of the old Center Market who have enjoyed a special privilege for years, or some other taxpayer who may desire a stand?

The only fair method would be competitive bidding for stands and the result of this would be that the stands would be high, with the people paying the price.

MART MEETS NEED OF NEIGHBORHOOD

Section Seen as Center of Population of Capital in Near Future.

BEST MARKETS STUDIED

Washington's new Fourteenth Street Market is in no sense intended as a successor to the Center Market, it was made clear yesterday by those interested in the new enterprise. It is simply the answer to a demand for a market in a section which, the owners expect, will soon be the center of population of Washington.

In building the market, it was explained, representatives of the owner, architect and builders made trips to the best of the Eastern markets, seeking to obtain the most mdoern ideas for the new structure. While in other cities they studied the market situation and, it is stated, invariably found that the large, central market idea was being abandoned in favor of well constructed, modern neighborhood markets.

"We believe that the day of the one, huge market is past for a city the size of Washington," Frederick J. Rice, owner of the new market, said yesterday. "Other cities are replacing such markets with the more compact, modern neighborhood markets, and I think that Washington will come to their idea.

"As a matter of fact, the way the center of population has shifted in the past few years, it would not surprise me to find the Fourteenth Street Market eventually in the exact center of population for the District. This section of the city, I believe, has added more new homes than any other section in the past ten years. School facilities and the great business section of Fourteenth street, churches of every denomination, transportation and in fact everything that goes to make an ideal home section are combined in this area. It has grown, as it was bound to grow, and Washington is destined to grow still farther. I believe that growth will come in the direction of the new market.

"There are plenty of people in this area to support a market now, and if we can offer, as I think we can, superior foodstuffs at attractive prices, I see no reason why we should not draw trade from every section of Washington. If you give the people what they want, your business is bound to succeed. That is the principle upon which the new market is built and I would not be surprised to find shrewd buyers of foodstuffs from all parts of the city wending their way to the door of the Fourteenth Street Market.

"We are going to cooperate with our tenants. We expect to advertise the market and its products. We believe in advertising. We think printer's ink the most potent force in the world to make or unmake a business. Advertising will bring the people to our market and I'm sure, from assurances given me by the leaseholders of the various stands, that the quality of merchandise offered in our market will bring them back."

Market Has Easy Approach for All

Fourteenth Street Plant Is Accessible to Trolley Cars and Horses.

Transportation facilities were not overlooked in building the new Fourteenth Street Market.

The Washington Rapid Transit Co. has its bus terminal almost directly across the street from the market entrance and the bus service maintains a fast schedule from all parts of the city to this point during the entire shopping period.

The Fourteenth street line of the Capital Traction Co. passes the entrance of the market and the car barns are located at Fourteenth and Decatur streets, one block above. Thousands of people ride these two lines daily and each furnishes quick and cheap transportation right to the door of the market.

All the advantages of the downtown market are available at the new Fourteenth Street Market, stand owners declare, maintaining that it is as easy for a great portion of the population to come to Fourteenth and Buchanan streets as it would be to go downtown to market, and certainly, they declare, the Fourteenth street line of the Capital Traction Co. and the buses of the Rapid Transit Co. furnish as quick transportation as any lines in the city.

Woman Accused of Stabbing.

Testimonial Planned For Rev. J. M. Waldron

A testimonial in honor of the Rev. J. Milton Waldron, for 22 years pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church, who resigned the pastorate last summer, has been arranged by a citizens' committee for tonight in the Dunbar High School Auditorium. Tributes will be paid Dr. Waldron by Albert E. Shoemaker, Dr. W. S. Abernethy, Garnett C. Wilkinson, William P. Mahoney, Dean E. Butler Pratt, J. A. G. LuValle, Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, Eugene A. Clark and representatives of various associations.

Dr. Waldron increased the church membership at Shiloh from 600 to 1,750, and raised for church purposes, building construction, missions, education and benevolences, $330,000 exclusive of $92,000 received from the sale of church property, fire damages and loans. He organized the Alley Improvement Association and has been president of the Emergency Housing Association for several years.

CASH REGISTER BIG AID TO MERCHANTS

Enables Business Men to Keep Accurate Record on Money Taken In.

ALL DEMANDS ARE MET

The modern business man is confronted with a greater number and variety of problems than were even dreamed of by his predecessor of generations ago. Yet while the merchant of the older school was invariably the first to arrive at his establishment and spent long hours over his books after every one else had gone home for the day, the business man of today may choose his own hours while keeping more definitely and completely informed of the condition of his affairs.

This improvement in the business man's situation is largely due to improvement in merchandising methods, but more especially to the introduction of mechanical methods of accounting, foremost of which is the cash register.

By the employment of these machines a merchant is provided with an accurate record of money put into and paid out of his cash drawer. Before cash registers were made, sales facts and figures had to be obtained laboriously by hand. Then, when they were secured, there was no assurance that they were accurate. Today a merchant, or his employes, merely presses the keys of his cash register, which automatically adds and records his business figures into the proper classifications. The cash register records protect his profits against shrinkage or loss and provides better and faster service for customers while guarding against mistakes, carelessness and other human weaknesses.

As was natural, the advantages of a mechanical check on cash-drawer transactions was first recognized by a merchant who designed a machine to give him personal control whether he was in or out of his place of business. Another merchant tried out one of the original cash registers and although it was a very crude machine it gave him more control of his records than he had ever had. This merchant, the late John H. Patterson, founded the National Cash Register Co., which for nearly 50 years has kept pace with the diversified demands of modern business. This company now manufactures cash registers to meet the requirements of every type of business, from the smallest store to the large institution combining features of both cash and credit transactions, and also many other appliances for quick, convenient and accurate recording of business affairs.

1 Wash and dry fish, dredge with salt and flour (or cornmeal). Put Crisco into cold frying pan. To cook the fish without smoke or scorching, use enough Crisco to partly cover it. It will not require the constant attention frying does when only a little fat is used.

2 Put frying pan over low heat. As soon as Crisco is melted put in a small piece of bread. When bread starts to brown, put in the fish.

Crisco-fried fish—without smoke or odor

3 Cook slowly. When the fish is nearly done, turn to brown the other side. With plenty of Crisco in the pan the fish is easily turned without breaking, if you wait until it is almost done.

4 Strain the Crisco through cheesecloth or a fine sieve into an empty can and use it for the next thing you want to fry. No one will know you have fried fish in it.

WHEN you come to think of it, should you ever fry in a fat you are unwilling to taste?

You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your cakes, pies, hot breads, cookies and fried foods.

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

CRISCO was used in the Cooking School conducted by this paper last week.

Mrs. Frances Northcross, of The Post Cooking School, stressed the importance of modern cooking methods and modern ingredients. Naturally, then, she uses and recommends Crisco.

UNLESS the courts delay it, the action of the Radio Commission this week means a real beginning of telegraphic communication between cities in the United States without wires or telegraph poles. The Radio Corporation of America has been sending messages between New York and San Francisco by radio for a long time, as has the Postal.

However, now Universal Wireless, which has been exchanging messages between Chicago and New York, has been authorized by the commission to extend its network to other cities where it has erected stations, as have the RCA and the Press Wireless, Inc., handling newspaper dispatches, when their new stations are built.

The old Victor Buildings, at Camden, N. J., looked pretty big, but will be dwarfed by a new $5,000,000 structure covering two city blocks to be erected by the RCA-Victor Co. By the end of 1930 $11,420,000 will have been spent in plant expansions at Camden, where radiolas are now being manufactured. Heretofore they were made in General Electric and Westinghouse plants.

THE first series of the American Home Banquets, in which "Cheerio" incognito has been acting as toastmaster, will conclude tomorrow night. Thereafter it is expected the "Black and Gold Room Music" will be restored to WRC's dinner hour.

If the response is great enough, it is said a second series of the banquets will be put on.

The ideals of George Washington will be extolled by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution tomorrow morning at 10:15 o'clock over Station WMAL.

IF Gladys Rice doesn't cease singing "I've Got a Pain In My Sawdust," as she has been doing for about three years, she will soon be giving the radio listeners a pain in the same place.

Finding it dangerous to put a bunch of wise-cracking Hollywood picture actors before a microphone with no way of controlling or censoring their remarks, broadcasters are considering a further curb.

As yet, Variety reports, no way has been found to keep the stars from talking about themselves exclusively.

DECLARING it would kill it dead as a door nail, Bernard Shaw has put his foot down on broadcasting any part of his new play, "The Apple Cart," which opened in Baltimore this week.

Here's one broadcast by Rowland Lyon, George Washington University, '29:

Johnny—"Let's flippancy who'll pay for the drinks."

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TWO TREATMENTS OF T. B.

THE trend of the times in the present day, so far as the treatment of consumption is concerned, is toward trial of two procedures. One is specifics for vaccination and for cure. The other is what might be called specific dieting. It is the latter of these proposals that we are considering here and now.

The older dieting of consumptives was based on the theory that a well nourished man was in a condition to withstand consumption. The method pursued under this theory was to fatten consumptives by means of milk and eggs. This was pushed to the limits of digestion and appetite. This theory had much to support it. Under that method many consumptives were made resistant enough to throw off their disease. But we finally came to consider the means as an end and we rather over-fattened consumptives and sometimes crowded their digestive organs, kidneys and livers unduly.

The new proposal is that we use diets that are rich in needed vitamins and minerals and, in doing so we keep proteins, carbohydrates, and salt as low as can be done with due regard to the body needs. This method originated in Germany. At Saranac they reported good results in treating advanced consumption with a diet of this kind. The diet they use is what they call a base or alkali-ash diet. It is low in salt, proteins and carbohydrates and high in fats, milk and vegetables.

11 a. m.—One-half cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg yolk, 1 helping butter, 2 crackers.

1 p. m.—One cup vegetable soup, 1 potato, 1 helping peas, 1 of carrots and 1 of lettuce, 1 tablespoonful mayonnaise dressing, 1 slice bread, 2 helpings butter, 8 ounces milk.

4 p. m.—One cup cocoa, 1 slice bread, 1 helping butter.

6 p. m.—Two tablespoons rice, 1 helping lettuce, 1-inch cube cheese, 1 slice bread, 1 helping butter, 8 ounces milk.

8 p. m.—Four tablespoons oatmeal, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons cream, 1-3 ounce almonds.

This diet supplies 3,500 calories, and minerals, and vitamins in abundance. While a few of the foods, such as the bread, crackers and oatmeal, are acid-ash formers, there are enough alkali-ash formers included to much more than balance them and to easily maintain the body's alkali reserve.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Paris, Feb. 19.

WHERE is La Petite Francaise? "She's French—" and immediately every one pictured a little woman, slightly round, and if the truth must be told dumpy, although unquestionably vibrant and sparkling.

But, according to statistics, which have caused quite a lot of journalistic comment for the last few weeks, La Petite Francaise has added several wholesome inches to her stature, due, it is supposed, to more interest in outdoor sports, which she has learned from her English and American sisters, and better food and social conditions generally.

The International Beauty Contest recently held in Europe sent forth to show the world the modern version of feminine French beauty a Latin Diana 5 feet 8 inches in eight—not so tall, except by comparison.

* * * *

Littleness in women has always been delightful, but the statuesque woman, regardless of what might have been the reigning conception of the moment for feminine pulchritude, has always been admired. The woman who feels herself to be "too big" is fortunate and unhappy in her stupidity—the most simple question for such a statement being—too big for what? Preconceived ideas of beauty are not for thinking people.

* * * *

Mme. Joly, the skating champion of the world, had this lovely black velvet dress made for her to wear to America by the Maison Mag-Helly, which specializes in togging out celebrities. The novel embroidery at the neck, hem and sleeves was achieved with silk and crepe de chine circles.

'N then we saw a black velvet coat at Chateau Madrid, worn with white gloves and collared with white fox—and it just struck us both at the same time as being the coat that we hoped might be worn with this dress!

It is a most helpful leaflet, this week, because while you are following the easy directions to make a spring outfit for your little girl, you can really be gleaning a few ideas for yourself. It is smart and attractive and offers a variety of possibilities for a long life and a merry one, as little sister grows up and out.

Just send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet—an illustrated one—and see how many ways there are to grow up—and not out!

And we might remind you again of the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Sunday Washington Post.

What Today Means to You

"PISCES."

IF February 20 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 8:40 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon and from 7 p. m. to 8 p.m.

The full value of the harvest reaped on this date will not be appreciated until later on. Unusual and vivid experiences are presaged and the day will long be remembered. You will arise full of pep and vim, and will go at things in a "winning" spirit.

The child born on this February 20 will open its eyes on a world of which it is augured to see a large portion. It will be endowed with the spirit which was essential to our pioneers—it will have courage and perseverance.

You have chosen a most trying and most unappreciated role to play in life, albeit it may be an unselfish one. You not only do your own duty, but assume duties which belong to other people, for which you probably receive ingratitude. If there is a sacrifice to be made, you speedily bid for the privilege of making it. You are a self-appointed martyr, and there are no good people who receive so little sympathy.

As you never consider yourself, you are usually so overworked and rushed that your nerves are frayed at the edges. You are too tired and too worried to be an optimist. You consider yourself an unlucky creature. "The gods have a special (down) upon you." You keep your fingers nimble, but the same can not be said of your mind. You are efficient and you are good, but you are not interesting or cheerful.

If you be a woman, you will make a devoted wife and an indefatigable mother—you will give yourself altogether to your family. Your own slavish ways will tend to make your family selfish, and your efforts are probably not appreciated. If you choose to be a doormat—others will let you! Can not you strike a happy medium? Assert your rights and take your proper place, before it is too late!

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

ALTHOUGH this column has not by any means been dedicated to the celebration of the various successes achieved by Horace Heidt and his Californians, a communication from Mr. H. Wolf Kaufman, No. 5 Rue Boudreau, Paris, may be of interest to those who enjoyed the band's comparatively recent engagement on F street.

The letter, dated February 11, is in part as follows:

"One of the most sensational successes ever witnessed in Monte Carlo was registered last night by Horace Heidt's Californians, who just opened a ten-week engagement at the municipal casino there.

"The American band is appearing in Europe at the highest salary ever paid an American group of the same sort and was welcomed with much applause by one of the most brilliant of continental audiences on their first appearance last night.

"Among the many titled people present were Lord Deramore, Lord and Lady Cochrance, Lady Musgrave, Lady Fulton, Sir Harry and Lady Samuel, Lord and Lady Bethell, with their daughters, the Hon. Dorothy and the Hon. Phyllis Bethell; Lady Waleran, Sir George and Lady Piggott, Sir William and Lady Farworth Jones, Sir Walter de Frece, the Baroness Orczy and Lady Towle."

While I am fully cognizant of the fact that the Fox organization has been plenty harassed of late, I do wish it would make up its mind once and for all about this here now "Happy Days" business. The musical revue, enlisting the entire Fox contract personnel, has been penciled in as a standard width film production, has been yanked and allegedly held for the honor of introducing the 70 mm. Grandeur celluloid, has been set in again and yanked again, until one guess is as good as another as to precisely what is the ultimate destiny of the thing.

At the moment, it is booked in as the standard width attraction for the week beginning March 1. It seems that the Grandeur equipment is going to be a little too long getting here to make the delay in showing "Happy Days" a profitable gamble. Which makes several kinds of monkey out of this and one or two other motion picture departments!

Mr. Andy Sharick, managing director of the Rialto, pinch-hitting as publicist upon the departure of Howard Lichey to other fields of activity, stops in to remind me that on Saturday, the 22d, Washington's Birthday, he is screening another special juvenile program at 9:30 a. m., in conjunction with the Knighthood of Youth department of The Sunday Post. The attendance at these specially assembled bills has grown to a point where the capacity of the theater is taxed.

It comes as somewhat of a surprise that Stephen Vincent Benet's dialogue for the proposed "Abraham Lincoln" film, to have been directed by David Wark Griffith, was deemed altogether too sentimental and too academic to serve its intended purpose, and the making of the picture has been temporarily abandoned on that account. It is my understanding that it is to be rewritten by some other writer than the author of "John Brown's Body." The entire affair has so disheartened "D. W." that he is reported to be leaving the distinguished fold of United Artists.

Next week's attractions in the picture palaces come to me something like this: Metropolitan, Richard Barthelmess and Constance Bennett in Rex Beach's "Son of the Gods;" Columbia, Greta Garbo in "Anna Christie;" Fox, George O'Brien and Sue Carol in "The Lone Star Ranger;" Rialto, Mary Nolan in "Undertow;" Earle, Edward Everett Horton and Patsy Ruth Miller in "The Aviator;" RKO-Keith's, Helen Twelvetrees and Fred Scott in "The Grand Parade;" Palace, Conrad Nagel and Louis Wolheim in "The Ship From Shanghai."

Boy, take this bucket and go out and get me a mess of last lines!

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

Jellied Canned Pineapple With Added Pectin and Acid.

(Bureau of Home Economics, Department of Agriculture.)

1 pound finely cut canned pineapple.
1¼ pounds sugar
½ cup lemon pectin extract
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Drain the pineapple free from juice, then cut (do not grind) into very small pieces. Place in a bag made of four thicknesses of cheesecloth, and squeeze slightly to remove any remaining liquid.

Mix the fruit, sugar, and lemon juice well together and heat over a low flame until the sugar is dissolved When the mixture begins to boil, increase the heat, and boil vigorously for one minute with constant stirring. Remove from the stove, skim, add the pectin, and stir from time to time until somewhat cool.

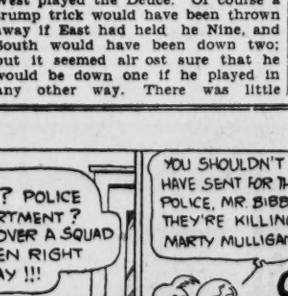
Baby Mine

WORK ON BRIDGE

INTERESTING HANDS I HAVE MET.



THE BIDDING.

South bid four Hearts at Contract Bridge, a bold and perhaps unwarranted declaration; but he felt his honors justified the risk of going down one, and he did not want to take the chance of playing with less than a game contract. He made his contract, but with the weak dummy he received it needed more than the average measure of good fortune to enable him to do so.

In Auction Bridge South's one Heart would have been overcalled by West with Diamonds; West, however, would not bid high enough to force South above two or three Hearts at the most.

THE PLAY.

In the play West started by leading three rounds of Diamonds. South ruffed the third with an honor, Declarer appreciating that with two Diamond tricks lost and one Club that must be lost, he must take three Spades to make game. There was little chance of doing this unless he led Spades twice from dummy; and the only way to enter dummy twice was to win with the trump Eight as well as the Jack.

Consequently he was obliged to take the desperate chance of leading a small Heart from closed hand and playing the Eight from dummy when West played the Deuce. Of course a trump trick would have been thrown away if East had held he Nine, and South would have been down two; but it seemed air ost sure that he would be down one if he played in any other way. There was little chance, with long Diamonds in the West hand and a total of seven Spades in the two adverse hands, that East held King and one and West five small Spades. With that distribution, only one Spade lead from dummy would be necessary, and dummy's Jack of Hearts would furnish that lead. But the chance of the 5-2 Spade distribution with West on the long end and with the King held by East was too remote to warrant serious consideration, so the trump experiment had to be tried.

BRIDGERS, ATTENTION!

Because of space limitations the answers given in our great, Milton C. Work Home Bridge Contest which ended recently are necessarily abridged, but in order to satisfy the intense interest in the Questions and Answers, Mr. Work has prepared a splendid 48-page booklet entitled, "Playing Problems," which reproduces the eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding, with the reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reasons for such answers in complete detail, all written in Mr. Work's clear and interesting style.

This booklet, "Playing Problems," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement, with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Her Rival?

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I have been reading your column with interest, and hope to hear from you in my case. I came from the South and have been here a month and have not read of my case or anything like it. I hope you can help me. This is my story:

I have been married for three years, and have a small baby. I do not feel as though I can be happy. My husband does everything he can for me, but he is not satisfied with me. I feel as though there is another one dearer in his life. He works in one of the leading offices in town. They stop working at 5 p. m. and he never gets home before 6:30 and when we first came he got home at 5:45 p. m. At least three evenings a week he returns at 7 p. m. He goes out three and four evenings a week and stays out until 12 and 1 o'clock.

I am at a loss to know what to do. I would love to make him happy if I could. I thought that when baby came he would be better. He does not seemingly care for him at all. To me he is dearer than life itself. Can you tell me what he does in the evenings and after office hours? He says he is with his boy friends and he also says he is at his relatives, but never wants baby or me with him. He says he loves me.

Will you kindly answer my letter in your column, as I do not want him to know I sought you for advice. We get the paper every day and I would be so grateful for your help. Thank you for kind attention and advice to a stranger in your town.

"TESS."

So you have a perfect mental picture of your "rival" just because your husband is the typical 1930 brand of selfish youth! Well, there is no one "dearer in his life" unless it is the Queen of Trumps. My dear child, if you were around men in business you would understand what happens to that hour and a half that elapses between 5 and 6:30. First the baseball scores have to be discussed, then the boss has to be thoroughly gone over for the nine hundredth time, then the cost of gasoline, and whose car is better than worse. My child, if women talked as much as men do, there would never be a dinner served on time.

Don't worry about the office. Have your dinner at 6:30 instead of 5:45 and quit fussing.

The other matter is sheer selfish-thoughtlessness. Tell your husband that you want him to take you out in the car after dinner. Do not ask. Tell him that you wish it. Do not whine or nag. Just be a little dignified about it and mysterious. Do not ask him if he loves you. Act as if you had forgotten the word love was in the dictionary. If he does not take you out, then leave the house about 15 minutes before dinner time and let him sit dinnerless for a while, wondering where you are. When you come in tell him you needed diversion and found it.

SCOTT HOISTS EYEBROW AT SOCIETY

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

MIAMI, Feb. 19.—Far be it from me to give advice to a group of men who are about to collect $350,000 from the customers for a group of unimportant prize fights, but I still insist that Fainting Phil Scott, of England, made a serious social error when he turned down the invitation of Neddie Hutton, of the Palm Beach, Battle Creek and Wall Street Huttons, to perform his practice sprawls on the parlor floor of the Hutton manse in Palm Beach. Fainting Philip was of more than half a mind to accept this hospitality, even though the Huttons' parlor floor is paved with emeralds and diamonds which might have chafed his shoulder blades. But the Miami Chamber of Commerce or somebody connected with the boosting department of this place, insisted that inasmuch as the boxing match between him and Jack Sharkey is to be held here, Philip owed it to Miami to train here, too.

They offered to scare up a local millionaire to serve as his host and social sponsor during his sojourn in Miami as compensation for the Hutton proposition, but that seems to have been only a lure to get him away from Palm Beach. He is now working out in a waterlogged and very rickety wooden arena about the size of a hotel room, half a block up a side street from the palmy, balmy park along the bay, with no personal millionaire to guide him. The spectators who gather on the moldy slats of the arena to watch him apathetically, while peeling the hide from their sunburned forearms, are persons who would be very de trop socially with the Huttons' ash man.

Spectators Drowsing And Peeling in Sun

The spectators around the plant, with the exception of James F. Johnston, his manager, wealthy Will Carey, of the Garden Corporation and some dressy sport writers, were a common, scratchy lot. They sat there, drowsing and peeling in the sun, no assemblage to inspire an artist to fine things, in gloomy contrast to the stylish public that Fainting Philip might have acquired if he had accepted the Huttons' invitations to Palm Beach.

Johnston, owner of the American rights to Fainting Phillip, bustled up to his fellow as he finished accouterring himself and pumped him four or five short swats in his lower abdomen, whereat some vulgar character in the background exclaimed "What are you boys doing, practicing fouls?"

They are taking up prize fighting in serious way in Palm Beach this year \d the weekly bouts in the slum of est Palm Beach are what the society reporters call quite the most diverting activity on the calendar. For one thing, the socially refined millionaires seem to have gone in for economy as a whimsy or fad and one may give a prize-fight party for 30 or 40 guests at very little cost.

Socially Refined Love To See Print.

And, then again, say what you may, the socially refined chaps do seem to enjoy seeing their names in the papers with patrons of various pugilists. It gives one a sense of condescension I suppose. To subsidize a common prizefighter for the lark of the thing and always fancy these Huttons, Drexel-Biddles and Van-What-Nots as saying to themselves that democracy is great fun once a week.

I am told that the society ladies up yonder have adapted themselves to the sport with great enthusiasm and even yelled like hussies the evening when one little preliminary boy, from God knows where, on being introduced from his corner, threw back his bathrobe with a flourish and fainted dead away at discovering that he had plumb forgotten his tights.

Society people are much to be preferred to the itchy public, who sit in the cramped bleachers at Fainting Phil's training quarters here, sloughing their skins like snakes in August and yawning and reaching inside their shirts.

One night recently I met a society lady myself and was much impressed.

Grandpa Was So Exclusive.

She fell to telling the lady with me what a zealous devotee of sport she was. This was after she had told all about her second butler and her

Miami Match Will Not Be Broadcast

Garden Rules Against Radio at Sharkey-Scott Clash.

Briton Boxes Seven Rounds; Sailor Practices Shift.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

MIAMI, FLA., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—After a day of brisk workouts among the combatants, Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, announced tonight that there will be no broadcast of the second annual flatic carnival of the palms on the night of Thursday, February 27. Bruen, after a conference with William F. Carey, Garden president, discarded original plans to put the boxing show on the air. Some technical arrangements, as a matter of fact, already had been made, but Bruen said the decision was final, making it emphatic that this announcement was not being made as a ballyhoo measure, to be rescinded at the eleventh hour, when no further risk to the ticket sale would be involved.

"This is a business project and we cannot afford to have the radio interfere with it, much as we might like personally to do so for the benefit of those who could not, under any circumstances, come here to see the fights," said Bruen.

Last year's show in Miami Beach between Stribling and Sharkey was broadcast and the Garden management, before and since the death of Tex Rickard, has put most of the outdoor fights on the air.

Rickard Contended Radio Hurt.

Rickard, however, always contended that it hurt business, once suggesting that radio fans should pay 25 cents apiece for the privilege of listening in. The present Garden control holds a similar view of its effect, though it is understood considerable pressure will be brought to bear for a radio hook-up.

Raindrops and flipflops featured today's workouts, which attracted greater attention than usual because of the exhibition of more participants in the immediate Miami and Miami Beach area. Between showers Phil Scott went through nine brisk rounds, but brought a roar from the onlookers when he was tumbled to the canvas in a sparring session with the veteran Canadian, Jack Renault. The mishap to the Briton was due more to a shove than any steam in Renault's punches. Phil was backpedaling at the time and his upset was facilitated by the fact that he tripped partly over his own feet and a cresse in the ring canvas.

He got up to hammer Renault around the ring and complete a nine-round workout in which he engaged six sparring mates, including Jack Demave and Babe Hunt.

Sharing the spotlight for the first time with Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach, Victorio Campolo, who opposes Johnny Risko in the semifinal, exhibited a terrific right-hand punch against three work mates, two of whom lasted less than a round and a half. One of these, George Meron, of New York, sent Victorio back on his heels with a smash to the chin in the first few seconds, but that was the last punch he landed and he quit with a damaged right arm after a few seconds of the second round Risko's exhibition at Miami was postponed until Friday and Johnny continued his daily work at Hollywood.

Practicing a shift from which he shot a right to the body, Sharkey went four fast rounds against Johnny Grosso and Pierre Charles, the Belgian. The Boston sailor will not work tomorrow, but Scott, with his complete retinue of managers and sparring partners, will accompany a big party to Palm Beach for a joint workout with Tommy Loughran in an especially arranged society meeting at the exclusive Oasis Club. Tea will be served, with dancing afterward in the patio.

Four Capital Colleges Clash for First Time With 1-Mile Relay at C. U. Meet as Medium

G. U., Md., G. W. and C. U. Athletes to Compete.

GEORGETOWN, Maryland, Catholic and George Washington will meet in the same athletic contest for the first time in history at the indoor track meet to be held on March 12 by Catholic University.

This was learned yesterday upon announcement from the four schools that each would send relay teams and individuals into the meet, which is to be the first indoor track competition in Washington since 1925.

In all likelihood the four schools will be represented in the 1-mile college relay race, while it is probable that Georgetown and Catholic will clash in the 2-mile relay. In the latter event, however, Georgetown is certain to enter a team, while Catholic's chances of doing so depend on the prospects developed in the training of Coach Griffith's squad during the next two weeks.

George Washington has not as yet started track practice, but hopes to have its spiked-shoe devotees working out by next Monday. The Colonials Will Start Track Work Monday at Hilltop.

Colonials have been permitted the use of Georgetown's board track for training purposes and they plan to hold their sessions in the late afternoon after the Hilltoppers have finished their practice.

Maryland and Georgetown already have 1-mile teams ready for action. Georgetown has two 1-mile quartets and will enter its second team in the C. U. meet owing to previous designation of its first combination to compete in a race at New York on the same date.

It is expected that each of the four colleges mentioned above will enter athletes for all of the open events on the program as well as those closed for colleges. American University will enter Orville Targee in the open 50-yard dash.

Boxing Bill Defeated By Virginia Delegates

Richmond, Va., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—A bill to legalize boxing in Virginia was defeated in the House of Delegates today by a vote of 55 to 39 after a short but spirited debate.

Proponents of the bill contended that the measure merely legalizes boxing now being participated in at Virginia colleges. Opponents objected on the grounds that the bill would legalize prize fighting. The bill was introduced a number of days ago in the House.

Simpson, along with a number of other United States athletes, plans to compete in the Canadian indoor championships at Toronto tomorrow night.

N. B. A. Asks Dempsey To Explain His Status

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The National Boxing Association, through John W. Driskill, secretary, today asked Leonard Sachs, manager of Jack Dempsey, to obtain a statement in writing from the former world's heavyweight boxing champion as to just where he stands in the fight picture.

Driskill said the N. B. A. would not recognize the winner of the Sharkey-Scott encounter as world's champion, and would not recognize a champion until at least one more fight after that. In the meantime, Driskill said, the N. B. A. wants to know whether Dempsey intends to fight again, whether he is willing to fight again, or whether he is through.

Driskill said N. B. A. officials feel Dempsey and Max Schmeling, German contender, are entitled to consideration before a champion is decided, and that even if Schmeling should fight and defeat the winner of the Sharkey-Scott go, he would not be declared champion by the N. B. A. if Dempsey was still in the picture.

Driskill said Sachs told him he believed Dempsey would furnish the statement soon, definitely declaring his attitude on further competition.

Five members of the club and Scout Johnny Nee are now in the city.

George Pipgras, who makes his winter home here, arrived in December. Benny Bengough, midget catcher, came here from Niagara Falls last week.

He served as a judge in the Bert Finch-Jeff Carroll heavyweight contest along with E. A. Guggenheim, copper magnate, and Billy Debeck, comic-strip illustrator.

Carolina Five Defeated by Maryland

Old Liners Stage Last Half Rally to Gain 29-22 Victory.

Trail at Half, 14-12; Gaylor, Berger and Radice Shine.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Feb. 19.—Displaying a great second-half comeback, Maryland took a stubborn Southern Conference battle from North Carolina here tonight, 29 to 22. Maryland won an earlier game played on the Tarheels' Northern invasion.

Long shots kept the Tarheels out in front all the first half, with the score 14-12 at intermission, but Gaylor, high scorer; the flashy center, Berger, and the speedy Radice led a fast-passing second-half attack that the Tarheels failed to stop.

Tom Alexander, newcomer into the Tarheels' line-up, again led the Carolina scorers with four field goals, mainly on long shots. Marpet and Dameron excelled on defensive play. Play was fast but not overrough.

Referee Knight called six personals on Maryland and seven on Carolina, the Old Liners shooting five and missing 3, and the Tarheels shooting 4 and missing 3.

Gaylor's Goal Ties Score.

Maryland tied the score on a shot by Gaylor in the first minute of the second half and forged ahead when Berger rang a foul goal.

Alexander shot a long looper to give the Tarheels a momentary 16-15 lead, but Gaylor looped a foul and Berger sank a goal from midcourt to give the Old Liners a lead which they maintained to the end.

Golden Prince, Winner Of Coffroth, on Block

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—With the Agua Caliente Handicap, with $100,000 added, only about a month away, it was announced today that Golden Prince, cofavorite with Victorian for honors in the big racing event, will be sold Sunday at public auction.

Golden Prince, winner of last year's Coffroth Handicap, now supplanted by the Agua Caliente Handicap, is owned by Abe Bartelstein, of Chicago, and Harry Unna, trainer for the stable. Unna brought the great runner from comparative obscurity to the climax that came with the winning of the 1929 Coffroth. Golden Prince started off this season in nice shape, winning the $10,000 Speed Handicap of six furlongs February 2. Golden Prince is a 6-year-old gelding by Golden Guinea and Round the World.

C. U. Freshmen Win Over Franklins, 45-27

Revenge for an earlier defeat—the first of the season—was obtained by the Catholic University Freshmen last night when they easily downed the Benjamin Franklin quitet, 45 to 27, in Brookland Gymnasium. In a previous meeting, Ben Franklin won by 37 to 27.

From the opening the Freshmen were in command. They led at intermission, 21 to 7, and managed to walk away from the Accountants after the latter drew close on a spurt in the fourth quarter. Jim Carney, with 15, points, led the winners' offensive. Sherman's foul tossing featured for Ben Franklin.

Lumpkin, Ban Lifted, Signs for Ironton Bout

Portsmouth, Ohio, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The Portsmouth Boxing Commission announced today that Roy "Father" Lumpkin, former Georgia Tech football star, has signed to fight Dick Powell, Ironton, Ohio, on or before April 18, probably at Ironton.

Lumpkin returned here from Atlanta several days ago to have the National Boxing Association lift an indefinite suspension placed against him at the request of the Ironton commission when he failed to meet Powell in a bout which the Ironton commission said had been previously arranged. The commission announced today it had lifted the suspension.

The Portsmouth commission said that the Ironton organization has agreed to request that the suspension be lifted and Lumpkin plans to go South immediately to arrange a series of fights.

He is to meet a member of the Chicago Bears Football Team at Chattanooga, February 24, and will fight Lockjaw Pike, of Harlan, Ky., at Knoxville, March 6. He will later meet Hollis Morris, former University of Georgia football player.

14TH DEFEAT IN ROW FOR C. U. FIVE

Hopkins Wins, 33-30; Cardinals Gain Early Lead.

AFTER making a sensational start during which they threatened to run away with the game, Catholic University's Five last night fell back into the poor form that marked its previous thirteen successive defeats and took another loss, this time from the John Hopkins Quintet, 33-to-30, on the Brookland court.

With Jim Hanley and Ed O'Brien sending the ball through the net along with the dependable Joe Walsh, Catholic piled up a 17-to-6 lead before the first half was half finished. O'Brien, who rarely takes a shot, and who more rarely scores when he does, dropped in two field goals in this drive. Hanley caged three fielders and Walsh three fielders and a free toss.

Baltimoreans Gain Lead.

Then Hopkins' heavy artillery got the range with Pasarew, White and Stude succeeding on long shots. This enabled the Baltimoreans to draw up to a 14-to-17 count as the whistle sounded intermission.

Continuing their attack in the early moments of the second half, the Blue Jays overhauled the Cardinals and remained in front until the close. Goals by Hanley, O'Brien and Ambrose in the last two minutes gave the home boosters hopes of victory but with the last minute ticking away Hopkins held the ball in the back court to safeguard its lead.

Mesmer Is Banished by Referee Following Comment.

Technical Foul Shots Give Middies Edge; 5,000 See Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19.—In a game which resembled football rather than basket ball, and which was devoid of skill, the Naval Academy team today won its annual game from Georgetown University. The score was 37 to 29.

Play was marred by the arguing of the visiting team and action was stopped five times to give Capt. Colestock, of the Middies, free flips at the net. Four of the technical fouls were called on Mesmer, guard, who finally was banished from the game by Referee Brennan, of Baltimore, for "conduct unbecoming a college player," following some cryptic comment from Mesmer. The fifth foul was called on the entire personnel on the Georgetown bench. Navy received two extra free flips when Hilltop players failed to keep their feet off the line as the Middies were tossing penalty goals.

Foul shooting decided the contest. Navy made 15 of 23 chances, 8 being credited to Capt. Colestock. Georgetown sank 3 of its 12 foul shots.

In the second half Georgetown appeared to find itself without Mesmer and with two minutes remaining to play crept to within 4 points of the Midshipmen, the score being 33 to 29. In this assault, Shea, playing center, ran away from the Middy leader for four field goals to cut the Navy margin, which had appeared gigantic. Two Navy substitutes, Bowstrom and Freshour, were sent in at the crucial moment and both looped field goals from difficult range to settle the issue decisively.

Navy Leading, 23 to 11, At Half.

In the first period scoring came rapidly. Georgetown hung on to the Middies at 5 to 5, due to two field goals by Mesmer. Meanwhile Colestock of Navy, got loose for nine consecutive points in the process of which Dillon fouled him thrice. Dillon was forced from the game on fouls.

Navy led, 14 to 5, after twelve minutes. In the final minutes of the half, McCarthy, Morris and Mesmer sank points which reduced Navy's half time lead, 23 to 11. For a time after Dillon's removal, Navy exhibited a high-powered attack which literally swept the Irish off their feet. The Midshipmen flashed first class basket ball at stages, completely outclassing the Hilltoppers. Play was rough and the contest was difficult for the arbiters to handle.

However, the second half began slowly, with the roughness abated somewhat. After eight minutes more of play, Navy held a 31-to-18 lead. It was at that stage that Mesmer, who was Georgetown's star up to that point, wrangled with the referee and finally was ejected.

Meanwhile the 5,000 persons present had taken up the issue from their respective stands and excitement

Bobby Jones Has 70; Tourney Opens Today

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—More than twoscore professional and amateur golfers, led by Bobby Jones, national open champion, took a practice swing around the country club course here today in preparation for the 72-hole $3,000 open tournament starting tomorrow.

The Atlanta lawyer-golfer, playing his first tournament round of the 1930 campaign, stroked his way over the difficult par 74 layout in 70, four under standard figures. However, Bobby required two strokes more than did Horton Smith, of Detroit, and Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., who were members of a five-some, which also included Al Espinosa, veteran Chicago pro, and Dr. C. F. Holton, Savannah amateur entry.

Dudley and Smith, paired together against Jones and Espinosa, collected birdies all over the premises to post scores of 68 each. Espinosa had a 72, while Dudley shot a 78.

SOUTHPAW PITCHERS ARE EFFECTIVE IN AMERICAN

Have Winning Average of .482 Despite Edge of Batters.

American Southpaws, Led by Zachary, Have .575 Mark.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IT IS an accepted fact in baseball that left-handed pitchers are more effective against southpaw batters and that right-handed club-swingers hit the portsiders more consistently than they do moundmen who pitch in the orthodox manner. This being the case, with a majority of the heaviest hitters in the game being left-handers, the southpaw twirlers or "crooked arms," as the players call them, have the edge.

This was not the case in the National League last season, however, for, of the 19 left-handed flingers who were able to last at least 45 innings, only 7 had winning percentages of better than .500. They turned in 76 victories as against 53 losses, for an average of .589. The other 12 lost 121 games while winning but 86, pulling the grand percentage down to .482.

The American, however, appears to be a great league for southpaws. Of the 17 lasting as many as 45 innings, 10 broke the fifty-fifty mark, winning 124 games to 70 losses for a .628 mark, while the remaining seven scored 45 wins as against only 55 losses, for a .450 rating, making the grand average nearly .600—.575, to be exact.

Braxton and Brown In Select Group.

Among those in the select class were Garland Braxton and Lloyd Brown, of Walter Johnson's Washington troupe. These two, along with Emil Yde, of Detroit, and Jess Sweetland, of the Phillies, deserve special mention because they were the only ones in their leagues named who had second-division clubs behind them.

The biggest disappointments of the season in the southpaw brigade were Herb Pennock, of the Yankees; Watson Clark, of the Dodgers; Percy Jones, of the Braves; "Wee Willie" Sherdel, of the Cardinals, and Eppa Rixey, of the Reds. The only ones of this quintet not having the alibi that they had poor teams behind them were Pennock and Sherdel. They simply were off form.

In 1928, Pennock won 17 and lost 6, for a percentage of .739, while his best last season was a .450 average as a result of winning 9 games and losing 11. After winning 21 and losing 10, for a .667 percentage in 1928, Sherdel had to be satisfied with a 1929 average of .400, being charged with 15 games and credited with only 10 victories.

Whitehill and Shaute Fail to Shine.

Whitehill, of Detroit, and Shaute, of Cleveland, both veterans, also failed to shine. Whitehill gave Manager Harris good service, however, participating in 38 games and going the route in 18. His final average was but .483, his consolation being that this figure was higher than his team's final average. Shaute ended with an even .500 in 16 decisions. He went the route but eight times and was derricked on 16 occasions.

The two outstanding southpaw flingers were Tom Zachary and Ed Wells, both former Nationals, now wearing New York Yankee livery. Manager Huggins realized that "Ole Tom" was slipping and picked his spots for him, the result being a fine record of 12 victories and no defeats. Wells came through with 13 triumphs as against 9 losses, despite the fact that his control was so poor at times that he averaged 3.9 passes per game.

Here are the figures showing how the southpaws performed in each major league:

Western Five Downs Episcopal High, 41-20

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 19.—Even without the services of Jimmy Thompson, who was confined to a sick bed, Western High School found little to trouble it in the Episcopal Team here today, routing the local quintet, 41 to 20, in the Armory Hall. Everett Buscher, who took Thompson's place at forward, more than made up for the absence of the visitors' captain and ace, by finding the cords for five field goals.

JOHNNY FIVE NOSES OUT EASTERN

Rally Is Climaxed by Gallagher's Goal; Score, 32-30.

"BUDDY" GALLAGHER'S field goal in the last minute of play broke a tie score and gave St. John's College another victory over a local high school five, when Eastern was vanquished, after a hard fight, 32 to 30, yesterday in the Vermont Avenue Gymnasium. Only two weeks ago Central also fell before the onslaught of the rising young cadets, who have made such a brilliant record on the court this year.

Yesterday's game was a real credit to the winners, who were forced to taste their rival's dust throughout the game until the last moments of play. With the time growing short, St. John's finally tied the score at 30 to 30, when Scanlon batted one through the net on a follow-up shot. Gallagher then inserted his game-winning basket, which clinched the verdict. Eastern had led at half-time, 15 to 11.

Besides lending the punch that actually knotted the count, Scanlon was a thorn in the side of the Lincoln Parkers throughout the afternoon, marking up six goals and two foul tosses for a total of 14 points. Alone, he made more points than the three opposing Eastern forwards combined. Eugene Augesterfer also was a substantial aid to the victorious quintet, ringing up 9 points before calling it a day.

St. John's Outscored From Field.

The efforts of Noonan and McCullough, served to keep the Lincoln Parkers in the running throughout the contest, the pair scoring exactly one-half of the losers' sum total of points. Capt. Ryan also played a clever game for the Light Blue and White, inserting two field goals to aid the cause. Though outscored from the field, 14 to 13, St. John's made good on more of its foul attempts, getting four more free tosses than its opponents.

SOCIETY AT MIAMI HOBNOBS WITH PUGS

personal maid and of the governess that she was going to send kiting back to New York, bag and baggage, the next day, for dropping an aitch, spang in the middle of the nursery floor.

"I love to sail yachts," she stated. "I have only three yachts down here, but up at Newport I have four more and I sail them all. Yachting is such keen sport, don't you think?"

"Yes," replied the lady who was with me, "I have quite a few myself. My favorite is the Flying Erie, but I am also partial to the Leaping Lackawanna; these are my Hudson River yachts, but I have another lovely one in the lower bay, the John F. Hylan. I inherit my love of yachting from my grandpa, out in Caldwell, Idaho. He had a whole fleet of yachts."

"How interesting," said the society lady with what I took to be refined skepticism. "Did he ever sail in the big regattas?"

"Oh, dear, no," said the lady with me. "He was very exclusive. He used to hold private regattas. Nobody else was allowed."

"In Idaho?"

"Yes; you see, grandpa had his own ocean out there, but it was so private that you probably never heard about it. Grandpa was so exclusive."

VA. SEEKING SCHOLASTIC STARS

Abel Asks Grads to Interest Talent in Cavaliers.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 19. At a meeting of the Varsity Club of the University of Virginia, Coach Earle Abel delivered an inspiring and constructive address, the direct result of which will be a new line of endeavor added to the club's already numerous undertakings for nourishing athletics at Virginia.

Speaking on the opportunities for constructive work in the field of athletics, Mr. Abel recommended for serious consideration a plan by which members of the Varsity Club would get into contact with high school and preparatory school athletics, become acquainted with the more promising men, and determine, if possible, what men are contemplating entering the University upon completing their preparatory courses.

In this manner the old barrier between prep school and college athletics would be lowered and men who might some day be invaluable athletes to their school would respond to the friendly attitude of Virginia and enter the University with a serious desire to expend their best efforts and become valuable possessions of its athletic teams.

John Sloan Named to Head Committee.

To consider ways of accomplishing these ends, a committee was appointed, of which John Sloan, of Richmond, is chairman, and consisting of the following members: W. H. Overby, of Chatham, Va.; William E. Byrd, jr., of Baltimore; Hunter Motley, of Madison, Va.; William W. Paxton, of Montclair, N. J., and John M. Goldsmith, of Christiansburg, Va.

Hunter Motley, of Madison, captain-elect of the football team, and William E. Byrd, of Baltimore, vice president of the Varsity Club, were selected to present to Staunton Military Academy the cup awarded annually by College Topics, student publication at the university, to the champion prep school football team.

Augusta Cadets Bow To Woodberry Forest

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., Feb. 19.—The Augusta Military Academy Quintet lost to Woodberry Forest on the local floor this afternoon, 24-15. The game started slowly, the first quarter ending 3-1 in favor of the Cadets. The close guarding of both teams, which had made the scoring so desultory in the initial frame, likewise characterized the second quarter and though both quints picked up a bit in scoring ability, the half came along with the count at 10-9 in the Orange team's favor.

Capt. Malone, of the visitors, was perhaps the outstanding star of the game, playing a consistent and speedy floor game and ringing up in the margin 13 of his team's 15 points.

Entries for Va. Tourney To Be Named Saturday

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 19.—Charles H. Kauffmann, executive secretary of the Virginia High School Literary and Athletic League, announced today that the league's State executive committee will meet in Richmond Saturday morning for the purpose of selecting sixteen contenders for the four regions in the State for the Class B high school basketball championship of Virginia, to be played off at the university March 7.

Four teams from each of the regions in the State will be selected at the meeting Saturday. The State regions have as their centers Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Emory and Henry College, the College of William and Mary and the University of Virginia. The four teams selected upon previous records from each region will play elimination contests at their respective college centers on February 28 and March 1, leaving one team from each region to compete in the final championship games at the University of Virginia a week later.

The secretary stated that about 35 schools in the State have submitted records which make them eligible for consideration by the selecting committee, among which is Lane High School, this city.

Wash. College Five Set For Saints Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., Feb. 19.—The Flying Pentagon is set for Mount St. Mary's College next Friday night when the Emmitsburg Quint will engage Coach Tom Kibler's Washington College Basket Ball Five, now going along nicely toward the home stretch leading to the Maryland cage crown. With Baltimore University and St. John's College disposed of in neat fashion, the Eastern Shore outfit needs only to defeat the Mountaineers and Loyola College to place itself at least in the running for the State title.

Supporting the belief of local coaches that the Shore five has more than an even chance to take the measure of the Mounts is the continued excellent work of Alexander at forward, who is now being used in the starting line-up after having been left out of several games.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 19.—The Alexandria Armory Hall has been ordered closed for the balance of the week, thereby causing all the athletic contests scheduled there to be postponed. The Armory is being decorated for the George Washington Birthday celebration. The game scheduled between the Alexandria High School and the Knight Store Five has been postponed until the first week in March.

Earl Watkins, an Alexandria boy, star player with the Revision Bureau Baseball Team, has just been awarded a gold baseball for being the most valuable player in the Terminal "Y" League. Watkins is well known in this city for his baseball ability and for several years was one of the stars on the Cardinal A. C. Team.

DUKE DOWNS GENERALS, 29 TO 26

Blue Devils Avenge Only Defeat of 1930 Season.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 19.—Washington and Lee's undefeated Southern Conference Basket Ball Team bowed tonight when the Blue Devils of Duke came to Lexington and won a 29-to-26 basket ball game.

Erratic passing and inability to score from a melee under the basket was costly to the Generals, who trailed at half time, 11 to 15.

Tonight's game puts Washington and Lee and Duke on even terms for the season the Generals having defeated the multimillionaires by 4 points on an early season invasion in Carolina. In both games with Washington and Lee the Blue Devils scored 29 points. Frank Hanna, Red-headed guard from Missouri, was again the Washington and Lee mainstay leading the evening's scoring with 9 points gained from three goals from the field and three charity tosses. He was closely pushed for scoring honors by Rogers, forward and Croson center for the visitors, who tallied 8 points each.

Four Duke Regulars Banished.

Twenty-eight fouls marred the game, four Duke regulars and Capt. Wood, of Washington and Lee, were banished by Referee Dick Carrington.

Washington and Lee came from behind shortly after half time to tie score at 17-all but a Duke spurt hurled the visitors ahead to a 5-point margin which they held until near the end of the game. Croson, Duke's much-spoken-of center, showed up better the second half than in the first. His passing was a feature of the last ten minutes. He and Williams, W. and L. pivot man, battled on even terms for field goals with two each.

Tonight's game throws Washington and Lee into a tie with Duke for second place in the Southern conference race, leadership in the conference automatically going to Alabama.

Capt. Cooke Assumed Charge of Navy Sports

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 19.—Capt. Henry D. Cooke, of the Navy, has assumed the duties of director of athletics at the Naval Academy, succeeding Commander Jonas H. Ingram, who held the post for nearly four years and supervised four football campaigns of the Middies.

Capt. Cooke will not be entirely unfamiliar with his new berth as he had contact with athletic matters some years ago when he served a tour of academic duty here combined with that of the athletic associations representative for baseball. Commander Ingram is slated for sea duty and plans to leave Annapolis next Tuesday to become executive officer of the battleship Pennsylvania.

The Naval Academy Water Polo Team, intercollegiate champions last year, has established such an impressive record again this season that Commander Frederick G. Reinick, graduate manager of athletics, has arranged an exhibition match with experts of the New York Athletic Club, to give the Tars a good workout. The game will be played in the academy pool March 8.

Virginia Five Beats V. M. I. Quintet, 34-24

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 19.—Overcoming a 3-point lead at the start of the second half, Virginia's basketeers launched a rally which enabled them to defeat Virginia Military Institute here tonight, 34 to 24, in the final game of the season.

The Cadets registered five points at the opening of the first half before the Cavaliers could locate the basket. Virginia then drew up on even terms: but before the period ended, the lead alternated several times—the Cavaliers holding a 1-point margin at half time.

Mayo was high-point man, with six field goals and 3 additional points from the charity mark. Capt. Harrison, who went out on personal fouls in the second period, was given a big hand. M. Brown played a stellar game for the Cadets.

ACTIVE STOCKS DROP FROM 1 TO 7 POINTS

Some Utilities Climb to High 1930 Peaks as Turnover Sags.

FOREIGN SHARES STEADY

New York, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Operator for the advance, who have been finding upward progress increasingly difficult of late, were again forced to yield late in today's session of the stock market, and the more active shares generally closed 1 to 7 points lower.

The market was inclined to falter in the early hours of the day, but trading dwindled sharply, and the bull faction launched a new movement, centering in the utilities, which carried several important shares to new high levels for the year before the late reaction set in. The day's turnover totaled but 3,484,810 shares, a reduction of about 300,000 from yesterday.

Several factors combined to unsettle the market, with a sharp break in the Chicago wheat pit playing a leading role. Although the stock market has attempted to ignore declining commodity prices of late, they have caused increasing uneasiness in some speculative quarters, and with the exception of selected issues, stock prices have not been able to make notable extension of their gains of late January. The price index of 90 leading shares at the close of today's market was at 183.2, compared with 182.1 the first of the month.

Steel Reviews Less Optimistic.

The weekly steel trade reviews were somewhat less optimistic in tone than recent reports from the steel trade had lead Wall street to expect. Iron Age, while pointing to a further increase in production, said demand was uneven, with declines in certain districts offset by increases in others. Raw steel products was said to be from 5 to 10 per cent ahead of finishing mill operations, indicating accumulation to meet expected spring demands. Freight car loadings as reported for the first week of February showed a decline of 12,313 cars from the previous week, and 59,400 from the like period of 1928. Credit conditions were unchanged, with call money still commanding 4½ per cent at the loan post.

American Telephone rose nearly 4 points to another new high for the movement at 239⅞, but lost its gain. American Water Works and North American Co. were sent up 4 and 3 points to new tops for 1930, but closed little more than a point higher. Westinghouse Electric was bid up another 5 points to still another top, then slipped back 3½. Fox Film rallied about 3 points.

American Tobacco Loses.

U. S. Steel, American Can, American Tobacco, Air Reduction, Erie, Gillette, Hudson, International Harvester, and Johns Manville lost about 2 points. Simmons sold off as much as 5 points, in response to the 1929 earnings report, showing little more than $4 a share, against estimates some months ago or around twice that. United fruit declined about 4 points to a new 1930 low at 92, evidently reflecting remarks by President Cutter at the annual meeting regarding the somewhat unfavorable economic conditions in Latin American countries. Mr. Cutter, however, expressed confidence in the future. Sears Roebuck lost 3 points. Standard of N. J. sagged fractionally, selling around the low of the year. Coppers continued to lose ground slowly.

Wheat futures broke about 4 cents a bushel to new low levels for the season in Chicago, and rallied but fractionally from the day's low. The drop was influenced by renewed heaviness in the Winnipeg market, and reports of further large offerings of Argentine wheat. Corn lost about 2 cents a bushel, and cotton $1 a bale.

Foreign exchanges were steadier, with the exception of the French franc, which was quoted at 3:91 1-16 for cables, still another new low for the year. The Canadian dollar continued to rally, reaching 99½ cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Big breaks of 6c a bushel in wheat prices at Winnipeg, together with virtual collapse of export demand, severely jolted the Chicago wheat market today. Rushes to sell out and stop losses overwhelmed the wheat pit near the end of the day, forcing Chicago values down nearly 5c to a new bottom-price record for the season and 4c under the Federal Farm Board's basis for loaning money on wheat as collateral. Giving special impetus to the smash in prices were London dispatches current asserting that hand-to-mouth buying on the part of European importers would continue unaltered.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 3¼c to 4c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅝c to 1⅞@2c down, oats ½@⅝c to 1⅛@1¼c off, and provisions showing 13c to 30c drop.

By far the worst of today's selling flurry in the wheat market here came during the last few minutes of trading. Earlier there had been persistent heavy selling, but not a sort that suggested anything approaching a stampede. It was noticeable, however, that the first decided broadening out of selling pressure in Chicago developed after price rallies here had steadied the market at around $1.18 a bushel for May contracts. This is the price which the Federal Farm Board has set as a loan basis for No. 2 hard winter wheat in Chicago, a grade that Board of Trade rules provide must be accepted here on ordinary contracts for all future deliveries.

Throwing overboard of future delivery wheat holdings here increased to a material extent as the day wore on. Then came a whirlwind finish, accelerated by statements in circulation from trade sources that even if the United States wheat visible supply decreases as much as 3,000,000 bushels a week until May 1 the total remaining would still be more than double a ten-year average. Meanwhile North American wheat export business today amounted to only 200,000 bushels, and bearish advices from across the Atlantic kept pouring in with speculative buying here at a low ebb, and much talk heard that commission house business in grain is thinning rapidly owing to constantly recurring drastic downturns of prices.

Corn and oats tumbled down owing chiefly to wheat weakness. Rye gave way also, and like wheat, plunged beyond the season's previous low-price record.

Stop-loss selling spread from the grain trade into the provision pit, and was intensified by setbacks in the value of hogs.

BOND PRICES CHANGE LITTLE IN DULL DAY

Prime Rails and Federal Shares Rise Slightly on Cautious Buying.

INDUSTRIALS ARE FIRM

New York, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—The bond market was a routine affair today, making conventional gains and losses in a session that lacked the invigorating touch given to yesterday's trading by the activity of several convertibles. Investment rails and United States Governments attracted cautious buying and moved a little higher.

Share privilege bonds were responsible for a considerable proportion of the day's business. American Telephone 4½s, which made a spectacular turnover on Tuesday, were far less active. However, during the forenoon they touched the new 1930 high of 160 and then sold off to 155, closing ¾ higher for a net decline of 2½. International Telephone 4½s climbed to within ¼ of their year's peak of 125, but finished unchanged. Texas Corporation 5s and the Alleghany 5s were likewise unable to move on the day.

Although the prime rails tended higher, the volume of trading in these pivotal issues failed to impress. Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, the Big Four 5s, Great Northern 7s, Pere Marquette 5s, Southern Railway general 4s and Union Pacific refunding 4s improved moderately and held most of their gains.

Foreign bonds developed signs of irregularity after early firmness and the close was mixed. Australian 5s again eased.

Developments in the Utility group were unimportant, with the exception of a gain of about a point in Detroit Edison "C" 5s, carrying the issue to a new 1930 high. Domestic Industrials were steady, with much of the buying going into the oils which closed higher. Foreign gugars softened.

Buying of the Liberties and Treasuries accompanied reports that the Treasury would probably be able to do its March 15 financing on a basis of about 3½ per cent. The maturities approximate half a billion dollars, of which $400,000,000 is in the 5¼ per cent certificates and the remainder in the December issue of bills. The new financing is expected to be partly in certificates of indebtedness and partly in another offering of the discount bills. A $50,000,000 block of these obligations was recently sold.

The fourth liberty loan was the most active Government issue in today's market. It showed a net gain of 1/6.

STONIER IS BANKERS' 'PUBLICITY' SPEAKER

Director of Education for Institute Stresses Training Need.

DINNER ACTORS SECURED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Dividends will not be paid so much from bricks as from brains, in the future, in the banking field, said Dr. Harold Stonier, national educational director, American Institute of Banking, speaking on the Halsey, Stuart & Co. radio program last night, in connection with the institute's "Publicity Week."

Dr. Stonier, well known here and whose address was also heard by a large assembly of members of Washington Chapter of the institute at the chapter rooms in the Becker Building, stressed the importance of the trained personnel in banks, emphasizing his belief that the banker realizes that in the future business success will come more from mind and less from material and that achievement will be due more to skillful management and less to luck.

Dr. Stonier then showed how the widespread educational program, which is being carried on by the institute is playing its part in training men for positions of responsibility in the banking field. As evidence of the interest of the students in the subject, he stated that in some sparsely settled regions, bank men have been known to travel 50 miles a week, through the snow of mountain roads, to complete their educational work in the nearest institute class.

Banking Bulwarks Given.

Speaking on "The Bulwarks of American Banking," Dr. Stonier expressed belief that these bulwarks were confidence in the integrity of banking; the legal safeguards through the Federal Reserve System and State supervision; wisdom in its loaning methods and investment policy and, presiding over all, a courteous and intelligent personnel.

Those who attend the twenty-sixth annual banquet of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, Saturday at the Willard Hotel, will have the privilege of enjoying one of the best programs of entertainment in the chapter's history.

Under the chairmanship of Henry F. Kimball, American Security & Trust Co., the entertainment committee has procured an exceptional array of talent and this feature of the banquet promises to excel in many ways. The Overseas Drum and Bugle Corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will sound a "salute to the colors" and the Lamar dance team, which has appeared before the rulers of various foreign countries, will present several numbers of specialty and interpretative dancing.

Randall Sisters to Appear.

The Ramsdall sisters will give renditions of harmony singing, and a mystery act depicting the "ins and outs" of Washington bankers will be the high light of this part of the program. The members of the committee refuse to divulge any particulars as to the character of this act, but it is understood that it will not only be novel but brimming with merriment. The concluding number will be songs by the American Security Glee Club.

L. Bert Nye, branch manager of the American Surety Co., at 524-529 Southern Building, announces today expansion plans for his company which will include the writing of a combination policy covering fire, theft, tornado, collision, property damage, public liability and glass damage.

The policy is to be written jointly with the Camden Fire Insurance Association of Camden, N. J., and will be offered through the agency organization of both companies. The American Surety Co. has more than 15,000 agents throughout the country and the Camden Fire Insurance Association has more than 3,000.

Lloyd B. Wilson, president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., was elected a member of the board of directors of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. in Baltimore yesterday.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Slight early advances were checked by a renewal of liquidation in the cotton market today, and prices later broke sharply under more or less general selling promoted by the weakness in wheat, reports of an unsettled tone in the stock market and the failure of more buying to develop on the opening advance. May contracts sold off 15.86 to 15.46, or 32 points net lower, and closed at 15.56, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 19 to 26 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points and sold about 4 to 6 points net higher during the first few minutes on a continuation of the demand responsible for the rallies of yesterday. The buying was comparatively limited, and seemed to be quite readily supplied on the advance to 15.59 for March and 16.20 for October, after which prices eased off under realizing or liquidation combined with some Southern, Wall street and Western selling. The latter became more active during the early afternoon, while the weakness of wheat seemed to bring in increased liquidation of cotton contracts from other sources also. March broke to 15.21 and October to 15.85 under the pressure, or about 28 to 32 points from yesterday's closing quotations and some 35 to 40 points from the high level of the morning.

Closing prices were 5 to 10 points up from the lowest covering. Switching from March to later deliveries continued during the day. An impression that the March contracts supposedly held here for account of the cooperative marketing organizations were being transferred to the later months appeared to have an unsettling effect on sentiment, although there was very little change in differences between months. At the close March was 28 points under May compared with 26 points yesterday. Reports of better progress with farm work recently in the South may have had some effect on new crop months.

Liverpool cables said that hedging and Bombay selling had been absorbed by continental buying and covering. They reported moderate cloth sales to Africa and South America, but said demands for yarn was restricted.

Port receipts today, 12,129. United States port stocks, 2,234,358. Exports, 22,573, making 5,300,606 so far this season.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO TOUR VIRGINIA

10,000 From Various Sections of Country Expected to See Old Dominion.

HISTORIC SPOTS ALLURE

Richmond, Va., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Seeing Virginia and its historic shrines is on the itinerary of student tours from various sections of the country within the next few months Not fewer than 10,000 school children will tour the Old Dominion before the present session ends, it is estimated by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, which is arranging accommodations for the visitors.

Instead of ending at Washington, the mecca of school children's tours in former years, the trips this year will include famous spots in Virginia, including Monticello, home of Jefferson; Richmond, Fredericksburg and the Shenandoah Valley.

From New York, and as far West as Chicago and down to Atlanta in the South, trips to Virginia already have been arranged. Twelve parties have been booked from Chicago and ten others from the territory surrounding the Midwest metropolis; a party of 150 from James Monroe High School in New York and another from Great Falls; Atlanta is sending a party of 100. The Brooklyn (N. Y.) Teachers Association will tour Virginia in the spring, probably during Easter week, with a party of approximately 300.

Mount Vernon, Washington's home, and Alexandria probably will be visited this spring by at least 100,000 others, according to the State chamber, composed of pupils and teachers who go to the Nation's Capital and extend their trip over into Virginia.

Special rates are granted by railroads and bus lines to accommodate the visitors, who are usually absent from their homes from three to five days.

Some of the tours are being planned to coincide with the apple blossom festival at Winchester, in the Shenandoah Valley. Visiting caverns in the Shenandoah Valley and seeing 1,800 acres of flowering apple trees from an observation tower will be features of several trips.

Man Is Sentenced For Manslaughter

Gets Year in Penitentiary in Connection With Fatal Auto Crash.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 19.—Robert Baldwin, 23, of Moorefield, W. Va., was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter today and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. Baldwin was tried for the death of Miss Annie Cullers, 26, also of Moorefield, who was instantly killed on the Brock's Gap highway last December 1, when their auto overturned in rounding a curve.

The State contended that Baldwin was driving recklessly and under the influence of liquor. The defense maintained the crash was purely accidental, resulting from locked brakes.

Bernard "Peepy" Lam, described by officers as the "king of Rockingham bootleggers," pleaded guilty to his third prohibition violation and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He was arrested last Sunday night after a wild auto chase through the city streets. Officers found a half gallon of moonshine in the car.

Firemen's Association of Prince Georges County Hears Governor.

BALTIMORE CHIEF HEARD

Definite assurance that the Washington-Baltimore boulevard and the Defense highway will be widened this summer was given last night by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, in an address before the Prince Georges County Firemen's Association at the University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

The governor said the Baltimore boulevard will be widened from the 40-mile bridge, near Laurel, to the District line. He also said he had every confidence that the proper width also will be continued throughout the Defense highway.

Gov. Ritchie lauded the volunteer firemen of the State, who, he declared, gave freely of their time to protect property. Concerning education, he declared every State owed its young men and women educations, and he asserted that no county had done more in meeting that obligation than Prince Georges County.

The meeting was opened with music by the Glendale Fire Company Band. The Rev. Ronalds Taylor, rector of St. Andrew's Chapel, College Park, delivered the invocation, after which James E. Sampson, president of the Prince Georges County Volunteer Firemen's Association, introduced George Finger, of the Capital Heights Fire Company, who acted as toastmaster.

Dr. R. A. Pierson, president of the University of Maryland, welcomed the gathering to the university. V. A. Simmel, president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, was the first speaker.

Other speakers included H. L. Leonard, chief of the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad; F. Barnard Walsh, president of the Rockville Fire Department, and John J. McGinity, of the Baltimore Fire Department. E. T. Edwards and C. K. Beavers, of the Boulevard Heights Fire Department, gave a sketch; Joseph B. Waters, jr., of the Riverdale Fire Company, sang, and dancing numbers were given by the Plitner girls of the Bladensburg Fire Company, and Mildred and Billie Bargagni, of the Cottage City Fire Company.

The guests of honor included Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, Maj. E. Brook Lee, speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates; George W. Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was discussing marriage with Mary Jane. It seems this young person is seriously considering a proposal—but she has her fears.

Not in the nature of eavesdropping, nevertheless I overheard some of the conversation:

"Isn't it rather hard to give up all your freedom?" asked Mary Jane, "to be married and settled down? Such a humdrum existence!"

Luella was ready with an answer. "It isn't a humdrum existence," she popped. "Not so's you could notice it! Marriage may be a lot of things, but humdrum isn't one of 'em. You'll find that out when you start housekeeping——"

"That's just it," said Mary Jane. "I don't wanna keep house——"

"What you want-a do?" asked Luella.

"If I marry, I'd like to live just like I do now—go to all the dances, all the teas, see all the shows, and take a trip down to the Bermudas every so often, and to Europe——"

* * * * *

LUELLA threw up her hands. "Oh, my dear," she exclaimed, "you're just too funny for anything! Who are you going to marry?"

"I haven't decided yet," confessed Mary Jane. "Roger has asked me, and so has Bill, and Llewellyn, too——"

"Llewellyn?" breathed Luella, sensing the similarity in names. "Sounds like he might be interesting. Has he any money?"

Mary Jane flew into ecstasy, clapped her hands. "Llewellyn hasn't any, but his father has oodles——"

"What is he, a noodle manufacturer?"

"He's a magnate of some kind," said Mary Jane. "Makes steel rails for the out-of-town trade. And he has a yacht, too!"

"That's enough," said Luella. "Marry Llewellyn, get his dad's yacht, and you can spend your winters in the South Seas, or at the Riviera——"

"This yacht is so big it couldn't possibly get up the Riviera," explained Mary Jane. "It's an ocean-going yacht."

"Never you mind," said Luella, "the ocean's good enough for any vacation—a honeymoon, too——"

"Oh! You advise me to marry for money, do you?"

"I wouldn't advise one way or the other," sighed Luella, "but if I had it to go over again I certainly wouldn't let money stand in the way——."

* * * * *

MARY JANE seemed perplexed. "I love Roger," she said, "but he's poor as a church mouse. Bill is nice, but he's so vulgar. He wears red neckties. Llewellyn is——"

"What's the matter with Llewellyn?" asked Luella.

"He's, he's already married, waiting for a divorce," mumbled Mary Jane.

"In that case," advised Luella, "you'd better keep off the yacht."

Luella is nobody's fool.

VIRGINIA'S PROGRAM OF HEALTH IS GIVEN

Assistant Commissioner in Radio Talk Explains Use of System.

TOWNS AIDED BY STATE

Richmond, Va., Feb. 19 (A.P.).—Dr. Roy K. Flannagan, assistant health commissioner, in an address prepared for delivery over radio here today, reviewed the method by which the Virginia State Health Department's present good reputation has been built up.

Public cooperation has aided the steady growth of the health department, making effective the double principle of education and demonstration on which the department works, Dr. Flannagan said. Lectures and bulletins are used to carry the department's advice and suggestions.

"As our most effective demonstration," he said, "the department promotes and financially aids in the establishment of local health agencies or organizations to enable the communities to deal with their own health problems, and will furnish supervision free. It will help on a fifty-fifty basis in the formation of a local health department consisting of a whole-time medical health officer, sanitary officer and public health nurse, cost not to exceed $10,000.

Aid for County Nurses.

"It will pay $500 a year toward the employment of a public health county nurse. These agencies demonstrate in a most practical fashion the methods by which the simple principles of public health may be applied, and conditions making for the spread of disease abolished.

"Then, too, the outpatient clinic service of the department for the diagnosis of tuberculosis makes a most conclusive demonstration year by year in practically every county in the State. The dental clinics in the schools demonstrate a great need and cover a great number of counties during the year, at a small cost repairing the teeth of thousands of children who otherwise might never know the health value of sound teeth. The preschool clinics of the child welfare division, designed to discover defects of children and secure correction of them prior to entering school, gave a demonstration as do, also, the well-baby clinics, which now in summer take the place of the old-time hit-or-miss baby shows.

Safeguard Seafood Supply.

"The continuous demonstration in oyster investigation and sanitation by our floating laboratory and sanitation workers in the eastern section of the State is insuring a safe seafood supply.

"Smallpox vaccine, diphtheria vaccine and other preventive and curative serums and vaccines are distributed at cost to any doctor in the State. Sanatorium treatment for tuberculosis is also provided for less than cost to any Virginia citizen."

Deaf Veteran Dies When Hit by Train

Former Southern Soldier Is Thrown 30 Feet by Noon Express.

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Feb. 19.—Impaired hearing caused W. M. McMechen, 88, Confederate veteran, to lose his life on the main line of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad here today. He was walking on the tracks when the noon express struck him. He was thrown 30 feet against a freight car on a side track and was crushed. Coroner Thomas M. Perkins said the man died instantly.

Mr. McMechen had been a patient at the Western State Hospital for a year. His condition had improved and he was permitted to stroll about the hospital grounds. This morning he left the premises and reached the railroad tracks.

At one time Mr. McMechen was assistant superintendent of the Confederate Soldiers' Home in Richmond. He is survived by his second wife, who resides in New York City, and by several daughters in Salt Lake City, Utah. The body is in the hospital morgue pending funeral arrangements.

WASHINGTON FARM TO BE MADE SHRINE

Stafford County Property Will Be Dedicated to Youth of America.

SCENE OF HIS BOYHOOD

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Feb. 19.—Plans for converting the George Washington boyhood farm in Stafford County, opposite this city, into a shrine for the youth of America were announced today through the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, following a recent meeting of the Virginia committee of the George Washington Foundation, Inc., which will undertake the work. The completion of the project will assure in perpetuity for public benefit the last of George Washington's three permanent Virginia homes.

Wakefield, his birthplace, and Mount Vernon, his home for many years, are owned by associations which hold them in trust for the people of the country. George P. Coleman, former State highway commissioner and chairman of the Virginia committee of the George Washington Foundation, said the organization already had taken nominal title to the boyhood home of the Father of the Country.

The idea behind the movement, he said, is to recreate as nearly as possible on the old farm the conditions existing in the Colonial period of Washington's youth and in 1932 to dedicate the place as a shrine for the youth of America.

Movement is Indorsed.

The movement has the indorsement of authorities on Washington, including Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, former professor of history of Harvard and now historian of the United States Bi-Centennial Commission, who stated in a recent public address that he regarded the place as of equal importance historically with Wakefield and Mount Vernon.

In addition to Mr. Coleman, members of the Virginia committee are Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, of the University of Virginia; former Gov. Harry F. Byrd, of Winchester; Mrs. Thomas Richmond Boggs, of Fredericksburg; Dr. Edward N. Calisch, of Richmond; Mrs. Garl Melchers, of Falmouth; Dr. James H. Eckenrode, of Richmond, and Chester B. Goolrick, of Fredericksburg.

The Rappahannock River farm was more closely identified with the Washington family than any other of their homes and was the only place at which the entire family ever lived. To George Washington it was home for a longer period than was any other place except Mount Vernon, and his mother lived at the place 37 years. His sister, Mildred, was born there and died there and his father, Augustine Washington, died there.

Source of Legends and History.

It was there, if anywhere, that the youthful George broke the neck of his mother's favorite colt, hacked at his father's now famous cherry tree and tossed the Spanish coin across the Rappahannock, feats originally described by Washington's first cousin and playmate, Lewis Willis, who is buried at Fredericksburg, and given currency by the late Parson Mason Locke Weems, who wrote the first life of Washington.

Only one building on the farm in Washington's day still is there. This is a small structure in the nature of an outbuilding which Washington is said to have used as a surveyor's office. The Washington Foundation has, however, copies of the drawing of the original Washington home on the farm, made from memory of the place by C. W. Chapman, a Fredericksburg artist, whose son became well known as an artist in the Confederate army.

Members of the Virginia committee believe that the movement to secure the farm for another Virginia shrine will meet with the sympathy and backing of the people of the State.
